President Visits Wall In Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—President Kennedy looked over the wall dividing Berlin into the Red-ruled East on Wednesday and declared the barbed wire-topped barrier a vivid symbol of Communist failure.

As the roaring cheers of beleaguered West Berliners rang out, the President saw East Berliners wave to him in open scorn of armed Red police.

More than a million persons—1½ million by police estimate—gave him an unprecedented and tumultuous demonstration of friendship and tribute. Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said it was the greatest reception Kennedy has received anywhere in the world.

Kennedy responded in words that delighted the Germans.

"The proudest boast in the world today is 'Ich bin ein Berliner'"—I am a Berliner — he said. "All free men, wherever they are, are citizens of Berlin. Therefore, as a free man, I take pride in saying: Ich bin ein Berliner."

West Berlin, its suburbs and Tegel Airport were seas of massed humanity as Kennedy flew 10 miles behind the Iron Curtain for an emotion-packed visit before taking off for the Ireland leg of his four-nation tour.

Kennedy's visit lasted only eight hours. Berliners say its impact will last for years.

He crammed in immense activity. He stood on the rim of Red rule in Berlin in dramatic visits to the wall the Communists built to keep their people in.

He saw the famed Brandenburg Gate bedecked with Red flags behind the wall and he went to Checkpoint Charlie, the last official crossing point between East and West Berlin.

He stood in the Rathaus Square before 250,000 wildly cheering Germans and labeled the wall "an offense against history and an offense against humanity."

He gave this advice to people who proclaim communism is the wave of the future and that the West can work with the Communists: "Lass sie nach Berlin kommen—let them come to Berlin."

Cost Of Living Index Steady During May

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs in May in the United States remained unchanged for the second straight month, but a Labor Department official said they are probably rising again this month.

Robert J. Myers, Bureau of Labor Statistics deputy commissioner, reported Wednesday the May consumer price index was 106.2 compared with 100 for the base period 1957-59.

The May index equals the all-time high of March this year and is one per cent above that of a year ago.

Noting this, Myers told a news conference: "We're lucky when we consider what has happened in other major countries, mostly European."

The long-term steady increase in living costs, halted in the past two months, Myers said, has averaged a tenth of one per cent monthly.

To the consumer the May price index of 106.2 means that it costs 62 cents more to buy the same necessities that a $10 bill would have purchased in the 1957-59 period.

Factors in the May index were higher prices for transportation and medical care but lower prices for food, clothing, housing and recreation.

Higher prices for food and housing figured in the one per cent rise since May 1962, although all major types of goods and services shared in the upward swing.

Benny Trotta Faces Federal Gaming Charge

BALTIMORE (AP)—Fight promoter Benjamin Magliano, better known as Benny Trotta, was charged late Wednesday with failure to obtain a $50 federal wagering tax stamp and conspiring to violate the federal wagering tax laws.

Trotta, his younger brother, Anthony (Nick) Magliano, and six other persons yet unidentified, were charged in the warrants. Nick was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Ernest Volkart and released under $2,500 bond.

Benny was to appear before Volkart later Wednesday night.

It was on June 17 that Benny promoted the junior middleweight championship fight in Baltimore's new Civic Center between Ralph Dupas and Denny Moyer. The 15-round affair was attended by only some 2,000 fans.

Trotta, 50, has been a fight promoter in Baltimore since 1939.

He was convicted of evading the draft in 1943 and served a year and a day in federal prison.

In 1955, Benny's promoting license was revoked by direct order of Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin after Benny's name was linked with Frankie Carbo, alleged to have been the underworld kingpin of boxing.

Benny got his license back in 1960 after McKeldin left the governor's chair and Gov. J. Millard Tawes named a new boxing commission.

J. Hardin Marion, assistant U.S. attorney for Maryland, said Wednesday's arrests ended the four-month undercover work of special agent Richard J. Pozecki. Marion said 28 persons had been arrested and charged with failure to obtain gambling stamps and-or conspiracy in the crackdown on bookmaking and numbers kingpins in the Baltimore area.

In a recent interview with Benny Trotta, the boxing promoter said, "Everytime the newspapers need something to write about, they write about me and my reputation. I wish they'd give me a percentage of their sales.

"Sure, I was convicted of trying to evade the draft, but why doesn't someone produce the facts? I was 34 years old, had three kids and took a job in a ship yard. Millions of others took defense jobs too, didn't they?"

Chester Sullivan, a member of the new boxing commission that reinstated Trotta's promoter's license, said after the interview:

"He has done a remarkable job over the years for the fight game. It's time we helped him."

Yemeni Tribe Plans Attack On British

ADEN (UPI) — A force of 300 Yemeni tribesmen Wednesday was reported converging on a detachment of 132 Royal Marine commandos entrenched in the desert fort of Dor Al-Baha, just inside the border of this British protectorate.

British military adviser Michael Crouch told United Press International that in event of an attack he was confident the commandos could hold out until air cover is provided.

He said he did not know why the tribesmen might want to commit the Yemeni Republic to combat with the British. Aden is bordered by the Arabian Sea to the south and by Yemen on the north.

A group of 45 British servicemen and women was ambushed last Saturday by desert tribesmen. Four soldiers were killed, eight servicewomen narrowly escaped, and 18 men were taken prisoner.

Little Man Has A Very Busy Day

Tuesday morning he sawed his way out of the Perry County jail.

Seven hours later he was found sleeping in an abandoned house and brought back to jail.

Tuesday night he was sentenced to 100 to 125 years for murder.

He was taken to Menard State Penitentiary Wednesday.

Equal Rights Ordered By Executive

Document Hailed As Most Sweeping Of Any State

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Gov. Bert Combs Wednesday ordered racial discrimination ended in all state-licensed businesses and professions.

Julius Rather, the governor's legal assistant, called the executive order the most sweeping document of its kind by any state.

It affects motels, restaurants, taverns, bars, doctors, dentists, nursing homes, funeral homes, real estate brokers, attorneys, accountants, dairy product outlets and even watchmakers.

By issuing the executive order, Combs bypassed civil rights legislation during the current special session of the legislature. Several groups were pressuring him for a law to ban discrimination in public accommodations.

But the governor told a news conference Wednesday that the special session had been called primarily to keep five eastern Kentucky hospitals from closing and that the lawmakers are not prepared for any integration measure.

60 Days To Report

Combs' order gives each executive department and agency 60 days to submit a report on its authority over affected establishments and professions.

Then the agency head "is directed to proceed with all deliberate speed toward a program of full compliance with the purposes and intents of this order."

Several Negro leaders expressed cautious approval of Combs' move. In recent consultations they had advised Combs that if some type of equal rights step were not taken soon, Kentucky would become embroiled in mass demonstrations such as those in other Southern states.

A group of 24 state Negro and white civil rights leaders met after Combs had issued his order and issued a statement commending him for "employing an effective temporary weapon."

License Suspensions

The group praised what it called the order's probability of license suspension and revocation for racial discriminatory practices. It also called nor a renewed civil rights drive in the next legislative session.

Combs indicated the pattern would be this: If a Negro is refused service at an affected establishment—or if he is ejected by police power—he may file a complaint with the licensing authority.

The licensing board then would summon the licensee to a hearing to show cause why the license should not be suspended or revoked. The burden of proof would fall on the licensee.

Ecuador Smashes Castro-Red Plot

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI—Police said Wednesday they smashed a vast Castro-Communist plot against Ecuador with Tuesday night's capture of four extremists trying to hijack a plane.

The hijacking was to have coincided with a series of terrorist bombing throughout Quito aimed at forcing the government to release captured anti-government mountain guerrillas.

The plane was to have been flown to Havana and the 19 persons aboard, including two children, used as hostages to force government concessions, police said.

The plot failed because police were tipped and they acted promptly.

First Lady, Children Fly To Rhode Island Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said Wednesday that Jacqueline Kennedy expects to fly to Newport, R.I., Thursday aboard the family plane Caroline to visit her mother at Hammersmith Farm.

It will be the start of a summer vacation at the seashore for Mrs. Kennedy, who is expecting a third child the last week in August.

She and her two children, Caroline, 5½, and John F. Jr., 2½, will stay at the home of her mother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss until July 2 when they will move into the rented summer home of a Reading, Pa., textile manufacturer, Louis Thun, on Squaw Island, near Hyannis Port, Mass.

President Kennedy is expected to join them there for the 4th of July weekend after completing his European trip.

Attorney-General Takes U.S. Racial Battle To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, declaring "this country can no longer abide the moral outrage of racial discrimination," asked Congress to pass the administration's civil rights bill.

He got immediate confirmation of the difficulties the legislation faces when he ran into bristling objections to a proposal to ban discrimination in hotels, restaurants and other places of public accommodation.

He also got a hint of Southern hostility and a whiff of politics injected by Republican members of a House Judiciary subcommittee before whom Kennedy appeared Wednesday to open the administration's drive for the program advocated by his brother, President Kennedy.

The attorney general's testimony was heard by a crowd that spilled over onto filing cabinets and desks in the ornate committee room. Scores more were unable to get in.

As he moved through the crowd to the witness table a Negro standing nearby leaned over and whispered, "God bless you, sir."

Kennedy told the subcommittee the courts and the administration had both played important roles in seeking an end to racial discrimination.

"Now it is clearly up to Congress to bring its strength to bear," he said.

Under prodding by Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., Kennedy said he would accept a proposal to set a minimum volume of business that establishments would have to do in order to come under the proposed public accommodations law.

"There is a good deal of merit in the suggestion," he told Celler. "If Congress decides to do it we would be happy to work with you to set some cut-off lines."

Most questions on the proposal dealt with the problems of a fictitious "Mrs. Murphy," who might be subject to the law even though she rents only two or three rooms to out-of-state visitors.

"I don't think Mrs. Murphy is going to be in a lot of trouble," said Kennedy.

Kennedy said such facilities as restaurants, lunch counters, amusement places, stores and hotels are public in a very real sense.

"They are not at all like a private home or a private club, for example, to which the owner invites only the guests he selects," he said.

Young GOP In Favor Of Goldwater

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Delegates to the national Young Republican convention cast an overwhelming 75 per cent vote Wednesday in favor of Sen. Barry Goldwater in a presidential preference poll.

The vote did not constitute a formal endorsement. This would be forbidden by the group's by-laws.

Nevertheless, the convention was for all practical purposes a large Goldwater - for-president rally — reflecting rising conservative sentiment in Young Republican groups all over the nation.

The Arizona delegation arrived here with 2,000 pounds of buttons, ballons, books and signs which were eagerly grabbed up by delegates who staged various impromptu rallies. No buttons for any other candidate than Goldwater were seen on delegates lapels.

The preferential poll, conducted by the Texas delegation, had 320 votes for Goldwater, 40 for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, 19 for Gov. George Romney of Michigan, 14 for Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, 8 for Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, 3 for former Vice President Richard Nixon and scattered votes for several others out of a total of 429 votes cast.

Goldwater, who will speak here Thursday night, is the only major presidential potential who has accepted an invitation to attend the convention.

38 Killed As Belgian Plane Burns

DETMOLD, West Germany (UPI) — A Belgian Army C119 transport plane taking part in Western military exercises exploded in flight Wednesday and crashed into a hillside near here, killing 38 of the 47 paratroopers and crewmen aboard.

It was the worst plane disaster in West Germany since 52 persons were killed in the crash of a Czech airliner near Forchheim in Bavaria in March 1961.

The nine survivors were paratroopers who jumped from the stricken American - made Flying Boxcar moments before it crashed and was consumed by fire. Seven escaped unhurt while two others were taken to a nearby British Army hospital with injuries, a Belgian spokesman said.

The spokesman said the explosion took place while the plane, carrying 42 paratroopers and 5 crewmen, was 750 feet above the ground.

The flight was to drop paratroopers to join up with the West German troops in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) "Lance" maneuvers.

The plane crashed near the village of Augustdorf in the Barren training zone in northwest Germany.

The plane burned for hours after the crash. West German troops, ambulances and rescue workers rushed to the scene but could do nothing.

Teen-Agers Rob Aged Woman Of Over $6,500

ERIE, Pa. (UPI) —City detectives disclosed Wednesday the arrest of six teen-aged boys on charges of stealing more than $6,500 from an 85-year-old widow during the past three months.

The victim was Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, who lives alone in a modest home.

Police said the youths, who are 14 and 15 years old, would visit her on the pretext of brightening her day. While several of them held her attention, one would loot her pocketbook.

Only $230 was recovered.

Police said Mrs. Thompson kept her money in a bank but would withdraw sums of $100 periodically. They said the youths managed to learn this and even the date her pension check arrived by spending a great deal of time in her home.

Officials reported that Mrs. Thompson was not suspicious of the boys because she was flattered by attention from young people.

They said that one of the boys admitted that on one occasion he took $670 and started a bank account. Another said he had taken $300 in another instance.

The case broke when Mrs. Thompson reported to police that a .32 caliber gun, a keepsake of hers, had been stolen. It was traced to one of the youths and he revealed that he and the others had been engaged in the money thefts.

The youths' names were not revealed and they were released to the custody of their parents pending juvenile court action.

Not Even A Coffee Break Halts Cambridge Curfew

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—Not even a coffee run is permitted in Cambridge after the 10 p.m. curfew, so two 19-year-old girls found out in magistrate's court.

A police lieutenant said the girls, Ruth Ann Pritchett and Ethel Louise Wingate, were found after midnight drinking coffee with six National Guardsmen at a check point.

The Guardsmen are among 400 stationed in the Eastern Shore city to maintain an uneasy racial truce. They are there to enforce the curfew.

The girls testified that they were stopped at a check point on their way back to town. They were then asked, they said, to get the guards coffee. They did.

Their lawyer described them as "Good Samaritans." But State's Atty. C. Burnam Mace told the judge it was a matter of maintaining law and order.,

Irish Stage Welcome To The Ould Sod

Quarter Million Hail President As Their Own

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—President Kennedy was wildly acclaimed in Ireland Wednesday night as a son of the ould sod who made good abroad.

Shrugging aside the fact that the U. S. Chief Executive is a fourth generation American, the happy Irish greeted him with banners such as, "Welcome home, John Kennedy."

The President's plane arrived from Berlin to a packed house at Dublin Airport, and his motorcade was cheered all the way to the Phoenix Park residence of U.S. Ambassador Matthew H. McCloskey, where he was spending the night.

A spokesman for the Garda—Ireland's national police force—estimated that a quarter of a million persons had seen the President at the airport and along the route of the motorcade.

Hang From Trees

Spectators perched on window ledges, climbed the statuary on O'Connell Street, Dublin's main thoroughfare, clung to Lord Nelson's famous pillar, and hung from the trees.

As the presidential procession swept past the General Post Office, where a famous battle for Irish independence was fought in 1916, a synthetic snowstorm of ticker tape and torn paper pelted down from windows overlooking the street.

Met By De Valera

At the airport the President was met by President Eamon de Valera, now 80 and nearly blind, who is one of the heroes of Ireland's long fight to win freedom from the British.

De Valera spoke briefly in Irish, telling Mr. Kennedy, "I have thought it fitting to speak to you in the language of your ancestors."

Switching to English, he said: "We welcome you as the chief executive and the first citizen of that great republic which is the hope of the world.

"We welcome you for yourself. We are proud of you."

Kennedy replied that Ireland had "sent its sons and daughters all over the globe, and they are the best and most loyal citizens of the countries they have gone to."

Crowds Halt Auto

Kennedy and De Valera then left the airport on a motorcade that, at one point, produced the most disorderly crowd action of the day. It was a wild mobbing of the President's open-top limousine which eclipsed anything seen during the earlier visit to Berlin where the crowds were far larger.

The incident occurred as Kennedy drove from the De Valera residence to the official home of the U.S. ambassador.

As the White House limousine crossed an open area surrounded by lush, green fields, hundreds of enthusiastic welcomers crowded around his car and forced it to a stop.

To extricate Kennedy from this predicament, American Secret Service agents and uniformed Irish police formed a flying wedge and pushed their way through the crowd a the massive iron gates of the ambassador's house.

Reds Wound 5 Americans

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Communist gunners have hit four U.S. aircraft with ground fire in the past two days, wounding five Americans, it was announced Wednesday.

None of the Americans were injured seriously and one of the planes returned the Communists' fire, killing one guerrilla and injuring about 10.

The Americans were not identified pending notification of relatives.

Two of the wounded men, an Army enlisted man and a lieutenant, were injured Tuesday when gunfire hit their helicopter 30 miles north of here. They were hospitalized at Nha Trang, but their condition was not serious.

Another helicopter pilot and co-pilot were injured slightly the same day while aiding troops in combat south of Saigon. Bullets shattered the plastic bubble of their craft, and they were cut by fragments.

Attorney-General Takes U.S. Racial Battle To Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, declaring "this country can no longer abide the moral outrage of racial discrimination," asked Congress to pass the administration's civil rights bill.

He got immediate confirmation of the difficulties the legislation faces when he ran into bristling objections to a proposal to ban discrimination in hotels, restaurants and other places of public accommodation.

He also got a hint of Southern hostility and a whiff of politics injected by Republican members of a House Judiciary subcommittee before whom Kennedy appeared Wednesday to open the administration's drive for the program advocated by his brother, President Kennedy.

The attorney general's testimony was heard by a crowd that spilled over onto filing cabinets and desks in the ornate committee room. Scores more were unable to get in.

As he moved through the crowd to the witness table a Negro standing nearby leaned over and whispered, "God bless you, sir."

Kennedy told the subcommittee the courts and the administration had both played important roles in seeking an end to racial discrimination.

"Now it is clearly up to Congress to bring its strength to bear," he said.

Under prodding by Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., Kennedy said he would accept a proposal to set a minimum volume of business that establishments would have to do in order to come under the proposed public accommodations law.

"There is a good deal of merit in the suggestion," he told Celler. "If Congress decides to do it we would be happy to work with you to set some cut-off lines."

Most questions on the proposal dealt with the problems of a fictitious "Mrs. Murphy," who might be subject to the law even though she rents only two or three rooms to out-of-state visitors.

"I don't think Mrs. Murphy is going to be in a lot of trouble," said Kennedy.

Kennedy said such facilities as restaurants, lunch counters, amusement places, stores and hotels are public in a very real sense.

"They are not at all like a private home or a private club, for example, to which the owner invites only the guests he selects," he said.

Young GOP In Favor Of Goldwater

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Delegates to the national Young Republican convention cast an overwhelming 75 per cent vote Wednesday in favor of Sen. Barry Goldwater in a presidential preference poll.

The vote did not constitute a formal endorsement. This would be forbidden by the group's by-laws.

Nevertheless, the convention was for all practical purposes a large Goldwater - for-president rally — reflecting rising conservative sentiment in Young Republican groups all over the nation.

The Arizona delegation arrived here with 2,000 pounds of buttons, ballons, books and signs which were eagerly grabbed up by delegates who staged various impromptu rallies. No buttons for any other candidate than Goldwater were seen on delegates lapels.

The preferential poll, conducted by the Texas delegation, had 320 votes for Goldwater, 40 for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, 19 for Gov. George Romney of Michigan, 14 for Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, 8 for Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, 3 for former Vice President Richard Nixon and scattered votes for several others out of a total of 429 votes cast.

Goldwater, who will speak here Thursday night, is the only major presidential potential who has accepted an invitation to attend the convention.

38 Killed As Belgian Plane Burns

DETMOLD, West Germany (UPI) — A Belgian Army C119 transport plane taking part in Western military exercises exploded in flight Wednesday and crashed into a hillside near here, killing 38 of the 47 paratroopers and crewmen aboard.

It was the worst plane disaster in West Germany since 52 persons were killed in the crash of a Czech airliner near Forchheim in Bavaria in March 1961.

The nine survivors were paratroopers who jumped from the stricken American - made Flying Boxcar moments before it crashed and was consumed by fire. Seven escaped unhurt while two others were taken to a nearby British Army hospital with injuries, a Belgian spokesman said.

The spokesman said the explosion took place while the plane, carrying 42 paratroopers and 5 crewmen, was 750 feet above the ground.

The flight was to drop paratroopers to join up with the West German troops in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) "Lance" maneuvers.

The plane crashed near the village of Augustdorf in the Barren training zone in northwest Germany.

Teen-Agers Rob Aged Woman Of Over $6,500

ERIE, Pa. (UPI) —City detectives disclosed Wednesday the arrest of six teen-aged boys on charges of stealing more than $6,500 from an 85-year-old widow during the past three months.

The victim was Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, who lives alone in a modest home.

Police said the youths, who are 14 and 15 years old, would visit her on the pretext of brightening her day. While several of them held her attention, one would loot her pocketbook.

Only $230 was recovered.

Police said Mrs. Thompson kept her money in a bank but would withdraw sums of $100 periodically. They said the youths managed to learn this and even the date her pension check arrived by spending a great deal of time in her home.

Officials reported that Mrs. Thompson was not suspicious of the boys because she was flattered by attention from young people.

They said that one of the boys admitted that on one occasion he took $670 and started a bank account. Another said he had taken $300 in another instance.

The case broke when Mrs. Thompson reported to police that a .32 caliber gun, a keepsake of hers, had been stolen. It was traced to one of the youths and he revealed that he and the others had been engaged in the money thefts.

The youths' names were not revealed and they were released to the custody of their parents pending juvenile court action.

Irish Stage Welcome To The Ould Sod

Quarter Million Hail President As Their Own

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—President Kennedy was wildly acclaimed in Ireland Wednesday night as a son of the ould sod who made good abroad.

Shrugging aside the fact that the U. S. Chief Executive is a fourth generation American, the happy Irish greeted him with banners such as, "Welcome home, John Kennedy."

The President's plane arrived from Berlin to a packed house at Dublin Airport, and his motorcade was cheered all the way to the Phoenix Park residence of U.S. Ambassador Matthew H. McCloskey, where he was spending the night.

A spokesman for the Garda—Ireland's national police force—estimated that a quarter of a million persons had seen the President at the airport and along the route of the motorcade.

Hang From Trees

Spectators perched on window ledges, climbed the statuary on O'Connell Street, Dublin's main thoroughfare, clung to Lord Nelson's famous pillar, and hung from the trees.

As the presidential procession swept past the General Post Office, where a famous battle for Irish independence was fought in 1916, a synthetic snowstorm of ticker tape and torn paper pelted down from windows overlooking the street.

Met By De Valera

At the airport the President was met by President Eamon de Valera, now 80 and nearly blind, who is one of the heroes of Ireland's long fight to win freedom from the British.

De Valera spoke briefly in Irish, telling Mr. Kennedy, "I have thought it fitting to speak to you in the language of your ancestors."

Switching to English, he said: "We welcome you as the chief executive and the first citizen of that great republic which is the hope of the world.

"We welcome you for yourself. We are proud of you."

Kennedy replied that Ireland had "sent its sons and daughters all over the globe, and they are the best and most loyal citizens of the countries they have gone to."

Crowds Halt Auto

Kennedy and De Valera then left the airport on a motorcade that, at one point, produced the most disorderly crowd action of the day. It was a wild mobbing of the President's open-top limousine which eclipsed anything seen during the earlier visit to Berlin where the crowds were far larger.

The incident occurred as Kennedy drove from the De Valera residence to the official home of the U.S. ambassador.

As the White House limousine crossed an open area surrounded by lush, green fields, hundreds of enthusiastic welcomers crowded around his car and forced it to a stop.

To extricate Kennedy from this predicament, American Secret Service agents and uniformed Irish police formed a flying wedge and pushed their way through the crowd a the massive iron gates of the ambassador's house.

Reds Wound 5 Americans

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—Communist gunners have hit four U.S. aircraft with ground fire in the past two days, wounding five Americans, it was announced Wednesday.

None of the Americans were injured seriously and one of the planes returned the Communists' fire, killing one guerrilla and injuring about 10.

The Americans were not identified pending notification of relatives.

Two of the wounded men, an Army enlisted man and a lieutenant, were injured Tuesday when gunfire hit their helicopter 30 miles north of here. They were hospitalized at Nha Trang, but their condition was not serious.

Another helicopter pilot and co-pilot were injured slightly the same day while aiding troops in combat south of Saigon. Bullets shattered the plastic bubble of their craft, and they were cut by fragments.

First Lady, Children Fly To Rhode Island Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said Wednesday that Jacqueline Kennedy expects to fly to Newport, R.I., Thursday aboard the family plane Caroline to visit her mother at Hammersmith Farm.

It will be the start of a summer vacation at the seashore for Mrs. Kennedy, who is expecting a third child the last week in August.

She and her two children, Caroline, 5½, and John F. Jr., 2½, will stay at the home of her mother, Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss until July 2 when they will move into the rented summer home of a Reading, Pa., textile manufacturer, Louis Thun, on Squaw Island, near Hyannis Port, Mass.

President Kennedy is expected to join them there for the 4th of July weekend after completing his European trip.

Not Even A Coffee Break Halts Cambridge Curfew

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—Not even a coffee run is permitted in Cambridge after the 10 p.m. curfew, so two 19-year-old girls found out in magistrate's court.

A police lieutenant said the girls, Ruth Ann Pritchett and Ethel Louise Wingate, were found after midnight drinking coffee with six National Guardsmen at a check point.

The Guardsmen are among 400 stationed in the Eastern Shore city to maintain an uneasy racial truce. They are there to enforce the curfew.

The girls testified that they were stopped at a check point on their way back to town. They were then asked, they said, to get the guards coffee. They did.

Their lawyer described them as "Good Samaritans." But State's Atty. C. Burnam Mace told the judge it was a matter of maintaining law and order.

Delegate Sentenced In Delinquency Case

Court Orders Treatment At State Hospital

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Del. Charles R. Brockmeyer, D-Anne Arundel, received a two-year suspended prison sentence and was fined $500 Wednesday after pleading guilty in juvenile court to contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The court directed two years of psychiatric treatment for the 47-year-old legislator in placing him on probation. The treatment is to be provided at Crownsville State Hospital "not less than once each week."

Brockmeyer's attorney, Jerome F. Connell, said there was "no doubt" the delegate would resign from the House seat he has held since 1959. He indicated the action would not come for at least several more days, however.

The county's Democratic state central committee will name his successor.

Brockmeyer's case, which had been pending about three months, was heard Tuesday by the three judges of Anne Arundel County circuit court, sitting as juvenile court.

Chief Judge Matthew S. Evans announced the sentence and released a court memorandum also signed by Judges O. Bowie Duckett and George Sachse.

Judge Evans said the charges against Brockmeyer were filed by the Juvenile Protection Bureau on complaints of the parents of three girls, ages 5, 9, and 11.

"In substance, the testimony disclosed that at the suggestion of the defendant the three minor females disrobed, danced, played games and were fondled by Mr. Brockmeyer," the court memorandum said.

"The evidence is clear that there was no criminal assault on any of the children by the defendant."

The court said psychiatric reports noted that Brockmeyer 'is not likely to repeat his performance" but that he needed extended psychiatric care. The doctors said he was not anti-social, but immature.

While he is under care of Crownsville State Hospital he is to appear as often and for such periods as the superintendent may direct, but at least once each week.

Huge Surplus Goods Auction Nets $412,857

BALTIMORE (AP)—A retired naval officer purchased at public auction today the same truck tractor once used by his blimp ground crew at the Lakehurst (N.J.) Naval Air Station.

Dick D. Mahaffey purchased the five-ton government surplus vehicle for the Toms River (N.J.) Volunteer Fire Company on a bid of $425.

Mahaffey, 37, a member of the fire company, was authorized by his chief to pay up to $600 for the tractor which was listed in a government catalogue as costing $4,361 when new.

The former lieutenant commander, who retired March 1 after 20 years in the Navy, said the tractor was used to pull a trailer which hauled the grounding crew handling blimps—before they were decommissioned in 1960.

The fire company will use it to pull a 4,000 gallon water tank trailer.

The tractor was one of 242 items, which originally cost the government more than $1.6 million, auctioned at a downtown hotel by the Defense Surplus Sales Office of nearby Fort Holabird for $412,857.

More than 300 registered bidders competed for the items used by the military. Some were more than 20 years old.

Prior to the auction, the material was open to inspection at 22 military installations in six mid-Atlantic states and the District of Columbia.

The list included railroad locomotives, construction equipment, marine engines, machine tools, trucks of all kinds, and clothing such as field jackets, shirts and ponchos.

Twenty-five forklift trucks, once valued at $88,790, were sold for $20,425. Most went to stevedore and truck salvage companies in New Orleans, Ashville, Pa., and Cleveland.

Washington Experiences Heavy Smog

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington metropolitan area experienced Wednesday the heaviest smog since daily measurements were begun here two years ago.

The Public Health Service reported that a reading of .47 parts per million of oxidants — nearly twice the amount at which many people experience high irritation—was recorded at the measuring station at 1st and L streets shortly after 2 p.m. This was a rise from a reading of .44 between noon and 1 p.m., a spokesman said.

The highest previous reading in the metropolitan area had been .41 parts per million at the municipal center station at 3d and C streets, and that reading was equaled at that station early this afternoon.

There was a record-high reading of .26 at Cheverly, Md.

Boy Drowns At Yacht Club

NORTH EAST, Md. (AP)—A 16-year-old boy who couldn't swim drowned in 10 feet of water at the North East Yacht Club Wednesday on a dare from his friends to dive in.

The victim was Charles Edward Shiflett.

Inspector David Webster, captain of the Tidewater Fisheries patrol boat Rhode River which recovered Shiflett's body, was told the youth was watching from a pier while companions were swimming in the river.

Webster said they dared the boy to dive in and he did. When he came up a cousin, James, tried to help him and was pulled under the water by the youth before letting go. Charles Shiflett then disappeared from view.

New Plebes Find Girls In Dorm Rooms

Chamber Commerce Has Busiest Day

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Early arrivals for the Naval Academy's new plebe class sworn in Wednesday found their rooms taken by girls—a situation not likely to occur again in the next four years.

Until the 1,250 new midshipmen took their oath at 5 p.m., they were civilians, responsible for their own accommodations. Bancroft Hall, the huge midshipman dormitory, was not open to them.

They arrived by the hundreds yesterday, many with family and friends.

But they ran smack into Girls State, an American Legion auxiliary project which already was using some 250 hotel spaces in Annapolis during its week-long sessions at the state house.

The town also was bulging with more tourists than normal for this time of the year, and 108 high school bandsmen from West Virginia were here for a concert in connection with their state's centennial.

The Naval Academy and the city's Chamber of Commerce sprang into action. The chamber published and broadcast urgent appeals to residents to find rooms for the plebes and their families in private homes. It also had the problem of finding housing for the 108 band members.

The Naval Academy took care of 250 of the plebes at its big field house, but it was unable to handle any more there. It provided buses, however, to shuttle others out of town.

"We finally got everybody settled," Gene Gosch, chamber manager, said. He said 150 were taken care of, sleeping eight to a room, at a motel. Sixty-eight homes in Annapolis provided other rooms. Some of the midshipmen candidates and parents were sent to the Eastern Shore, Washington and Baltimore for other hurriedly arranged housing.

More Clergymen Would Ban Prayer In Public Schools

BALTIMORE (AP)—A group of seven clergymen, who issued a statement last week favoring the Supreme Court decision in the school prayer cases, claimed additional support Wednesday.

The Rev. Dr. Irving R. Murray, minister of the First Unitarian Church, said expressions of opinions on the "Statement of Conviction" were invited from every Protestant clergyman and Jewish Rabbi in Maryland.

Of the replies received, he said, 39 expressed agreement on the stand taken by the original seven, and 33 others expressed opposition.

The statement, signed by five ministers and two rabbis, contend-Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer were religious ceremonies, and thus inappropriate in public schools.

Orders Decline

NEW YORK (UPI) — Domestic orders for machine tools declined in May for the second consecutive month, figures of the National Machine Tool Builders Association showed. However, a sharp rise in orders from foreign customers wiped out the drop in U.S. orders. Net orders rose 25 per cent over the same month last year.

State Enforcement Officers Appeal For Safe Driving

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The Maryland Law Enforcement Officers Association appealed Wednesday to the state's citizens to obey traffic laws.

The association, meeting here for its 27th annual convention, passed a resolution reaffirming its strong policy on traffic safety.

The resolution appealed to the "citizens of our cities, counties and state to honor and obey the traffic laws of Maryland by fully accepting their own moral driving responsibility to exert every care."

State Screens Applicants For Welfare Post

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Pennsylvania official and the Montgomery County, Md., director led scorers on two lists of candidates for the position of Maryland welfare director.

The standings were announced Wednesday by Dr. Alvin Thaleimer, chairman of the state welfare board, who said it probably will name the new director during the week of July 8. The $17,500-a-year position was left vacant by the death of Thomas J. S. Waxter.

Thaleimer said Norman V. Lourie, executive deputy secretary of the Pennsylvania welfare department, was high scorer in oral tests for five candidates not connected with the Maryland program.

William E. Royer, Montgomery County's welfare director, was high among five other seeking promotion within the state program.

The board will interview all 10 candidates next week. It may pick any of the 10 candidates without regard to test scores.

FBI Arrests Man In Robbery Of Washington Bank

NEW YORK (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation Wednesday arrested Emory Giles, 32, on a charge of robbing a Washington, D.C., bank of $18,499 on May 13.

FBI agents said Giles, also known as John Tyrell Williams Jr., had 59 cents in his possession when they surprised him in a hotel. He was unarmed and offered no resistance.

Giles was wanted for the robbery of the eastern office of the Security Bank, (2119 Bladensburg Rd., Northeast), Washington.

Aberdeen Atomic Reactor Cut From Defense Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., announced Wednesday Defense Secretary Robert McNamara has asked the Senate Armed Services Committee to restore a $2.1 million authorization for a nuclear research reactor at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

The authorization was deleted from the military construction bill last month by the House Armed Services Committee after New York interests contended the project would compete with a proposed New York state facility.

Rep. Long contends future military needs for the kind of reactor planned would far exceed the capacity of both the Aberdeen and New York facilities.

The congressman quoted a letter to the Senate Committee from McNamara which said the planned Aberdeen reactor and other similar facilities are needed "to continue research and coordinate tests necessary in development of new weapons."

The Aberdeen reactor would be a nuclear environmental research facility to test electronic systems and weapons under conditions similar to those of an atomic blast.

FBI agents said Giles, also known as John Tyrell Williams Jr., had 59 cents in his possession when they surprised him in a hotel. He was unarmed and offered no resistance.

Giles was wanted for the robbery of the eastern office of the Security Bank, (2119 Bladensburg Rd., Northeast), Washington.

Aberdeen Atomic Reactor Cut From Defense Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clarence Long, D-Md., announced Wednesday Defense Secretary Robert McNamara has asked the Senate Armed Services Committee to restore a $2.1 million authorization for a nuclear research reactor at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

The authorization was deleted from the military construction bill last month by the House Armed Services Committee after New York interests contended the project would compete with a proposed New York state facility.

Rep. Long contends future military needs for the kind of reactor planned would far exceed the capacity of both the Aberdeen and New York facilities.

The congressman quoted a letter to the Senate Committee from McNamara which said the planned Aberdeen reactor and other similar facilities are needed "to continue research and coordinate tests necessary in development of new weapons."

The Aberdeen reactor would be a nuclear environmental research facility to test electronic systems and weapons under conditions similar to those of an atomic blast.

State Enforcement Officers Appeal For Safe Driving

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The Maryland Law Enforcement Officers Association appealed Wednesday to the state's citizens to obey traffic laws.

The association, meeting here for its 27th annual convention, passed a resolution reaffirming its strong policy on traffic safety.

The resolution appealed to the "citizens of our cities, counties and state to honor and obey the traffic laws of Maryland by fully accepting their own moral driving responsibility to exert every care."

Some 250 delegates attended the four-day meeting, which ended Wednesday.

Outboard Motorboat Liability Insurance Rates Drop As Accidents Decrease

By JACK WOLISTON

A marked reduction in boating accidents last year has caused the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters to adjust downward the rates charged owners of outboard motorboats for personal liability insurance.

The insurance rating organization said there also had been fewer liability claims filed against motorboat owners than had been anticipated.

Previously, only owners of outboard motors of less than 10 horsepower escaped paying the additional premium for liability insurance. Under the new schedule, owners of outboards with 10 to 25 horsepower will receive liability protection without additional charge under their personal liability policies. In addition, owners of outboards with 25 or more horsepower will pay lower premiums.

Liability insurance affords boat owners protection against claims for death or injury resulting from outboard motor accidents.

In announcing the new rates, which went into effect a few days ago, the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and its affiliated companies cited the U.S. Coast Guard's annual report on boating safety. It showed that although the number of registered boats increased 13.9 per cent from 1961 to 1962, accidents decreased 4.4 per cent and fatal boating accidents fell 8.5 per cent.

There also was an 8 per cent decrease in property damage resulting from boating accidents in 1962.

On the subject of insurance, a study by The Travelers Insurance Companies shows that the most common claims by boaters, in order of frequency, are:

Collision with a submerged object, stress of heavy weather, collision with another vessel or dock, theft, stranding or running aground, damage to machinery and fire.

Although fire ranked seventh in loss incidence, it was second in sion, pointed out that not all terms of dollars.

Roy T. Haycock, secretary of The Travelers Insurance Companies' Marine Underwriting Divi- claims are routine. Some are unusual, to say the least.

One yacht owner claimed loss from a tussle with an alligator. Another came out on the losing end of a battle with swooping seagulls. A pesky woodpecker wreaked havoc on the masts of a fleet of sailboats on a quiet lake in upper New York state.

A permanent boating exhibit, to be known as "Boat Fair," is being readied in New York City and will open to the public early in September.

The nautical exhibition, covering 9,000 square feet of street-level space at 820 Second Avenue, will display all types of boats, inboard engines, outboard motors, sails, electronic and navigational equipment, hardware and other marine products.

A program of boating skill demonstrations, safe boating exhibits, talks by speakers from governmental agencies and commissions will be regular features, according to the sponsor, Ellery Mann, publisher of Rudder magazine. An extensive library of boating books, photographs and film will be available to the public free of charge, he said.

Anti-Sub Rally

TOKYO (UPI) — About 3,000 labor union members staged a rally in downtown Hibiya Park Tuesday in protest against the proposed visits of U. S. Polaris submarines to Japanese ports. The demonstration was sponsored by the leftist Sohyo Labor Federation.

Visits Schools

FRANKFURT (UPI)—President Kennedy's sister and sister-in-law visited several schools for retarded children Tuesday.

Mrs. Eunice Shriver, his sister, and Princess Lee Radziwill, his sister-in-law, flew here from Bonn by helicopter early Tuesday morning, visited several Frankfurt schools before lunching in a restaurant atop a brewery tower, then "choppered" out to Wiesbaden to see another school and await the President.

Passengers Delayed

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UPI) — Nearly 1,500 passengers disembarked one hour late from the liner Queen Elizabeth after its arrival from New York Tuesday because of a ban on overtime by the port's crane operators. The liner also had one stowaway, Donald Fischer, 20, whose mother, Mrs. Phillis Ross, lives in Pacific Calif.

Duke Ducked

HONG KONG (UPI) — The Duke of Kent took a ducking Tuesday when his boat was swamped during the annual dragon boat races. The duke and his crew of British officers and Gurkha soldiers lost the race to their Chinese rivals.

Business Tabs

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Rohm & Haas Co. cut prices 3 per cent on a wide range of its acrylic products including plexiglass sheet and molding powder, acrylic emulsions and solutions and methyl methacrylate monomer.

Some of the reductions actually amount to 6 per cent since some of the new reduced prices are on a delivered basis instead of FOB plant basis, the company said.

NEW YORK (UPI) — General Baking Co. Tuesday called off a special stockholders meeting set for July 24. A proposed plan for refinancing its preferred stock that was to have been considered at the meeting is being revised, the company said.

BALTIMORE (UPI)—The Maryland Port Authority has agreed to rent for $1 a year for 40 years, with option to buy, a marine terminal from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The port authority agrees to spend $6.99 million to reconstruct the terminal and the B&O will continue to serve it.

The option purchase price within the next five years is $7 million. At the end of the 40-year lease it is $1.68 million.

The B&O may regain control of the terminal by reimbursing the authority for the improvements made on it.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Business failures across the country last week dropped to 274 from 304 the prior week and compared with 265 in the like week last year, Dun & Bradstreet reported Tuesday.

Insolvencies with liabilities of $100,000 or more totaled 37 down 7 from both the previous week and a year ago.

Bankruptcies in Canada amounted to 50 off 1 from the prior week and compared with 37 in the same week a year earlier.

Donates Books

NEW YORK (UPI)—More than 1,000 textbooks donated by schoolchildren here were shipped Tuesday to students in Prince Edward County, Va., where schools were shut to prevent integration.

Mrs. Gertrude H. Selkowe, principal of Junior High School 135 in the Bronx said the gift was a result of a concerted effort on the part of her pupils.

"Cinebox" Gives Viewer Choice Of Sound Movies

DALLAS (UPI) — "Cinebox," a unique motion picture exhibiting device capable of showing 40 different sound motion pictures, will be marketed to business and industry by the Commercial Photography Division of United Press International, it was announced Tuesday.

Cinebox resembles a coin - operated commercial record player or "juke box" with a projection screen on top. The viewer can select color sound films just as he would choose tunes in the more familiar machine.

Roy Mehlman, direct of UPI commercial photography, and Stanley Green, president of Estey Electronics of Hicksville, N. Y., announced jointly that UPI will promote industrial use of Cinebox and will produce motion picture files with which it can be equipped.

The machine was exhibited before the Industrial Advertisers Convention being held in Dallas.

The UPI efforts will be directed toward use of Cinebox for sales promotion purposes at trade exhibits, conventions, fair and company showrooms.

One yacht owner claimed loss from a tussle with an alligator. Another came out on the losing end of a battle with swooping seagulls. A pesky woodpecker wreaked havoc on the masts of a fleet of sailboats on a quiet lake in upper New York state.

A permanent boating exhibit, to be known as "Boat Fair," is being readied in New York City and will open to the public early in September.

The nautical exhibition, covering 9,000 square feet of street-level space at 820 Second Avenue, will display all types of boats, inboard engines, outboard motors, sails, electronic and navigational equipment, hardware and other marine products.

A program of boating skill demonstrations, safe boating exhibits, talks by speakers from governmental agencies and commissions will be regular features, according to the sponsor, Ellery Mann, publisher of Rudder magazine. An extensive library of boating books, photographs and film will be available to the public free of charge, he said.

Business Tabs

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Rohm & Haas Co. cut prices 3 per cent on a wide range of its acrylic products including plexiglass sheet and molding powder, acrylic emulsions and solutions and methyl methacrylate monomer.

Some of the reductions actually amount to 6 per cent since some of the new reduced prices are on a delivered basis instead of FOB plant basis, the company said.

NEW YORK (UPI) — General Baking Co. Tuesday called off a special stockholders meeting set for July 24. A proposed plan for refinancing its preferred stock that was to have been considered at the meeting is being revised, the company said.

BALTIMORE (UPI)—The Maryland Port Authority has agreed to rent for $1 a year for 40 years, with option to buy, a marine terminal from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

The port authority agrees to spend $6.99 million to reconstruct the terminal and the B&O will continue to serve it.

The option purchase price within the next five years is $7 million. At the end of the 40-year lease it is $1.68 million.

The B&O may regain control of the terminal by reimbursing the authority for the improvements made on it.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Business failures across the country last week dropped to 274 from 304 the prior week and compared with 265 in the like week last year, Dun & Bradstreet reported Tuesday.

Passengers Delayed

SOUTHAMPTON, England (UPI) — Nearly 1,500 passengers disembarked one hour late from the liner Queen Elizabeth after its arrival from New York Tuesday because of a ban on overtime by the port's crane operators. ## "Cinebox" Gives Viewer Choice Of Sound Movies

DALLAS (UPI) — "Cinebox," a unique motion picture exhibiting device capable of showing 40 different sound motion pictures, will be marketed to business and industry by the Commercial Photography Division of United Press International, it was announced Tuesday.

Cinebox resembles a coin - operated commercial record player or "juke box" with a projection screen on top. The viewer can select color sound films just as he would choose tunes in the more familiar machine.

Roy Mehlman, direct of UPI commercial photography, and Stanley Green, president of Estey Electronics of Hicksville, N. Y., announced jointly that UPI will promote industrial use of Cinebox and will produce motion picture files with which it can be equipped.

The machine was exhibited before the Industrial Advertisers Convention being held in Dallas.

Pa. Youth Who Drowned Saving Girl Awarded Medal Posthumously

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A Pennsylvania youth who drowned after saving the life of a girl in South Carolina was one of three heroes cited posthumously this week by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

Established in 1904 by Andrew Carnegie, Pittsburgh, steel magnate, the commission presented 25 bronze medals in recognition of acts of valor last year. Awards totaling $13,750 for educational and other worthy purposes were made in the 25 cases.

The commission has issued 4,653 medals and made more than $9 million cash awards since it was founded.

Garey La Monte Rickley, 20, of Baden, Pa., a student at the Citadel in Charleston, S.C. died saving Carol Ann Seyle, 19, on June 16, 1962.

Carol Anne had been wading in the surf in the Atlantic Ocean at the Isle of Palms when she and two companions submerged briefly in water 12 feet deep.

Rickley swam to her side and she grasped him by the shoulders. Exhausted after swimming against a heavy tidal wave while towing her 90 feet, Rickley told Carol Anne he could not make it to shore. But he pushed her to within a few feet of wadable water where she was rescued.

Rickley sank and did not reappear. His body was recovered two hours later.

A similar act of herosim was performed the same day in Venice, Fla. where the rescuer also died. Cecil Lerch, 17, attempted to save Barbara J. Martin, 10, from drowning in the Gulf of Mexico.

Barbara was submerged by a breaker and carried away from shore. Lerch, who had little experience swimming in the surf, went to her rescue but a strong undercurrent and high waves swept him beyond the girl.

Jack R. Arnold swam to the girl's side, reassured her that she would be saved, and towed her 110 feet to within 25 feet of the shore. Arnold was exhausted and thrust her to a man who had waded in the water.

A half hour later Lerch's body was found floating on the surface, face down.

The commission awarded a bronze medal and death benefits to Cecil's father, William A. Lerch, of Francesville, Ind.

Traveler Finds Change Of Pace In Old Antwerp

By MURRAY J. BROWN

ANTWERP, Belgium (UPI) — Americans touring Europe would do well to visit this famed old port city for a refreshing and inexpensive change of pace. Most of the high spots can be covered in a day or two.

Visits were longer in the days when sea travel was the rule. But only a few tourists still come by ship. It takes about 30 minutes to get here by train from Brussels which is around 7½ hours from New York by Sabena Belgian World Airlines Boeing 707-jetliners.

And most Antwerpers really go out of their way to be helpful. Antwerp is predominately Flemish whereas Brussels is mostly French. And the Flemings here feel you must enjoy your visit.

Although Antwerp may not be as sophisticated as Brussels, there are those who say you can have more fun and spend less. There are good hotels. There are fine restaurants and cafes. There are night clubs and dance halls. And there are hundreds of friendly little bars lining the streets along the waterfront.

Leaving one side of the Central Station, which is smack in the center of the city, you hit "Koningin Astridplein," a large square surrounded by cafes and cinemas. Just to the east is the famous Antwerp Zoo where the ingenious use of lighting, rather than cages, in the aviary keeps the birds from flying away.

On the other side of Central Station is De Keyserlei, a broad, busy avenue that leads through the heart of the city and to the waterfront.

Pelikaanstraat is just left of De Keyserlei. This is the heart of Antwerp's diamond market. They say about half of the world's diamonds pass through here. There are an estimated 1,500 diamond cutting establishments in the city.

The city took a terrific beating in both World Wars. It was blasted by V-1 and V-2 rockets in the last war. But walking down the Meir (the main thoroughfare) the tourist is aware only of the obvious prosperity Antwerp is enjoying.

There are numerous spanking new buildings but the majority are not ultra-modern and blend easily with the traditional Flemish baroque style.

The big appeal for the tourist is Flemish art. The Rubens House, the Plantin-Moretus Museum, the Royal Gallery of Fine Arts and six magnificent churches, including the Cathedral with its beautiful tower, overflow with art treasurers.

The Royal Gallery has about 1,000 paintings by old masters and 1,500 works dating from the 19th century.

Rubens' mansion on Rubensstraat (off the Meir), which he built in 1610 when the city was in one of its periods of glory, dispels the myth of the starving artist. It also evokes the grand life of the Antwerp patrician of the time. The house is a solid, baroque castle.

When it's time for refreshment, Antwerp offers everything from imposing gastronomic temples to humble shops that sell mussels and French fries. Try Antwerp's special delicacy, "waterzooi," a tasty stew made of chicken and succulent vegetables.

Old Elephant

TARQUINA, Italy (AP) — A farmer, looking gloomily at the damage a rain-loosened landslide had caused on his property along the Tyrrhenian coast north of Rome, suddenly stared in amazement.

He saw a big ivory tusk sticking out of the soil. Archaeologists dug up the skull and part of the skeleton of an ancient elephant which lived here 400,000 to 600,000 years ago, before the most recent ice age.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Eyes Have It! Or Have They?

There's little you can say that will make an impression—if your eyes wander away from the face of the person to whom you're speaking.

And there's no convincing anyone that you're interested or really listening — if you do not look directly into the speaker's face.

The greatest charmers I know share an almost hypnotizing trick of looking deeply into the eyes of anyone they speak or listen to. It's flattery of the headiest kind —and women as well as men are fascinated.

I suppose the true charmer levels a direct and fully attentive gaze so enchantingly by pure instinct. But many lovely women with more inner charm than they now display should consciously develop the habit until it becomes second nature — and that may be true in your case. Here's how it can be done:

First of all, check on what your eyes do now during a conversation. Once you're on the alert, you'll notice that you do drop your eyes or focus them on a distant point even though you're not aware of doing it. Now, make an effort to change. Keep your eyes trained on the other person's face — and more than that, keep your expression interested. A blank stare won't do it — a true spark of attention must shine through your eyes.

Then, just to try out how well the idea works, be the most interested listener to anyone who's talking to a group and show it with your eyes. It won't be long until he's singling you out and talking directly to you.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Eyes Have It! Or Have They?

There's little you can say that will make an impression—if your eyes wander away from the face of the person to whom you're speaking.

And there's no convincing anyone that you're interested or really listening — if you do not look directly into the speaker's face.

The greatest charmers I know share an almost hypnotizing trick of looking deeply into the eyes of anyone they speak or listen to. It's flattery of the headiest kind —and women as well as men are fascinated.

I suppose the true charmer levels a direct and fully attentive gaze so enchantingly by pure instinct. But many lovely women with more inner charm than they now display should consciously develop the habit until it becomes second nature — and that may be true in your case. Here's how it can be done:

First of all, check on what your eyes do now during a conversation. Once you're on the alert, you'll notice that you do drop your eyes or focus them on a distant point even though you're not aware of doing it. Now, make an effort to change. Keep your eyes trained on the other person's face — and more than that, keep your expression interested. A blank stare won't do it — a true spark of attention must shine through your eyes.

Then, just to try out how well the idea works, be the most interested listener to anyone who's talking to a group and show it with your eyes. It won't be long until he's singling you out and talking directly to you.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I noticed with interest your proclamation of "Return Borrowed Book Day." I'll bet hundreds of books were returned to their owners as a result of that wonderful column.

And now, Ann, will you please proclaim a day for the return of borrowed dishes, bowls and pans? So many well-meaning people bring food to friends and relatives and that's the last they ever see of their containers.

My muffin tin is gone and I don't know who has it. My two choice mixing bowls are floating around somewhere, not to mention my china casserole. I hate to phone friends and ask if they have these items because it seems so chintzy. So please, Ann, proclaim a day for the return of dishes, bowls and pans. Housewives everywhere will call you blessed. —MA HUBBARD

DEAR MA HUBBARD: Paging all housewives. Today is the day to check the cupboards for odd dishes, bowls, pans, casseroles and containers of all sizes and shapes.

Many women are reluctant to return these items — empty — so they procrastinate, and wind up keeping them forever. Take it from me, girls, the owners would rather have them empty than not at all . . . so get going.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last week our 17-year-old son brought home a boy friend and asked if he could stay with us until he graduates from high school next year.

The lad is an A student, well behaved, attends church every Sunday and never runs around. Any set of respectable parents would be proud of a son like this.

His parents, unfortunately, are not decent people. The school counselor advised the boy to move out of the house. He had no place to go so my son brought him here.

Our problem is that we are just barely making it financially. My 90-year-old father lives with us, and we have three other children. Is there any way we can make the boy's parents pay for his keep? They have not contacted us since he left home three weeks ago although they know where he is. Please advise us. — WANT TO HELP

DEAR WANT TO HELP: The school authorities should look into your community's foster home plan. Perhaps you can be paid by the county or the state if the boy's parents are not able to do so.

If for some reason you cannot be paid PLEASE PLEASE keep him anyway. Few people have the privilege of performing a service so valuable. You could be his guardian angels.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was 12 years old when my parents explained to me that my real mother had died when I was an infant and that my mother was actually my stepmother. This came as a surprise but not a shock.

My stepmother is a sensitive woman so I have never brought up the subject since and neither has she.

My own children are now 10 and 11 years of age and I have never told them. Young children sometimes say the wrong thing and I'd feel terrible if they embarrassed their grandmother in any way.

We do not live in the same city and the children see their grandmother infrequently. Do you think they should be told? Or is it best to leave sleeping dogs lie?——UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: There are no dogs around—just facts. And I see no reason why the children should not be told. They will probably show surprisingly little interest in the subject since they themselves are not involved. You'll wonder why you made such a big deal of it.

Confidential to HEARTSICK: Time wounds all heels and he'll get his. Don't spend another minute thinking about how to get even. It's bootless and destructive.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A large segment of our bridge playing population has been brought up in the belief that a defender should constantly lead thru strength and up to weakness. For the child who has just emerged from his perambulator this is a reasonably good rule of thumb, but for those who have acquired the knack of thinking we recommend personal planning and sometimes this involves leading right into strength. Observe East's performance in today's hand.

East's jump raise of West's two diamond overcall is not absolutely forcing. It announces a good trump fit and a willingness to go on if partner has any additional values. When South persisted to four spades, West doubled primarily as a warning to East not to bid five diamonds.

The king of diamonds was opened and South ruffed. He cashed one high spade and when everyone followed he abandoned the suit. South switched to the king of clubs and East played the ace.

At this point East paused to assess the defensive prospects. West was for a certainty marked with a trick in spades, for he would hardly have doubled the final contract with only the ace and king of diamonds. East's two aces completed book for his side. Since declarer's side strength seemed to be in clubs, the only hope for a setting trick lay in the heart suit. To take a second trick in hearts, East must find declarer with at least three small hearts and West with the queen.

At trick three, East accordingly shifted to the ten of hearts in an effort to drive out the dummy's stopper in the suit while West still had his trump control. North won the trick with the jack of hearts. South cashed the king of spades and began to run the clubs. West ruffed in on the third round with the queen of spades and a lead thru dummy's king of hearts netted two more tricks to set declarer down by one.

Observe that, if East fails to make his heart shift when he is in South can throw two hearts from the North hand on his established clubs. Even tho West ruffs the third club, dummy retains a heart stopper as well as a trump to ruff declarer's third heart.

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—Grandma, drawing on what her grandma told her decades ago, used to swear you might get rid of a wart by following the following:

—Cut a potato in half, bury it by the light of a full moon and then hope the wart goes away.

In annals of modern medicine that is known as a hex—a supermagical power of suggestion. And, oddly enough, hex therapies of the type sometimes still are recommended slightly for removal of one type wart—plantar, a kind that attacks the sole of the foot.

The medical text that recommends "hex" as a possible therapy for "plantar" notes that sometimes power of suggestion via the hex with this type wart works best in children.

Children, it seems, are most likely to react to the power of suggestion where psychological factors somehow can influence the course of a disorder. Plantar wart, in this case.

What has been destroyed, however, in the advance of modern medical discoveries, is the hex, in the main.

You don't, for example, get rid of poison ivy by just itching and wishing it goes away—no matter how many potato halves or turnip leaves you bury by moon's light.

What has taken the place of the hex, as a thorn in the side of modern science, however, is another three-letter word—f a d.

Mostly the fads are related to foods. For most every fad on the food front, however, there's a fact.

Samples are the subject of a fat handbook recently published by the National Dairy Council.

The nutritional statements made in the booklet have been reviewed by the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association (AMA) and found consistent with current authoritative medical opinion.

Samples of fads disputed in the booklet:

—FAD: There is no relationship between the diet of the mother and the health of the newborn infant. The expectant mother can under or over eat and it won't affect the fetus.

—FACT: Studies have shown a definite relationship between the diet of the expectant mother and the health of the newborn infant. See your obstetrician for fuller fetus-saving details!

—FAD: It's simple as pie to lose weight if you follow a crash, do-it-myself diet clipped from a magazine or picked up over the back of the fence last washday.

—FACT: A physician should ALWAYS be consulted before a plan to lose weight is undertaken. Every successful weight reduction diet, in the main, includes foods which contain adequate amounts of essential nutrients but a limited number of calories—under doctor's supervision!

—FAD: Pre-school children, in relation to size, grow more rapidly than other humans. But they can survive on the meals served up ma and pa. Don't worry about their diets—or peculiar demand-feeding habits.

—FACT: Especially between the ages of one to three years, children need more body-building foods in proportion to their size. Moms anxious to do right by the toddlers will serve them foods high in protein, minerals and vitamins. Between meal eating is necessary for many of these children since their tiny stomachs cannot hold a lot of food at one time.

Stoke their gastronomical furnaces a little at a time.

Humane Education Classes Being Given

As part of its program, the Allegany County Animal Welfare Society is sponsoring 20-hour courses in "Humane Education" as training at Day Camp in Constitution Park for the Girl Scout cat and dog badge.

The first course was held last week, under the direction of Mrs. Edward Finan. When the work was completed each member of the class received a special certificate from the Animal Welfare Society.

Assisting Mrs. Finan in the special program was Carter Mason. Mrs. John L. Towler outlined the local laws and reviewed the program of the society. Merwin Hast spoke of the county laws and regulations. Susan Hardy gave a demonstration of the lesson on dog obedience to the master.

Campers completing the course were Diane Hansel, Mary Lloyd, Ann Williams, Yvonne Black, Janet Friend, Patricia Stone, Vicki Bennett, Brenda Dawson, Laura Lancaster, Jan Dressman, Patricia Hill, Christine Briner, Ruth Ann Young, Catherine Miesmer, Linda Hill, Theresa Peer, Patricia Brown, Mary Beth DeShong, Ellen C. Sell, Mary Ann McKenzie, Joanna Farrell, Diana Proud, Diana Hall, Mary Malloy, Nancy Davis, Susan DeShong, Barbara McIntyre, Cynthia Zimmer and Cynthia McCaugh.

Classes are being given this week by Mrs. W. R. Kirk, assisted by Mrs. Finan.

The next meeting of the Animal Welfare Society will be held August 27.

Summer Term Starts

Summer school has started for the first time this week at Allegany Community College, according to Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, college president.

Late registration brought the total enrollment to about 58 students, the president said. There are daytime classes in English and mathematics and evening classes in mathematics and political science.

A large segment of our bridge playing population has been brought up in the belief that a defender should constantly lead thru strength and up to weakness. For the child who has just emerged from his perambulator this is a reasonably good rule of thumb, but for those who have acquired the knack of thinking we recommend personal planning and sometimes this involves leading right into strength. Observe East's performance in today's hand.

East's jump raise of West's two diamond overcall is not absolutely forcing. It announces a good trump fit and a willingness to go on if partner has any additional values. When South persisted to four spades, West doubled primarily as a warning to East not to bid five diamonds.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 281 At the same time conscription for the Union Army and Navy started under the national draft act of Congress in March 1863, desertion and cowardice began to be punished more surely.

"The first really effective machinery to combat the evil of desertion was set up in March 1863 with the establishment of the Provost General's Department," it is summarized in Francis A. Lord's graphic record, "They Fought for the Union" (pub. by Stackpole). The new provost marshal general, Col. [James B.] Fry . . . sent helpful information on deserters to seek out, arrest and return the deserters."

The death penalty, which Lincoln had often set aside in previous cases of desertion, began to be used more often. Executions were staged before whole brigades, divisions and corps [as depicted above from a contemporary sketch].

"By 12 noon all the troops composing the 12th Corps were in line to witness the execution of the sentence," a member of Co. G, 5th Ohio Infantry, wrote home in 1863.

"At 1 p. m., the party approached. First came an Army wagon containing the coffins of the three condemned men. Next an ambulance carrying the condemned men themselves, with their hands pinioned behind them. Then followed the shooting party from the 46th Regt. P.V., numbering about 30 men. The coffins were taken out of the wagon and one placed before each grave, which had been dug previously. Then the guard went to the ambulance, tied a handkerchief around the eyes of each man, and escorted him to the coffin whereupon he was seated. . . . In a few minutes more a volley of musketry insured that the law had been appeased."

'Time Machine' Uses Section Of Old Warship Gun

By ELDON BARRETT

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Take a section of a 16-inch gun barrel from the scrapped battleship USS Colorado, mix in some household canning paraffin, a box of borax and 325 pounds of quicksilver, insert a couple of tubes and what do you have.

Well, if you're William Schell you have a "time machine." It's not a contraption like the one H. G. Wells imagined to transport man physically back into the past or forward to the future, but one to determine the age of things through a system known as the Carbon-14 process.

Schell, a graduate research assistant in chemistry at the University of Washington, has set up his apparatus in the basement of Bagley Hall on the campus.

It appears to be quite complicated, but the process is based on the simple theory that any material containing radioactive carbon—C-14—can be dated by merely counting the radioactive rays it emits. And scientists are convinced that plants, animals — even sea water—have been absorbing Carbon-14 on this earth for millions of years.

C-14 is formed in the upper atmosphere by the collision of cosmic particles with nitrogen. After a series of chemical changes as it falls to earth it winds up in plants, for instance, during photosyntheseis, which is the process that produces carbohydrates and makes green plants green.

Because they know the nature of C-14, scientists can count its rate of radioactivity by comparing the C-14 in old material with that in new and, using a precalculated scale, can determine the age of the old material.

The problem is constructing an accurate counter. And that's where the Colorado's cannon comes in:

A pure steel housing was needed to protect Schell's counter from ever-present outside radioactivity. But modern steel is made in a process involving radioactive Cobalt-16. However, the gun barrels of the Colorado were forged before the new method was used and this is just what Schell needed.

The paraffin, borax and mercury inside the barrel eliminated even more of the background radioactivity and Schell's "time machine" is one of the most sensitive and accurate instruments in use today.

Memories Of Berlin Airlift Recalled By Commander On 15th Anniversary

By LT. GEN. JOSEPH SMITH, USAF, Retired

WASHINGTON (UPI)—I was a brigadier general in command of the military post at Wiesbaden, Germany, on June 27, 1948, when Brig. Gen. Auguste Kissner invited me to lunch and told me I was to take command of the Berlin airlift in addition to my other duties.

Kissner was chief of staff to Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, USAF commander for Europe, who had inaugurated the airlift the previous day. The first flights had carried 80 tons of cargo to Berlin within 48 hours after the Russians blockaded the land routes to the city.

No one had any idea than that the airlift would continue for 462 days and involve 2,343,000 tons of cargo and more than 277,000 flights in the greatest peacetime air operation in history.

I remember Kissner telling me on that first day that he didn't think the operation would last more than two or three weeks. When he asked how much staff I would need, I thought I could get along with one operations and one maintenance officer.

My staff never did become large, but it was because I was dealing with fully staffed units, such as the 61st Troops Carrier Squadron under Col. Burt Harrison and the 60th Squadron under the late Col. Walter Lee.

Also, this was an operation carried on without paper work. Everything was handled by telephone, or in person at the airports in Frankfurt and Wiesbaden. We did receive an order to operate on a "cost accounting" basis, but I'm afraid we had to ignore that one.

During the first month we had only the C-47 "Gooney Birds"—the C-54 Skymasters later carried most of the load—but even so we were delivering about 1,200 tons of cargo a day from the third day of full operations in what became universally known as "Operation Vittles."

LeMay, who flew several missions in the airlift himself, was pushing for fast action from the start. There was a brief holdup at the traffic control center in Frankfurt, and I remember his asking me "What's holding up the show?"

The trouble was that the traffic control center at Frankfurt could not believe our orders were meant seriously. They had been scheduling flights into Berlin at least 25 minutes apart, and could not believe that we intended to run in planes at three-minute intervals.

I had to get an order from Brig. Gen. John McBlain, the communications operations director for the Air Force in Europe, placing my men in complete charge at the traffic center. We cut the time intervals to three minutes but spaced the planes a thousand feet part in altitude. It worked fine.

One of the major contributions of the airlift was in the development of large-scale ground controlled landing operations.

I remember one foggy night, with a ceiling of 200 feet, when there were 28 C-47's circling Wiesbaden and Frankfurt, which are adjacent cities. There were no alternate airfields open.

All were back from Berlin, and all were low on fuel, because we never refueled in Berlin. But we talked them all down with only one slight mishap that didn't do any particular damage.

Within a week after I took command, we had a regular schedule. A pilot made three runs to Berlin and then got a day off. Many of our fliers were casual pilots, pulled off desk jobs, but they were enthusiastic about the humanitarian aspects of the lift.

We were getting a lot of help from the British, but none originally from the French, who I guess at the start didn't think the Berlin operation was worth the effort. Some of my boys balked when they found they were flying in casks of wine and cognac for the French.

The let-down into Berlin was touchy until you got used to it, over high-rising apartment buildings, and they weren't going to risk their necks for that kind of cargo. It seems funny now, but I had to go to Berlin and take that up with Gen. Lucius Clay's headquarters.

Sometimes I'm asked whether we could do it again, but the question doesn't seem applicable to present circumstances. For one thing, Berlin now has a year's stockpile of supplies on hand, whereas then it had almost nothing. And planes are much larger, and ground handling equipment is better. What I think is that we could probably do what we had to do, when the time came to do it.

Gen. Smith, who was twice awarded the Distinguished Service Medal and Legion of Merit, was born Oct. 31, 1901, in Scranton, Pa., and was graduated from West Point in 1923. During World War II, he was senior air member of the Joint War Plans Committee in Washington, chief of staff of the Third Air Force at Tampa, Fla., chief of staff to the 20th Bomber Command in India, and, as the war closed, deputy chief of staff to the Eighth Air Force on Okinawa. After his service in Germany, he was for six and one-half years commander of the Military Air Transport Service. He retired June 30, 1958.

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 281 At the same time conscription for the Union Army and Navy started under the national draft act of Congress in March 1863, desertion and cowardice began to be punished more surely.

"The first really effective machinery to combat the evil of desertion was set up in March 1863 with the establishment of the Provost General's Department," it is summarized in Francis A. Lord's graphic record, "They Fought for the Union" (pub. by Stackpole). The new provost marshal general, Col. [James B.] Fry . . . sent helpful information on deserters to seek out, arrest and return the deserters."

The death penalty, which Lincoln had often set aside in previous cases of desertion, began to be used more often. Executions were staged before whole brigades, divisions and corps [as depicted above from a contemporary sketch].

"By 12 noon all the troops composing the 12th Corps were in line to witness the execution of the sentence," a member of Co. G, 5th Ohio Infantry, wrote home in 1863.

"At 1 p. m., the party approached. First came an Army wagon containing the coffins of the three condemned men. Next an ambulance carrying the condemned men themselves, with their hands pinioned behind them. Then followed the shooting party from the 46th Regt. P.V., numbering about 30 men. The coffins were taken out of the wagon and one placed before each grave, which had been dug previously. Then the guard went to the ambulance, tied a handkerchief around the eyes of each man, and escorted him to the coffin whereupon he was seated. . . . In a few minutes more a volley of musketry insured that the law had been appeased."

'Time Machine' Uses Section Of Old Warship Gun

By ELDON BARRETT

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Take a section of a 16-inch gun barrel from the scrapped battleship USS Colorado, mix in some household canning paraffin, a box of borax and 325 pounds of quicksilver, insert a couple of tubes and what do you have.

Well, if you're William Schell you have a "time machine." It's not a contraption like the one H. G. Wells imagined to transport man physically back into the past or forward to the future, but one to determine the age of things through a system known as the Carbon-14 process.

Schell, a graduate research assistant in chemistry at the University of Washington, has set up his apparatus in the basement of Bagley Hall on the campus.

It appears to be quite complicated, but the process is based on the simple theory that any material containing radioactive carbon—C-14—can be dated by merely counting the radioactive rays it emits. And scientists are convinced that plants, animals — even sea water—have been absorbing Carbon-14 on this earth for millions of years.

C-14 is formed in the upper atmosphere by the collision of cosmic particles with nitrogen. After a series of chemical changes as it falls to earth it winds up in plants, for instance, during photosyntheseis, which is the process that produces carbohydrates and makes green plants green.

Because they know the nature of C-14, scientists can count its rate of radioactivity by comparing the C-14 in old material with that in new and, using a precalculated scale, can determine the age of the old material.

The problem is constructing an accurate counter. And that's where the Colorado's cannon comes in.

A pure steel housing was needed to protect Schell's counter from ever-present outside radioactivity. But modern steel is made in a process involving radioactive Cobalt-16. However, the gun barrels of the Colorado were forged before the new method was used and this is just what Schell needed.

The paraffin, borax and mercury inside the barrel eliminated even more of the background radioactivity and Schell's "time machine" is one of the most sensitive and accurate instruments in use today.

Memories Of Berlin Airlift Recalled By Commander On 15th Anniversary

By LT. GEN. JOSEPH SMITH, USAF, Retired

WASHINGTON (UPI)—I was a brigadier general in command of the military post at Wiesbaden, Germany, on June 27, 1948, when Brig. Gen. Auguste Kissner invited me to lunch and told me I was to take command of the Berlin airlift in addition to my other duties.

Kissner was chief of staff to Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, USAF commander for Europe, who had inaugurated the airlift the previous day. The first flights had carried 80 tons of cargo to Berlin within 48 hours after the Russians blockaded the land routes to the city.

No one had any idea than that the airlift would continue for 462 days and involve 2,343,000 tons of cargo and more than 277,000 flights in the greatest peacetime air operation in history.

I remember Kissner telling me on that first day that he didn't think the operation would last more than two or three weeks. When he asked how much staff I would need, I thought I could get along with one operations and one maintenance officer.

My staff never did become large, but it was because I was dealing with fully staffed units, such as the 61st Troops Carrier Squadron under Col. Burt Harrison and the 60th Squadron under the late Col. Walter Lee.

Also, this was an operation carried on without paper work. Everything was handled by telephone, or in person at the airports in Frankfurt and Wiesbad Berlin. We did receive an order to operate on a "cost accounting" basis, but I'm afraid we had to ignore that one.

During the first month we had only the C-47 "Gooney Birds"—the C-54 Skymasters later carried most of the load—but even so we were delivering about 1,200 tons of cargo a day from the third day of full operations in what became universally known as "Operation Vittles."

LeMay, who flew several missions in the airlift himself, was pushing for fast action from the start. There was a brief holdup at the traffic control center in Frankfurt, and I remember his asking me "What's holding up the show?"

The trouble was that the traffic control center at Frankfurt could not believe our orders were meant seriously. They had been scheduling flights into Berlin at least 25 minutes apart, and could not believe that we intended to run in planes at three-minute intervals.

I had to get an order from Brig. Gen. John McBlain, the communications operations director for the Air Force in Europe, placing my men in complete charge at the traffic center. We cut the time intervals to three minutes but spaced the planes a thousand feet part in altitude. It worked fine.

One of the major contributions of the airlift was in the development of large-scale ground controlled landing operations.

I remember one foggy night, with a ceiling of 200 feet, when there were 28 C-47's circling Wiesbaden and Frankfurt, which are adjacent cities. There were no alternate airfields open.

All were back from Berlin, and all were low on fuel, because we never refueled in Berlin. But we talked them all down with only one slight mishap that didn't do any particular damage.

Within a week after I took command, we had a regular schedule. A pilot made three runs to Berlin and then got a day off. Many of our fliers were casual pilots, pulled off desk jobs, but they were enthusiastic about the humanitarian aspects of the lift.

We were getting a lot of help from the British, but none originally from the French, who I guess at the start didn't think the Berlin operation was worth the effort. Some of my boys balked when they found they were flying in casks of wine and cognac for the French.

The let-down into Berlin was touchy until you got used to it, over high-rising apartment buildings, and they weren't going to risk their necks for that kind of cargo. It seems funny now, but I had to go to Berlin and take that up with Gen. Lucius Clay's headquarters.

Sometimes I'm asked whether we could do it again, but the question doesn't seem applicable to present circumstances. For one thing, Berlin now has a year's stockpile of supplies on hand, whereas then it had almost nothing. And planes are much larger, and ground handling equipment is better. What I think is that we could probably do what we had to do, when the time came to do it.

Gen. Smith, who was twice awarded the Distinguished Service Medal and Legion of Merit, was born Oct. 31, 1901, in Scranton, Pa., and was graduated from West Point in 1923. During World War II, he was senior air member of the Joint War Plans Committee in Washington, chief of staff of the Third Air Force at Tampa, Fla., chief of staff to the 20th Bomber Command in India, and, as the war closed, deputy chief of staff to the Eighth Air Force on Okinawa. After his service in Germany, he was for six and one-half years commander of the Military Air Transport Service. He retired June 30, 1958.

By ARNALDO OTERO

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk has become the final judge of the extradition case against ex-Venezuelan dictator Marcos Perez-Jimenez.

It is solely up to the secretary of state — now that the U. S. courts have decided that Perez-Jimenez is extraditable — to decide whether it should be done, when and how.

The millionaire ex-dictator, now awaiting Rusk's verdict in a Miami jail, exhausted his legal resources with a last, unsuccessful appeal to the Supreme Court to review his case.

His attorneys, nevertheless, have asked Rusk to listen to their case once more before he turns Perez-Jimenez over to the Venezuelan government to face charges of embezzlement, fraud and breach of trust.

At the same time, the two top legal experts of the Venezuelan government — Rolando Salcedo de Lima and Jose Nunez Aristimuno—have arrived here to help speed up the extradition case.

The Venezuelan attorneys are meeting with state department officials, and possibly Rusk and Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, to try to close the first legal case of its kind in modern history.

But Perez-Jimenez' attorneys argue that the ex-dictator will probably be tried for "political offenses," and could lose his life in the process.

An extradition treaty between Venezuela and the United States prohibits punishment for political offenses. Once in Venezuela, the U.S. government would become indirectly responsible for Perez-Jimenez' trial under Venezuelan law.

The trial of the pudgy ex-dictator began in 1961, exactly three years after Perez-Jimenez fled to the Dominican Republic with his family following the overthrow of his corrupt regime.

State department legal experts could not recall when such a prominent former foreign official was brought this close to extradition.

Attorneys for the Venezuelan government have told U.S. courts that during Perez-Jimenez' regime — from 1952 to 1958 — it was common practice for the "president" to receive a share of most government contracts. They charge that Perez-Jiminez' share was more than $13 million.

On one particular contract for the purchase of heavy military equipment, the self-made general reportedly received a ten-percent commission on the $6,418,000 deal.

When the trial was reaching its final stages last December, the state department and Washington officials were showered with thousands of letters objecting to moves to ouster Perez-Jimenez.

The letter-writing campaign forced the State Department to print a form-letter rejecting claims that the ex-dictator was "one of the staunchest anti-Communists in the western hemisphere."

"From the standpoint of objectivity," the State Department letter said, "it should be noted (Perez-Jimenez) headed one of the most brutally repressive and corrupt dictatorships in recent Latin American history."

It also said that while the Perez-Jimenez regime took some action against some Communist leaders "it was even more severe in its harassment of Democratic opposition groups."

"Moreover, there were indications in the final years of the Perez-Jimenez dictatorship that it was coddling Communists in organized labor, the press and in education," the State Department said.

The Venezuelan government of President Romulo Betancourt has pledged before U. S. authorities that Perez-Jimenez, like the many of his former cronies already tried, will be given a fair public trial.

There is little doubt that he will be handed over to face it.

Wall Street Views

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street has its eyes trained on Washington these days.

Actions taken in the nation's capital can and are having an effect on the stock market's performance.

Noting that the market seems to be waiting, Charles McGolrick of the brokerage firm, E. F. Hutton & Co., comments that the object of its preoccupation and and the future key to prices is the tax cut.

"Congress may quibble with the final form of the tax bill but some action seems certain in this session," he says. "This we believe will be the signal for a breakout on the upside."

Robert T. Allen of Shearson, Hammill & Co. observes that perhaps the most disturbing developments in the past week or two have centered around government activities in the regulatory field.

He mentions these actions:

The Justice Department has been moving to block several corporate mergers, and a precedent-setting Supreme Court decision on a proposed bank merger will make it possible to apply anti-trust laws to commercial banks. The Civil Aeronautics Board turned down the American-Eastern Air Lines merger plan.

"At this point," says Allen, "each new merger proposal brings only skepticism from Wall Street, since there is a precedent for stoppage of just about any kind of corporate combination.

In view of these and other question marks, Allen adds, it is hard to envision stock prices making much headway over the short term.

Princess Anne Announces Race Integration

Cambridge Still A Trouble Spot

PRINCESS ANNE, Md. (AP)—Racial integration in schools, churches and eight of nine restaurants in Princess Anne on Maryland's lower Eastern Shore was announced Wednesday.

The voluntary end of discrimination in the Somerset County seat followed similar actions in the area where Cambridge racial relations continued strained and National Guardsmen on duty for the 13th day.

Negotiations between whites and Negroes in Cambridge were at a complete standstill with no word on possible resumption or intentions of integrationists for pressing their demands which have been narrowed principally to equal restaurant service.

The integration in Princess Anne, about 50 miles south of Cambridge, was announced by Alexander Jones, chairman of a bi-racial commission.

He said it was achieved in a series of meetings with the school board, clergy and restaurant owners. The restaurants agreeing to serve Negroes include the five largest in the town of about 1,300 and site of a predominantly Negro branch of the University of Maryland.

Salisbury, the Shore's largest city with more than 15,000 and 30 miles east of Cambridge, had voluntarily integrated public accommodations more than a year ago. Easton, 16 miles west of Cambridge, last week announced plans to do so starting July 8.

Negro leaders in Chestertown, on the upper shore, said Tuesday night they were satisfied with progress being made in desegregation and forestalled any demonstrations.

Cecil County, one of the Shore's nine counties is included in this month's state law requiring equal public accommodations, and several other Shore towns have named bi-racial commissions to seek integration satisfactory to Negroes.

The big stumbling block in Cambridge remained the form of a local law on public accommodations. The mayor and council offered to amend the charter. The Negroes balked because that could be petitioned to a public vote. They want a simple ordinance which could not be challenged.

Germans Give

used only five words to tell the President what the West Berliners also were trying to say with their cheers: "We will not give up."

Kennedy addressed German construction workers in Trade Union Congress Hall and urged them to bear in mind that "in meeting your responsibility to those who belong to your unions to also realize that unions will not survive except in a world of freedom."

He gave firm reassurance of America's position in West Berlin by saying: "When I leave tonight, I leave. The United States stays."

Keeps Personal Touch

Nowhere did Kennedy lose the personal touch.

On one occasion a woman clutched a child carrying a bouquet and hurried toward him. A policeman brusequely ordered her back, but the President stopped him, took the flowers, and spoke a moment or two with the woman. As he did, the chant arose: "Ken-ne-dee. Ken-ne-dee."

But the American President also had sober words of counsel for West Berliners: "Let me ask you... to lift your eyes beyond the dangers of today, to the hopes of tomorrow, beyond the freedom merely of this city of Berlin, or your country or Germany, to the advance of freedom everywhere, beyond the wall, to the day of peace with justice, beyond yourselves and ourselves to all mankind.

Freedom Is Indivisible

"Freedom is indivisible, and when one man is enslaved all are not free. When all are free, then we can look forward to that day when this city will be joined as one and this country and this great continent of Europe in a peaceful and hopeful glow.

"When that day finally ever comes, as it will, the people of West Berlin can take sober satisfaction in the fact that they were in the front line for almost two decades."

Kennedy's visit to the wall was the dramatic high point in his first official visit to Berlin. He came toward it through a city where West Berliners crowded windows, jammed streets, filled balconies, and even perched on advertising signs to get a glimpse of him.

Crowds were kept more than a quarter of a mile back from Brandenburg Gate lest incidents be provoked, and the presidential convoy pulled up at a high platform built for visiting dignitaries who want to see the wall.

Reds Block View

Big Red flags were hung between the stone columns of Brandenburg Gate Tuesday night like immense window blinds. The Communists thus prevented Kennedy from looking down famed Unter den Linden.

Bathyscaph Fails To Find Thresher

ABOARD THE USS FORT SNELLING AT SEA (UPI) —The bathyscaph Trieste prowled the floor of the Atlantic for six hours Wednesday but failed to find anything of significance in the search for the crushed hulk of the nuclear submarine Thresher.

Trieste surfaced at 2:35 p.m. EDT, exactly six hours and five minutes after she began her 8,400-feet dive Wednesday morning at a site near where Thresher was believed to have gone down April 10 with 129 men aboard. It was the 58-foot bathyscaph's second dive this week.

Trieste's next dive will be Friday, the Navy said.

Separated Siamese Twin Dies

PITTSBURGH (AP)—One of the Siamese twin girls separated last Wednesday died Wednesday in Children's Hospital.

Cause of death of Ruth Ann Temoshenko was not known immediately. An autopsy was ordered.

The other twin, Rose Mary, continued in satisfactory condition, the hospital said.

The girls were born June 7 to Mrs. John Temoshenko, 32.

Immediately after the separation, doctors said the infants were in satisfactory condition. However, it was said the girls would not be out of danger for several days.

The girls were joined at the stomach. They shared one organ, the liver, which surgeons divided.

Both girls contacted a staphylococcus infection during the weekend. The hospital said they responded well to treatment, but were weakened by the infection, especially Ruth Ann.

Plans Refinancing

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eastern Air Lines plans to refinance a $205 million order for 40 Boeing 727 jets. At the same time President Malcolm A. MacIntyre said he was confident the carrier would make a "steady improvement" despite rejection of the bid to merge with American Airlines. He said the proposed consolidation was "dead and gone."

Aid To Algerians

ALGIERS (UPI) — The United States will supply technicians and equipment to help put some 60,000 Algerians to work on agricultural projects in the coming year under a rural renovation accord signed here.

Pope To Recall Holy Council

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican sources said that Pope Paul VI is considering reconvening the Roman Catholic Vatican Ecumenical Council Sept. 29.

Pope John XXIII—who called the council to promote the goal of Christian unity—recessed it last Dec. 8. Resumption originally was set for Sept. 8 but the council and all related preparatory work was automatically suspended when John died June 3.

The new Pope pledged last Saturday to continue it and make it the main business of his reign.

His reported decision to reconvene it Sept. 29—just three weeks later than originally scheduled—would indicate his desire to push the council a rapid conclusion.

Dr. Taussig Given Big Research Grant

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. Helen B. Taussig, professor of pediatrics at Johns Hopkins University, was presented Wednesday night the first post-retirement fellowship award of the National Foundation-March of Dimes.

To be known as the Thomas M. Rivers Memorial Distuinguished Research Fellowship, the grant of $40,100 to the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine will underwrite Dr. Taussig's research for the next five years.

Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation-March of Dimes, said the fellowship is designed to support continued work by outstanding scientists beyond the retirement age imposed by institutions.

"Retirement of an active, seasoned scientist is a double loss," O'Connor said. "For the scientist himself, it means a separation from the work that is his life; that is also a loss to the nation of his unique services."

O'Connor said it was fitting the first award went to Dr. Taussig, "whose pioneer work on congenital heart defects led to the first effective operation for saving 'blue babies' and who may now continue her vital work on drug-induced birth defects."

In 1944, she devised with Dr. Alfred Blalock, chief surgeon at Johns Hopkins Hospital, the blue baby operation.

Infants with heart defects formerly died from a lack of oxygen, a condition which turned their skin blue. The operation now restores the oxygen supply in the blood to normal.

Dr. Taussig and her co-workers are currently studying how thalidomide causes birth defects. She was the first American to make on-the-spot investigation of the outbreak in Germany of birth defects due to thalidomide.

The fellowship was established in the memory of the late Dr. Thomas M. Rivers, a graduate of the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine.

Chevy Again Tops U.S. Auto Sales

Potomac Edison Reports Power Usage Increase

A reflection of continuing business improvement in this area was reported by Potomac Edison President R. G. MacDonald at the company's annual board of directors meeting, held in Frederick on Tuesday.

According to the utility company president, kilowatt hour sales for the first five months of 1963 have increased eight per cent over the same period of last years with all categories of sales contributing to the gain.

The largest gain, he stated, came in the sale of power to commercial customers who this year used 12 per cent more electricity than during the first five months of 1962. Other sales figures show an 11 per cent improvement in sales to PE's residential customers and a three per cent increase in power by industries. However, he said, the gains in the latter part of the period have not been as great as those recorded during the early months of 1963.

"Industrial customers in the fields of wood products, chemicals, gas and oil pumping and fabricated products have shown an especially sharp increase in power usage," President MacDonald reported.

The utility company's construction expenditures for the first five months are lagging slightly behind the budgeted figures, MacDonald stated, but added, "We have every expectation that our planned program for the year will be completed on schedule."

President MacDonald also reviewed with board members the recent announcement of plans for the company's participation with their "sister" station at Fort Martin, near Morgantown, W. Va. Estimated to cost over $57,000,000, the first unit of the new installation will have a generating capacity of some 500,000 kilowatts. It will be an "important part" of the power generation and extra high voltage transmission line network being developed in conjunction with a number of other eastern utilities, MacDonald stated.

"The financing, building and operation of facilities of this magnitude will be both a challenge and an opportunity to our company," he said, "and we are confident that our organization is equal to the challenge." In concluding the review, MacDonald said, "We are sure that the successful completion of these projects will bring benefits to all the people our company serves."

In discussing rate matters with the board, the utility president said there have been "further indications of increasing activity in the governmental regulation to which our industry has always been subject." Examples of this, he said, may be found in the announced reviews of company rates by government commissions. One will investigate a wholesale service rate which applies to six customers while the other applies to electric service rates charged by the company in the portion of Maryland which it serves.

"We have been very proud," President MacDonald told the board, "of our company's history of continual rate decreases, a record which is unusual among the utility companies of the nation." Rate reductions, he said, have been made possible through improved operating efficiencies and "we will continue to make every effort to find new ways of operating even more efficiently through interconnections and via all the latest developments in utility technology.

"We believe that some of the benefits from such improvements in efficiency should flow to our employes, some to the people whose investments in our company enables us to grow, and some to our customers in the form of sound and reasonable rate reductions." He concluded, "This has been our company's practice in the past and we hope it can continue in the future."

At yesterday's meeting, the PE board elected the following officers: president, MacDonald; vice presidents, A. J. Bowen, C. D. Lyon, M. J. Urner and E. Wallace Wilkinson; secretary-treasurer, J. M. McCardell; comptroller, Allan M. Creed; assistant comptroller, Galen C. Smith; assistant secretaries, H. A. Ferris, W. Eugene Sanders and E. H. Koons Jr.; treasurers, A. Robert Moss and F. C. Shell.

All current members of the PE board from this area were re-elected as directors. They are: Donovan R. Beachley, A. J. Bowen, G. Hunter Bowers, Raymond E. Creager, David K. Cushwa Jr., Merwyn C. Fuss, J. H. Gambrill, 3rd, Harry George Jr., L. Vinton Hershey, Owen E. Hitchins, Frank S. Leiter, Charles D. Lyon, R. G. MacDonald, Hubert H. Schindel, R. Paul Smith, D. E. Stultz, G. Frank Thomas and Asa H. Watkins.

B&O Worker Hit In Head By Board

Phillip Messick, Green Spring, an employe of the woodworking mill of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was injured Tuesday afternoon at work when a board fell against his head.

He received extensive lacerations about the scalp and was admitted to Memorial Hospital.

Conservation Scout Roundtable Theme

A talk on conservation featured a round table discussion of 14 Boy Scout leaders of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, held recently at Camp Potomac.

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist for Allegany County Soil Conservation Service discussed general soil and water conservation. Soil conservation district plans are in use on the Scout camp property at Oldtown and these plans were reviewed to see if additional programs could be applied for the Boy Scouts to take care of.

Conservation is one of themes of Boy Scout work and the leaders received reports on conservation of natural resources to take back to the individual troops.

Grant Awarded Blackwater Falls Park

More than $9,000,000 in loans and grants have been approved for improvements at Blackwater Falls State Park at Davis, according to Gov. W. W. Barron of West Virginia.

The money is part of $23.47 million in loans and grants approved by the Area Redevelopment Administration for new tourist facilities at four recreation areas in West Virginia.

The Tucker County spot will receive a $6,625,000 public facilities loan, and $2,845,000 grant, Gov. Barron said.

The Tucker County recreation area will use some of the money for a new 120-room lodge and 65 cabins. A smaller lodge already is in operation at Blackwater. Also planned is a golf course, ski slide, warming hut, miniature train, air strip, skating rink and swimming pool.

Barron said the announcement was made by Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., who the governor said had been informed of the ARA action by the White House.

The largest single public facilities loan in the group was one for $7,225,000 to help finance development at Bluestone State Park near Hinton. The ARA also approved a $2,591,000 grant for the park.

The other approvals included:

Twin Falls Recreation Area, Wyoming County—$2,362,000 grant and $517,000 public facilities loan.

Hawks Nest State Park, Fayette County—$1,670,000 public facilities loan.

The governor's office said the money is assured West Virginia under existing ARA program and does not hinge on whether Congress approves the $450 million ARA extension turned down two weeks ago by the House.

Potomac Edison Reports Power Usage Increase

A reflection of continuing business improvement in this area was reported by Potomac Edison President R. G. MacDonald at the company's annual board of directors meeting, held in Frederick on Tuesday.

According to the utility company president, kilowatt hour sales for the first five months of 1963 have increased eight per cent over the same period of last years with all categories of sales contributing to the gain.

The largest gain, he stated, one in the sale of power to commercial customers who this year used 12 per cent more electricity than during the first five months of 1962. Other sales figures show an 11 per cent improvement in sales to PE's residential customers and a three per cent increase in power by industries. However, he said, the gains in the latter part of the period have not been as great as those recorded during the early months of 1963.

"Industrial customers in the fields of wood products, chemicals, gas and oil pumping and fabricated products have shown an especially sharp increase in power usage," President MacDonald reported.

The utility company's construction expenditures for the first five months are lagging slightly behind the budgeted figures, MacDonald stated, but added, "We have every expectation that our planned program for the year will be completed on schedule."

President MacDonald also reviewed with board members the recent announcement of plans for the company's participation with their "sister" station at Fort Martin, near Morgantown, W. Va. Estimated to cost over $57,000,000, the first unit of the new installation will have a generating capacity of some 500,000 kilowatts. It will be an "important part" of the power generation and extra high voltage transmission line network being developed in conjunction with a number of other eastern utilities, MacDonald stated.

"The financing, building and operation of facilities of this magnitude will be both a challenge and an opportunity to our company," he said, "and we are confident that our organization is equal to the challenge." In concluding the review, MacDonald said, "We are sure that the successful completion of these projects will bring benefits to all the people our company serves."

In discussing rate matters with the board, the utility president said there have been "further indications of increasing activity in the governmental regulation to which our industry has always been subject." Examples of this, he said, may be found in the announced reviews of company rates by government commissions. One will investigate a wholesale service rate which applies to six customers while the other applies to electric service rates charged by the company in the portion of Maryland which it serves.

"We have been very proud," President MacDonald told the board, "of our company's history of continual rate decreases, a record which is unusual among the utility companies of the nation." Rate reductions, he said, have been made possible through improved operating efficiencies and "we will continue to make every effort to find new ways of operating even more efficiently through interconnections and via all the latest developments in utility technology.

"We believe that some of the benefits from such improvements in efficiency should flow to our employes, some to the people whose investments in our company enables us to grow, and some to our customers in the form of sound and reasonable rate reductions." He concluded, "This has been our company's practice in the past and we hope it can continue in the future."

At yesterday's meeting, the PE board elected the following officers: president, MacDonald; vice presidents, A. J. Bowen, C. D. Lyon, M. J. Urner and E. Wallace Wilkinson; secretary-treasurer, J. M. McCardell; comptroller, Allan M. Creed; assistant comptroller, Galen C. Smith; assistant secretaries, H. A. Ferris, W. Eugene Sanders and E. H. Koons Jr.; treasurers, A. Robert Moss and F. C. Shell.

All current members of the PE board from this area were re-elected as directors. They are: Donovan R. Beachley, A. J. Bowen, G. Hunter Bowers, Raymond E. Creager, David K. Cushwa Jr., Merwyn C. Fuss, J. H. Gambrill, 3rd, Harry George Jr., L. Vinton Hershey, Owen E. Hitchins, Frank S. Leiter, Charles D. Lyon, R. G. MacDonald, Hubert H. Schindel, R. Paul Smith, D. E. Stultz, G. Frank Thomas and Asa H. Watkins.

Parks Association Asks Reopening Of Hearings

The 26,000-member National Parks Association asked for new hearings Tuesday on the Potomac River Basin's water supply and pollution abatement problems.

Association President Anthony Wayne Smith said in Washington that the hearings held a year ago by the Corps of Engineers were not in accord with administrative due process of law, employed precedures that withheld essential facts from the public and were "a farce."

The request for "full and open public hearings" was made to Maj. Gen. Robert G. MacDonnell, chairman of the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors.

Sent with the request were copies of the association's analysis, concurred in by eight conservationist organizations, contends that the basin's needs can be met through an intensive water purification program.

The Corps of Engineers answer was the proposed construction of 16 major reservoirs in the period ending in the year 2010. This is the "big-dam" approach that the Association termed "archaic, outmoded, destructive and unnecessary."

The association's analysis estimated the capital cost to Washington of a purification system at $193.5 million, or $97.7 million less than the metropolis would invest in the big-dam system. Annual operating costs were put at zero to $4.9 million for a purification system, $3.2 million for the big-dam system.

The big-dam system, the association concluded, "would be contrary to the public interest . . . the Board should recommend to the Chief of Engineers that the Report be rejected."

The Association proposed:

A vigorous attack on water pollution throughout the entire basin, with expanded federal assistance to states, localities and private industry.

Prompt construction at Blue Plains of a 30-million-gallon-a-day distillation plant for purification of plant effluents, followed by construction of units of similar capacity as need arises.

Rapid completion of plans for separation of storm and sanitary sewers.

Requirements that all basin communities halt immediately any discharge of raw sewage into streams.

Development of facilities for the concentration of sewage plant effluents and the removal of nutrients.

Vigorous research on methods of treating municipal wastes without phosphates, which lead to eventual loss of precious dissolved oxygen.

"Except for the small headwater impoundments of the watershed type," the Association said, "the Potomac should remain a free-flowing river, living proof that a spacious and beautiful natural environment is compatible with the high material living standards of an advanced industrial civilization."

Boulevard Extension Job Progressing

The extension of the Industrial Boulevard from a point near the Wineow Street underpass to West Third Street where it it connects with the completed stretch is progressing speedily.

The Cumberland Contracting Company began the grading, clearing, drainage and other preliminary work early this spring and so far has completed a majority of the work. Total cost of the work is $448,488.

A large hillside area has been cut down to grade for one of the dual lanes and part of the surfacing on what was Thomas Street has been completed.

Cresap Street which runs eastward to the Virginia Avenue and Oldtown Road intersection is being graded for eventual tie-in with the Boulevard.

The excavated material from the hillslide was hauled to what was the site of the old Community Ball Park where is will be used for the northern approach of a new overhead bridge across the B&O Railroad tracks.

Bids on the new bridge, which will be on a slight horizontal curve from the ballpark section to the Boulevard near the Cumberland Macaroni Company plant will be asked early next month. This project is expected to start this summer.

Meanwhile bids on another bridge project in Allegany County and a highway job in Garrett County were opened yesterday in Baltimore by the State Roads Commission.

Miller and Greenland, of Huntingdon, Pa., was the apparent low bidder, at $126,795, for the construction of a bridge over Town Creek on Town Creek Road in Allegany County.

The George Construction Company, Cumberland, bid $128,688 for the project, and the Cumberland Contracting Company, Cumberland, $131,452.

The contract includes the construction of a three-span prestressed concrete I beam bridge and about 825 feet of approaches.

S. J. Groves, Camp Hill, Pa., was the apparent low bidder, at $1,635,161, for a US 219 highway project in Garrett County.

The only other bidder was the E. D. Plummer Company, of Hagerstown, which submitted a bid of $1,721,175.

The contract calls for grading, draining and surfacing with flexible pavement about 2.86 miles of U. S. 219 from Accident to Northern High School.

Parks Association Asks Reopening Of Hearings

The 26,000-member National Parks Association asked for new hearings Tuesday on the Potomac River Basin's water supply and pollution abatement problems.

Association President Anthony Wayne Smith said in Washington that the hearings held a year ago by the Corps of Engineers were not in accord with administrative due process of law, employed precedures that withheld essential facts from the public and were "a farce."

The request for "full and open public hearings" was made to Maj. Gen. Robert G. MacDonnell, chairman of the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors.

Sent with the request were copies of the association's analysis, concurred in by eight conservationist organizations, contends that the basin's needs can be met through an intensive water purification program.

The Corps of Engineers answer was the proposed construction of 16 major reservoirs in the period ending in the year 2010. This is the "big-dam" approach that the Association termed "archaic, outmoded, destructive and unnecessary."

The association's analysis estimated the capital cost to Washington of a purification system at $193.5 million, or $97.7 million less than the metropolis would invest in the big-dam system. Annual operating costs were put at zero to $4.9 million for a purification system, $3.2 million for the big-dam system.

The big-dam system, the association concluded, "would be contrary to the public interest . . . the Board should recommend to the Chief of Engineers that the Report be rejected."

The Association proposed:

A vigorous attack on water pollution throughout the entire basin, with expanded federal assistance to states, localities and private industry.

Prompt construction at Blue Plains of a 30-million-gallon-a-day distillation plant for purification of plant effluents, followed by construction of units of similar capacity as need arises.

Rapid completion of plans for separation of storm and sanitary sewers.

Requirements that all basin communities halt immediately any discharge of raw sewage into streams.

Development of facilities for the concentration of sewage plant effluents and the removal of nutrients.

Vigorous research on methods of treating municipal wastes without phosphates, which lead to eventual loss of precious dissolved oxygen.

"Except for the small headwater impoundments of the watershed type," the Association said, "the Potomac should remain a free-flowing river, living proof that a spacious and beautiful natural environment is compatible with the high material living standards of an advanced industrial civilization."

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Dear Friends:

What Americans Are Worried About — Concern is written on the face of Americans today. They are concerned about —The weather, which still cannot be controlled;

—The destruction of woodlands and beautiful countryside for setting up crowded areas of look-alike homes and highways;

—Bumper-to-bumper traffic congestion;

—Impolite drivers and the high accident rates;

—Taxes so high they are confiscatory;

—Inevitability of further increases in State and local tax burdens to meet school, sewer, water and other public-facility needs in the spreading suburbia.

—Waste and loose spending by the government;

—Unnecessary government projects and so-called "aid";

—Seeming unconcern in high places for the taxpayers' dollars;

—Creeping inflation, the constant cheapening of the dollar;

—School dropouts and the consequent idleness of the unskilled;

—The use of "welfare" and "relief" as a way of life by many thousands who habitually refuse to work;

—The continuing increase in crime and vandalism;

—The growing danger of being knifed or yoked on city streets;

—The growth of subversion within our country;

—The coddling of unpatriotic "pinks" by public officials;

—Street violence promoted by Communists;

—Heightened race consciousness and tension in cities;

—Appeasement to troublemakers at home and abroad;

—Unnecessary concessions in the cold war;

—Cuba and the growth of Communism in Latin America;

—The monstrous give-aways of American dollars to Communist countries;

—The weak foreign policy;

—The trend toward Washington control of everybody and everything;

—The sneering in high places at ethical practices and the downgrading of the fundamental American principles of individual freedom and individual rights and responsibilities which made this country great and which are an integral part of America.

Why Jobs Are Scarce For Young People — Three specific reasons are given for the fact that jobs for young people are harder and harder to find: (1) High rates of hourly wages force employers to limit drastically the use of workers; (2) Minimum wage rates discourage use of untrained workers; (3) Seniority rules favor older workers, penalize young ones. It is estimated that the unemployed in the United States now number 4,100,000, including about 1,150,000 teen-agers.

Bible Reading In Public Schools —This past week I introduced a Senate Joint Resolution proposing a Constitutional Amendment to permit the reading of the Bible and the offering of prayer in public schools. The action followed the June 17 decision of the United States Supreme Court which ruled, 8 to 1, that use of the Lord's Prayer or Bible reading public schools for devotional purposes violated the First Amendment to the Constitution, which prohibits governmental "establishment of religion". The one dissenting opinion, that of Justice Potter Stewart, said that the majority decision trampled on the Constitutional guarantee that there shall be no governmental prohibition on the free exercise of religion. I do not criticize the Court's ruling. The able and honorable members interpreted the provisions of the Constitution as is stands today. Fortunately, however, the Constitution makes provision for its own amendment — by two-thirds of both Houses of Congress and the legislatures of three-fourths of the States. Thus, through their elected representatives in the Congress and in their respective State legislatures, the people have a voice in amending the Constitution. My measure would give the people the opportunity to make their wishes known on this subject. You will recall that our recent questionnaire showed that 71% of the Maryland people favored Bible reading in the public schools "even if that should require new legislation." If the people of the other States feel that same way, then the Constitution should be amended. After all, the people themselves are "the court of last resort".

There is a wealth of evidence in our traditions, customs, laws and practices which prove us to be a religious people whose institutions presuppose a Supreme Being. None of our citizens, young or old, should be coerced into participating in any particular religious exercises. By the same token, none of our citizens, young or old, should be prohibited from the free exercise of religion.

These are some of the things I said in the Senate when I introduced the joint resolution proposing the Constitution Amendment.

Russia's Spectacular Space Feat — For the second time, Soviet Russia put two persons in space at the same time, but this time one of the astronauts was a young lady. The man astronaut made 81 orbits, a record, and the lady astronaut made 48 orbits. The Russians are to be congratulated. The fact that one of the astronauts was a female adds to the publicity value of the stunt. The scientific value of the feat is yet to be demonstrated. No doubt some of our American space explorers will be female—when some of the risk is eliminated. We have a very high regard for human life. Not one of our astronauts has been lost; I doubt whether the Russians can say the same. As for any possible effect this new Russian stunt may have on our own space program, I believe the American people will show their strength of character by refraining from any wild, hurry-up project to mimic the Russians. I am sure the Space Agency will not be stampeded into taking any unnecessary step. Our space effort is based on a sound program of scientific exploration — and that program will continue on schedule.

Communism Riding High In South America — Henchmen of Castro are carrying on a reign of terror in Venezuela. They have successfully destroyed large oil and utility installations. They have burned a Sears Roebuck warehouse and a Goodyear warehouse. They have attacked the headquarters of the United States Military Mission in Caracas, holding up eight people including a U.S. Army colonel, stripping them down to their shorts, hacking up a portrait of George Washington, burning the U. S. A. flag, and setting fire to the building. (Last September the President of the United States said, "The Castro regime will not be allowed to export its aggressive purpose.")

Reapportionment: Supreme Court To Decide — The Supreme Court has agreed to pass next autumn on eight cases involving the makeup of State legislatures or the boundaries of Congressional districts. At issue is the fairness of the reapportionment of State legislative districts and/or Congressional districts in Alabama, Georgia, Maryland, New York and Virginia.

Advice On Raising Children — Books on how to cope with children, it is said, should be at least 8 by 10 inches and bound in heavy, tough covers, for effective use just in case the advice within proves inadequate.

FSTC Students Plan Field Trip

Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist for Soil Conservation Service, will conduct a field trip Friday for members of Don A. Emerson's conservation class at Frostburg State Teachers College.

The trip will include a tour of the Marshall Porter farm in Eckhart where the class will view conservation land practices including contour stripping cropping, terrain terraces, farm pond, pasture improvement and soil and water conservation.

A question and answer period will conclude the trip.

Large Radio Audience

BELGRADE (AP)—There were two million radio sets in Yugoslavia at the start of 1963—one for every 10 people. In 1939 only one Yugoslav in every 100 had a radio. Television is growing, too. At the start of 1963 there were 125,000 TV sets in use—double the number at the start of the previous year.

New 85-Foot Radio Scope To Be Built At Green Bank

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A Charleston television station said Tuesday a new, 85-foot radio-telescope will be built at the National Radio-Astronomy Center at Green Bank, Pocahontas County.

WSAZ-TV said it was told the scope would cost about $500,000, would be completed early next year, and would be similar to a present 85-foot scope but would be on the wheels.

The station said the contract for the work went to the Blaw-Knox Co. The largest scope at the facility is a 300-foot "dish." The new scope will be designed to study other galaxies and to analyze interference coming from space.

119-Year-Old Hiker

SAVNIK, Yugoslavia (AP) — Stana Mijovic, 119 years old, still walks to visit her daughters in a Montenegro village 100 kilometers away.

She does it by easy stages. She stops here and there for a few days to visit various grandchildren who live along the way.

Garrett Playhouse Activities Begin

Preparations for another season of the Garrett County Playhouse at Deep Creek Lake are well under way now that Gene Yell, the producer-director, has arrived at his Red House summer home from the University of New Mexico.

Yell is professor of drama at the Albuquerque institution and for several years has been producing summer theatre shows at the lake.

Until Friday, July 13, 1962, the players were located in Sweene's Barn at McHenry where they had a theatre-in-the-round, the stage being the central point with seats all around it.

But on the early morning of that Friday the 13th, a fire destroyed the building. However, the show went on and the players appeared in Dennett Road School in Oakland that night.

Later, the playhouse obtained the Blue Barn on Beckman's Peninsula of the lake and made it into another theatre-in-the-round.

Yell reported that Neil Flanagan and Helen Paige Camp, New York regulars with the summer troupe, will be back again to please the summer audiences.

Three drama students from the University of New Mexico will also participate and reside with the regular players at Mr. and Mrs. Yell's summer home near Red House.

Stage manager this year will be Cathy Gonder, Oakland, daughter of former Garrett County Sen. and Mrs. Bernard I. Gonder.

She replaces Darrell Salk, son of Dr. and Mrs. Jonas Salk. The Salks, members of the Pittsburgh colony at the lake for a number of years, have moved to California where the noted doctor's new laboratory is located.

Yell observed that in a recent issue of Life Magazine showing scenes of Dr. Salk's former summer home at the lake, a group of the Garrett County Players were pictured prominently in one with the polio vaccine researcher.

Preston County, West Virginia, will have the premiere showing of the Garrett County Playhouse this season as the players will present "Four Poster" at Kingwood Monday night, July 8, for the benefit of the volunteer fire company there.

The remaining plays for the ensuing seven weeks are as follows: Week of July 15 — "To Dorothy, A Son," an English farce; July 22 — "I Am A Camera"; July 29—"Period of Adjustment"; August 5 — "The Torch Bearers," August 12 — "Dear Ruth"; August 19 — "Critic's Choice," and July 26 — "Under The Yum Yum Tree."

The producer noted that "Period of Adjustment" will be the first Tennessee Williams play produced by his troupe.

He added that local talent will be used during the summer, just as in previous years.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Dear Friends:

What Americans Are Worried About — Concern is written on the face of Americans today. They are concerned about —The weather, which still cannot be controlled;

—The destruction of woodlands and beautiful countryside for setting up crowded areas of look-alike homes and highways;

—Bumper-to-bumper traffic congestion;

—Impolite drivers and the high accident rates;

—Taxes so high they are confiscatory;

—Inevitability of further increases in State and local tax burdens to meet school, sewer, water and other public-facility needs in the spreading suburbia.

—Waste and loose spending by the government;

—Unnecessary government projects and so-called "aid";

—Seeming unconcern in high places for the taxpayers' dollars;

—Creeping inflation, the constant cheapening of the dollar;

—School dropouts and the consequent idleness of the unskilled;

—The use of "welfare" and "relief" as a way of life by many thousands who habitually refuse to work;

—The continuing increase in crime and vandalism;

—The growing danger of being knifed or yoked on city streets;

—The growth of subversion within our country;

—The coddling of unpatriotic "pinks" by public officials;

—Street violence promoted by Communists;

—Heightened race consciousness and tension in cities;

—Appeasement to troublemakers at home and abroad;

—Unnecessary concessions in the cold war;

—Cuba and the growth of Communism in Latin America;

—The monstrous give-aways of American dollars to Communist countries;

—The weak foreign policy;

—The trend toward Washington control of everybody and everything;

—The sneering in high places at ethical practices and the downgrading of the fundamental American principles of individual freedom and individual rights and responsibilities which made this country great and which are an integral part of America.

Why Jobs Are Scarce For Young People — Three specific reasons are given for the fact that jobs for young people are harder and harder to find: (1) High rates of hourly wages force employers to limit drastically the use of workers; (2) Minimum wage rates discourage use of untrained workers; (3) Seniority rules favor older workers, penalize young ones. It is estimated that the unemployed in the United States now number 4,100,000, including about 1,150,000 teen-agers.

Bible Reading In Public Schools —This past week I introduced a Senate Joint Resolution proposing a Constitutional Amendment to permit the reading of the Bible and the offering of prayer in public schools. The action followed the June 17 decision of the United States Supreme Court which ruled, 8 to 1, that use of the Lord's Prayer or Bible reading public schools for devotional purposes violated the First Amendment to the Constitution, which prohibits governmental "establishment of religion". The one dissenting opinion, that of Justice Potter Stewart, said that the majority decision trampled on the Constitutional guarantee that there shall be no governmental prohibition on the free exercise of religion. I do not criticize the Court's ruling. The able and honorable members interpreted the provisions of the Constitution as is stands today. Fortunately, however, the Constitution makes provision for its own amendment — by two-thirds of both Houses of Congress and the legislatures of three-fourths of the States. Thus, through their elected representatives in the Congress and in their respective State legislatures, the people have a voice in amending the Constitution. My measure would give the people the opportunity to make their wishes known on this subject. You will recall that our recent questionnaire showed that 71% of the Maryland people favored Bible reading in the public schools "even if that should require new legislation." If the people of the other States feel that same way, then the Constitution should be amended. After all, the people themselves are "the court of last resort".

There is a wealth of evidence in our traditions, customs, laws and practices which prove us to be a religious people whose institutions presuppose a Supreme Being. None of our citizens, young or old, should be coerced into participating in any particular religious exercises. By the same token, none of our citizens, young or old, should be prohibited from the free exercise of religion.

These are some of the things I said in the Senate when I introduced the joint resolution proposing the Constitution Amendment.

Russia's Spectacular Space Feat — For the second time, Soviet Russia put two persons in space at the same time, but this time one of the astronauts was a young lady. The man astronaut made 81 orbits, a record, and the lady astronaut made 48 orbits. The Russians are to be congratulated. The fact that one of the astronauts was a female adds to the publicity value of the stunt. The scientific value of the feat is yet to be demonstrated. No doubt some of our American space explorers will be female—when some of the risk is eliminated. We have a very high regard for human life. Not one of our astronauts has been lost; I doubt whether the Russians can say the same. As for any possible effect this new Russian stunt may have on our own space program, I believe the American people will show their strength of character by refraining from any wild, hurry-up project to mimic the Russians. I am sure the Space Agency will not be stampeded into taking any unnecessary step. Our space effort is based on a sound program of scientific exploration — and that program will continue on schedule.

Grass On Levees, Airport Mowed For Second Time

City crews have completed the second mowing of grass on the levees of the flood control project and on the city airport.

The work is done by the city's Flood Maintenance crew headed by Roy F. Maphis, foreman.

He estimated there are about 48 acres of grass on levees and right of way of the flood protection project, and that the grass is mowed as much as six times in wet and four in dry years.

Another 100 acres of grass must be cut at the Cumberland Municipal Airport. It usually is cut three times a year.

Ditches at the airport must be mowed more often, generally once a month.

Some of the grass raked up by the city crews is shredded and mixed with dried sludge from the city sewage treatment plant for use as soil conditioner when bare spots are found.

That fact may be worth $500 to you.

The makers of Old Lewis Hunter Bourbon want a picture of Lewis. We're proud of the whiskey he created. A fine Kentucky straight, it is distilled today in the old way, on the old site, using the same limestone waters. We think there isn't a bourbon like it in the country.

The man who created it deserves to have his picture on its label. Until we find one, our bottle will show a picture frame. But no picture.

Can you help? Do you have a picture of Lewis Hunter? In a trunk perhaps, or the attic? If you are willing to help us search, here are some facts to go on:

Lewis Hunter was brought to Cynthiana in the 1830's by his widowed mother. In 1835 Mrs. Hunter married David Blackburn . . . and here's where Mrs. Gaunce comes in.

Mrs. Gaunce lives on the land that once was Blackburn's farm. Out back, in the pasture, there is an old family plot. And in that plot, near the stone of David Blackburn, a touching little marker reads: "...son of Lewis and Mariah Hunter, born 1855, died 1856."

This is all we could find of Lewis Hunter; this, and some county records. But no picture.

The records tell us he married Mariah in 1854; we think they lived here for a time as tenants. In 1861, on land of his own nearby, Hunter opened a distillery, producing a superior whiskey.

In 1868 he sold out. And in 1880 he and Mariah, with their four living children, disappeared.

Where to? We don't know. But Maryland at the time was a prime distilling center. Did they settle here to try again? And did Hunter sit for his photo one day? If anyone knows...if you have a picture you think will end our search...may we have it?

If it can be authenticated, we will pay you $500 for the right to put it on our bottle. Your liquor dealer has more information on Mr. Hunter. If you find a picture, send it to The Old Lewis Hunter Distillery, Cynthiana, Kentucky. You must include enough facts to help establish its authenticity. Sorry, we can't be responsible for photos; if yours is valuable, please send a copy. We will need the original only when and if your Lewis Hunter proves to be ours.

4-H Demonstration Talk Winners Are Announced

Seven boys from 4-H Clubs in Allegany County last night received ribbons for demonstrative talks in electricity and agriculture during a meeting at the Extension Service office at the Court House.

Charles Babich, assistant county farm agent in charge of 4-H work, said a blue and champion ribbon went to James J. Robison and Sandor Crouch of the Roundabout Club at Mt. Savage.

Robison gave an illustrated talk on making high quality hay and used charts and hay samples. Crouch who talked on gun safety brought along two guns and hunting paraphernalia to elaborate on his talk.

They will represent Allegany County in the district competition July 2 at Flintstone High School. The all-day program will begin at 9 a. m. and participants will include club members from Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

Red ribbons went to Steve Huff, Union Grove, who talked on an electric timing device; Greg Crouch, Roundabout Club, electrical principles; and Phillip Miltenberger, Union Grove, clipping an Angora rabbit.

White ribbons were presented to Larry Dreyer, who gave a talk on repairing a lamp and John Heavner, who demonstrated how to clean an electric motor. Both youths are from the Union Grove Club.

Judges for the contest were Donald C. Kline and Bruce Borror.

Grass On Levees, Airport Mowed For Second Time

City crews have completed the second mowing of grass on the levees of the flood control project and on the city airport.

The work is done by the city's Flood Maintenance crew headed by Roy F. Maphis, foreman.

He estimated there are about 48 acres of grass on levees and right of way of the flood protection project, and that the grass is mowed as much as six times in wet and four in dry years.

Another 100 acres of grass must be cut at the Cumberland Municipal Airport. It usually is cut three times a year.

Ditches at the airport must be mowed more often, generally once a month.

Some of the grass raked up by the city crews is shredded and mixed with dried sludge from the city sewage treatment plant for use as soil conditioner when bare spots are found.

First Corpsmen Arrive Home

Fifty-seven Peace Corps volunteers stationed in Colombia have just been mustered out of service after two years of duty in that underdeveloped nation. These are the first Peace Corps members to complete their tours; the pace of separations will quicken in succeeding months.

These are not people returning from summer vacation or languid study abroad. Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver describes them as "veterans of two full years of trying situations and difficult circumstances . . . who will know the interiors, the folkways, the languages of the world's civilizations . . . . people whose strength of character and sense of purpose have been tempered under fire." Shriver's belief is that the total American society is bound to be influenced in a healthy way by the steady supply of homecoming Peace Corps volunteers.

Peace Corps officials have asked Congress for funds to set up a placement service for the returning volunteers, but not out of fear that any of them will end up on relief. Private employers have shown a lively interest by requesting the names of corpsmen completing their service. Government, too, is preparing a future for the volunteers, offering careers in foreign service or within the non-volunteer staff of the Peace Corps itself.

In fact, a surfeit of opportunities seems to present itself. Ford Foundation, for example, has granted $400,000 to award 50 graduate fellowships to discharged Peace Corps members, and universities, clubs, and other organizations are setting up scholarships and tuition aids. The District of Columbia school system, among others, is offering salary placement credit for corpsmen interested in entering teaching, and New York State has waived normal certification requirements. The Interior Department hopes some of the volunteers will take well-paying teaching positions in the U.S. Pacific Trust Territories, and the Boy Scouts are on the lookout for district Scout leaders.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Teaching The Truth

When John Foster Dulles was Secretary of State, it was Washington that seemed bent on making it certain that co-existence with Soviet Russia would not be sought on terms that might ultimately prove to be disadvantageous to the West. But while Dulles pursued a policy of calculated intransigence the governors in the various states of the union were rather neutral on the subject of the Cold War.

Recently, however, a curious reversal has taken place. Today the state governors are taking the lead in promoting a stand-up attitude toward Communism. The Kennedy Administration, by contrast, "plays it soft," hoping, in the President's words, to "encourage constructive changes in the Communist bloc."

Whether Kennedy is wise in trying to wigwag pleas for conciliation to Khrushchev is a question that may be determined as early as next week when the Chinese Communists are scheduled to meet with Soviet Communists to debate international revolutionary strategy. But as the White House follows a policy of watchful waiting accompanied by placating gestures, certain State governors have apparently decided that no good is likely to come out of Moscow and are busy taking steps to push that point of view in their high school systems. Governor Farris Bryant of Florida, a crusader for realistic courses on Communism, recently sparked a conference on Cold War Education at Tampa, Fla., where some excellent speeches were made by former Ambassador to Cuba Earl E. T. Smith, Senator Tom Dodd of Connecticut, Operating Director Clarence Perry Oakes of the Institute for American Strategy, and Admiral Felix Stump, executive officer of the Freedoms Foundation. These speakers weren't giving an inch to Khrushchev. Nor were the various seminar participants, who included such long-term students of Communism as Dr. Stefan T. Possony of Stanford University's Hoover Institute, Professors Anthony T. Bouscaren of Lemoyne University and Gerhart Niemeyer of Notre Dame, Dr. Robert Morris, former judge of the Municipal Court of New York City, and John M. Fisher, the president of the Institute for American Strategy.

The seminar participants at Tampa were gratified to note that high school courses on the nature of Communism were proliferating throughout the land. More important, the idea that such courses should be taught from a standpoint of sterile neutrality has been diminishing.

Louisiana, Georgia, California, and New York have all passed state laws making it either mandatory or permissive to teach about Communism in the schools. This could, in a country without basic cultural values, result in courses that would amount to deadpan theoretical description of Communist and democratic capitalist systems, with no value choice indicated by the teachers. The New York law permits teaching about Communism and "its destructive effects." The California law specifically prohibits any teaching which amounts to advocacy of Communism.

What all this comes to is that our fellow-travelling "liberals" have lost out in their campaign to keep the secondary schools of America from actively supporting an anti-Communist value system. The idea that a teacher must not point out such things as Stalin's liquidation of three million kulaks lest mention of the fact be considered "controversial" or "prejudicial" is dying.

The Tampa conference on Cold War Education will be followed up on July 18 by a so-called "five governors committee" conference at Miami Beach, where such veteran anti-Communist stalwarts as Eugene Lyons, author of "The Red Decade," and Dr. Bella Dodd, a New York lawyer who was for many years a Communist Party specialist in school subversion, will talk to the governors and other state officials.

Well, the anti-Communist movement is spreading where it can hurt the Communist most, to the public school systems that do so much to shape the minds and the emotions of the coming generations. Even the National Education Association, which was originally pretty neutral in questions involving Cold War ideology, has joined with such organizations as the American Bar Association and the American Legion in promoting high school courses that will discuss Communism in the context of the general nature of man. If this movement continues to spread, no appeasement of Moscow on the part of Washington will be ratified at the grassroots of America. This is a prospect we can all cheer.

JFK's Trip Worthwhile Despite Criticism

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Whether or not a President of the United States should put aside his official activities in Washington and make a trip to Europe 3,000 miles away has often been debated but never resolved to everybody's satisfaction. Yet the most important reason for a President to go to Europe, or anywhere else abroad, is to accomplish something he can never do by staying home—to sway the tides of public opinion on issues of the day.

Few people on this side of the ocean are aware of the difficulties of getting across the American viewpoint abroad. The press in Europe nowadays treats the United States better than it did in past decades, but the newspapers rarely print in full the speeches or press conferences of a President or his Secretary of State. These are not often broadcast. Editorials continuously print criticisms, but the millions of people in Western Europe rarely have an opportunity to get firsthand the fundamentals of American policy because local differences are accented.

When a President goes abroad, therefore, what he says and does becomes news that gets more space than when it is cabled or radioed from far-away America.

Mr. Kennedy has been criticized for taking a trip to Europe at a time when he has some pressing problems at home. But he couldn't cancel his arrangements without evoking more criticism and hurting the feelings of the various governments concerned.

The most important issue in Europe today is whether a coalition of the free governments of the West can function effectively. Economic reasons for an alliance are numerous in theory, but in practice there are barriers due to nationalistic emotions and self-interest of a material nature.

Politically, there is usually no difficulty in maintaining the Western Alliance whenever there is real danger on the horizon. As a war scare recedes, however there is a tendency for each of the governments to go its own way.

Perhaps the most surprising thing about Mr. Kennedy's trip to Europe is that he felt it necessary to declare that the United States intends to defend each and every one of its allies which might be attacked. It is surprising because such an utterance would seem to be wholly unnecessary. For the same pledge was written into the North Atlantic Treaty, which shortly after World War II was ratified by the Senate of the United States. No suggestion has been made from any official source in this country that the treaty be discarded.

But there have nevertheless been rumors abroad that, if the European countries didn't stay together and share more of the expense of defending themselves, the United States would go its own way. Such expressions are not a reflection of the true wishes or purposes of the American people. The Western countries, including West Germany, form a barrier against Communist attack by conventional forces. And if a nuclear stalemate is inevitable, it is therefore the war by conventional arms that is most to be feared.

There has been of late much emphasis on a nuclear force to which several of the Western nations could contribute. As yet, no satisfactory formula has been evolved. The fact remains that, until something better comes along, The United States is pledged to use its nuclear power anyhow to defend Western Europe against any kind of attack by the Communist Bloc.

The peoples of Western Europe constantly need reassurance. The peoples of the Soviet Union, too, need to be told again and again that the United States will employ its forces solely to repel attack and there should be no worry about a war so far as acts by this country are concerned.

Mr. Kennedy can help soothe the feelings of Western leaders who may have heard this or that rumor about a deviation in America's foreign policy which would permit the Communists an opportunity to make gains at the expense of Western Europe. But when the President speaks today on foreign policy, he is expressing the true determination of the United States to defend Europe against attack and also America's basic purpose to try every peaceful process to avoid a major war.

On the whole, the absence of President Kennedy from this country for less than a fortnight can hardly encourage any extremists here to try out some new species of demonstration on the "civil rights" issue. Nor can it interrupt the normal functioning of government. Mr. Kennedy has available the latest facilities for instant telephone and radio communication.

If a traveling Chief Executive can carry on for a few days inside Europe a crusade to foster a friendlier and more understanding public opinion in the world, his mission is worthwhile. For if it will help bring the peoples of Europe closer to America, especially at a time when petty politics and nationalistic frictions have given a mistaken appearance of weakness in the Western Alliance, it is a constructive step, the meaning of which will not be lost on Moscow either.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

PRESIDENTIAL RACE — It's never too early for political discussions in Washington. Even though the 1964 presidential election is more than 18 months away, a discussion of Republican and Democratic prospects already commands considerable attention.

It's a foregone conclusion that John F. Kennedy will run for a second term in the White House. And at this early date, pollsters and pundits give him a sizable edge over any possible Republican opponent.

The number one topic, of course, is New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's political future in the light of his divorce and remarriage. Those who back Rockefeller contend that the voting public has a short memory and that they'll be used to things by the time the elections roll around.

Democrats and Republican conservatives who are opposed to Rockefeller take a greatly different view. Some contend flatly that he has irrevocably lost the women's vote, and that he can't win without it. In fact, they contend this will never be put to a test because the politicians who make up the GOP presidential convention will reject him on the grounds that to run him would be too risky.

In this situation, Sen. Barry Goldwater's stock rises rapidly. The Arizona Republican, acknowledged leader of the conservative wing of the party, has gained sharply in the polls — at Rockefeller's expense — and the way things look now, a move for him at the GOP convention next year could very well set off an unbeatable stampede to put him in the number one GOP slot.

Democratic liberals and Republican conservatives would like to see this happen. These Republicans want to see how the voters will react to a clear-cut choice between an acknowledged conservative and an acknowledged liberal. So do the Democrats.

The more liberal, pro-Rockefeller Republicans, on the other hand, fear that such a confrontation will hand them a defeat similar to those administered in 1932 and 1936 by Franklin D. Roosevelt. And they don't want to take the chance.

Skin Reactions To Chemicals Uncommon

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

The average housewife handles more chemicals than does the average husband. Skin reactions are uncommon, despite the fact that many of these products are used to adorn or beautify. In addition, the homemaker's hands are wet many times during the day bathing the children, preparing fruits and vegetables, cleaning house, and—in the non-automated household — doing the dishes and the laundry.

Women come into contact with plastics, soaps, detergents, bleaches, floor waxes, wax removers, oven cleansers, metal polishes, paints, solvents, ammonia, naphtha, and what not. Out of doors their skin is exposed to the sun and they touch various chemicals used to fertilize the garden and control pests and weeds. It is a wonder so many escape housewife's eczema and dishpan hands.

Adverse reactions to cosmetics are few, considering the sensitivity of the skin and mucous membranes and the great variety and number of preparations that are available. Furthermore, these products involve complicated chemical formulas.

According to Dr. James W. Burks of New Orleans, reactions to cosmetics are ". . . less than the laity believes and much more than the industry will admit." Approximately 2 per cent of users are affected in this way. But this does not include women who encounter side effects, switch to another brand, and never mention the difficulty to their physician.

Dr. Burks says the well adorned female uses 20 to 30 cosmetic products, including jewelry and other accessories. Among the the most common are depilatories, shampoos, hair waving sets, creams, lotions eye products, powders, lipsticks, nail polishes, and perfumes. There may be 20 or more chemicals in each formula so that our well groomed female has recourse to between 400 and 600 ingredients for cosmetic purposes.

The smart woman quickly recognizes a cosmetic dermatitis. This is especially true when trying a new product, and less so when the cosmetic has been employed for a long time. The diagnosis is more difficult when the husband is sensitive to his wife's perfume, for example.

The easiest remedy is to avoid the cause. Common sense must dictate the policy when it comes to prevention of reactions to other home chemicals. The best precaution is to read the labels and keep the hands clean. When gloves can be worn doing certain chores, they afford some protection.

FOOD SENSITIVITY

W. L. writes: Can a person be desensitized to a food allergy?

REPLY

No, but avoiding the offending food relieves symptoms. Some persons can go back to the trouble maker after several months of abstinence, provided they eat sparingly of the food.

COLLAPSED VEINS

A. L. writes: Please write in detail about collapsed veins and how detrimental this condition is to longevity.

REPLY

Veins rarely collapse unless the heart stops beating.

SLOWED CIRCULATION

J. R. D. writes: Does excessive smoking slow up the circulation in the extremities?

REPLY

Yes, because nicotine tends to constrict the arteries.

TRUE POLYPS

H. R. writes: Are rectal polyps malignant?

REPLY

Not when the lesions are true polyps.

TOMORROW: Saturated and unsaturated fats.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A bride threw her arms around her husband's neck when he returned from the office and told him, "I've made your favorite dessert for tonight! A coconut cake! Wait till you see it." When she brought it in from the kitchen, he was properly appreciative. "It looks just perfect," he assured her, "but what's that big bump in the middle?"

"You old Zany," she pouted. "That's the coconut."

General Matt Ridgeway was reminiscing at the Pittsburgh Field Club about his days as a cadet at West Point. "I recall the first sergeant in my life," he said with a happy gleam in his eye. "He lined us up and roared, 'Men, I want three volunteers for K. P. duty and that means you and you and you.' I was one of the yous."

AT&T Makes Grab For All Phones In NASA Moon Launching Program

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Jim Webb, the hard-working head of the National Space Agency, will probably be known all through life as the man who doesn't like lady astronauts and thereby let Russia get the jump on us among space feminists. Less known, but economically more important, is the fact that Jim does love the largest corporate queen in the USA—American Telephone and Telegraph.

This lady seems to be his real sweetheart.

Not only did Webb help negotiate the deal whereby American Tel and Tel got chief control over the communications satellite, even though the taxpayers put up the research funds, but the other day Webb's agency sent an abrupt telegram holding up the bids on a government-owned communications system for the moon program—because the telephone company objected.

Forty-eight contractors had been invited by NASA to bid on a system of communications on Merritt Island, Fla., from which the man will be launched to reach the moon. They had gone to Florida at no little expense to themselves to attend a briefing, and submitted bids due to be opened June 17.

But suddenly Southern Bell Telephone, part of the giant A T & T empire, protested to Jimmy Webb. The intimation was that if the government insisted on operating its own telephones on Merritt Island launching area, they might not be able to hook up with the Bell Telephone System outside.

There was a further hint that if Jimmy Webb didn't bow to American Tel and Tel, the telephone company would go over his head to the White House, where Dr. Fred Kappel, head of A T & T, has been JFK's dinner guest and where there seems to be a friendly feeling for the big phone monopoly.

"Before proceeding with the evaluation CMM (Communications Materiel and Maintenance), NASA will first resolve questions concerning whether certain services to be provided under Q-50-3 will interconnect with the services of the Bell Telephone System operating as a common carrier."

The communications setup for the moon launching is considered a very delicate matter. In the Eisenhower administration, A T & T induced the government to turn over all its phone lines operating in the national parks and on military reservations to the giant phone combine, also built the SAGE early warning system in Canada at a profit estimated at $240,000,000. Under the Kennedy administration it took over the communications satellite corporation and now wants to plant its telephones on the moon.

Drama Without Headlines

The most heart-rewarding drama doesn't always make headlines. While the world was gossiping about sex in England and TV was recording the voice of the first lady astronaut, an Air Force major was spending a night at a desk in the Pentagon trying to save the eyesight of an Arab youth in the faraway Sahara.

Major M. A. Thompson was preparing to quit for the day when his phone rang urgently. Out of habit, he glanced at the clock and noted the time: 5:05 p. m., June 14.

It was an appeal from Neal Welsh of the International Eye Bank for an Air Force plane to rush a pair of eyes to Algeria for an emergency operation.

Waiting anxiously was 20-year-old Mahamed Abdel-Kader who, suddenly blinded, had made the painful, dark journey from the Ain Salah Oasis across the desert to Algiers. By the time he reached the Beni Messaoud Hospital, the doctors figured he had less than 48 hours before it would be too late to save his sight.

But across the Atlantic in the Pentagon, Major Thompson was already putting together the miracle that would provide new eyes for the desert youth.

Fighting against time and red tape, Thompson located a jet tanker that was preparing to take off at 2:40 a. m. from Shaw Air Force Base, S. C., for North Africa. He also arranged for a jet trainer to fly the eyes from Washington to South Carolina.

The precious eyes were sped by police escort to Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington in a record 13 minutes, arriving at 11 p. m. Five minutes later, the jet trainer was whistling down the runway.

Then suddenly, for military reasons, a "hold" was ordered on all aircraft. The jet trainer could not leave Shaw without the highest approval.

Thompson urgently called the headquarters command post, which got Maj. Gen. John Hester, the assistant Air Force vice chief, out of bed at 1 a. m. to explain the emergency. He agreed that the "hold" order could be waived until the plane landed in North Africa.

The tanker finally got away at 4 a. m., arrived at Algiers four hours later. Dr. Luther Brawner, scrubbed and waiting, began the corneal transplant within an hour.

Today, Mahamed Abdel-Kader can see again, thanks largely to an American major whose name he probably doesn't even know.

PARIS

The Paris Playhouse which plans to present American and English plays here in English has opened after a two year struggle with the presentation of two of Edward Albee's plays—"The Zoo Story" and "The Death of Bessie Smith." It was a triumph of French enthusiasm over American indifference.

Colette de Jouvenal, the daughter of France's celebrated novelist, Colette, is president of Paris Playhouse and she told me the terrors of fund raising in America.

"The favorite game of American millionaires is to send you to another millionaire. Usually someone they loathe." Madam de Jouvenal went from one American millionaire to another, raising nothing except her own hackles. She also went from foundation to foundation. Nothing.

"People looked at me as if I were trying to steal the money," she said. "Here we were trying to put on American plays in the original tongue in Paris, to spread American culture. You'd think we'd get support from the Americans. Not a bit.

"We had already raised an enormous amount of money from the French who believed in the idea of putting on plays in English here. We got cooperation, money, help and enthusiasm from the French. They're wild about the idea. From the Americans—nothing."

When the curtain rose finally on the Albee plays, the operation of Paris Playhouse had been financed entirely by the French without any American money except for $500 contributed by the American embassy.

Andre Malraux gave the Paris Playhouse his "High Patronage" which is as high as you can get in French approval. Francoise Sagan wrote that English-speaking theater was "An enterprise audacieuse and fascinante" which must draw all those who talk English, not only the "snob public but a public wide-awake public desirous of understanding its friends in America and England."

This is a noble sentiment. The trouble is everyone began to understand everyone else too well.

James Jones, the author wrote, "The interested French persons have contributed much money to this project, aided by some of us Americans, and I hope that all of my companions who will benefit from this theater project will be willing to contribute heavily to aid in keeping it alive," but so far no one has.

Still, a good deal of tout Paris showed up for the opening of the American plays in English with and American cast. The French reviewers seemed most concerned with whether Albee would live up to his reputation which is perhaps a little exaggerated here. He's been touted as on a par with Eugene O'Neill and Tennessee Williams.

It's the toughest thing in the world to live up to advance notices like that and the reviews were surprisingly friendly to the American playwright and the American players.

Since the opening the audience has been composed about fifty-fifty of English-speaking people and the French. The Americans are still behaving rather oddly.

"Some American women came in the other day," said Madame de Jouvenal, "complaining bitterly. They said the American women's clubs had promised them reduced rates. So I said all right. We'll give you 1,500 franc seats for 1000 francs. Will that be all right? But you think they'd give us their support. It's an American play."

That is the first English-speaking theatre in Paris since before the war. Then there was a troupe here that performed fundamentally English plays. Now the plays are fundamentally American, the enthusiasm fundamentally French.

The French are taking to their hearts not only Albee but also the English production called "Oh, What A Lovely War" which got rave notices. This is full of World War I songs that are pretty special even to English people, sung in English that even I had great trouble understanding. The French loved it.

First Corpsmen Arrive Home

Fifty-seven Peace Corps volunteers stationed in Colombia have just been mustered out of service after two years of duty in that underdeveloped nation. These are the first Peace Corps members to complete their tours; the pace of separations will quicken in succeeding months.

These are not people returning from summer vacation or languid study abroad. Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver describes them as "veterans of two full years of trying situations and difficult circumstances . . . who will know the interiors, the folkways, the languages of the world's civilizations . . . . people whose strength of character and sense of purpose have been tempered under fire." Shriver's belief is that the total American society is bound to be influenced in a healthy way by the steady supply of homecoming Peace Corps volunteers.

Peace Corps officials have asked Congress for funds to set up a placement service for the returning volunteers, but not out of fear that any of them will end up on relief. Private employers have shown a lively interest by requesting the names of corpsmen completing their service. Government, too, is preparing a future for the volunteers, offering careers in foreign service or within the non-volunteer staff of the Peace Corps itself.

In fact, a surfeit of opportunities seems to present itself. Ford Foundation, for example, has granted $400,000 to award 50 graduate fellowships to discharged Peace Corps members, and universities, clubs, and other organizations are setting up scholarships and tuition aids. The District of Columbia school system, among others, is offering salary placement credit for corpsmen interested in entering teaching, and New York State has waived normal certification requirements. The Interior Department hopes some of the volunteers will take well-paying teaching positions in the U.S. Pacific Trust Territories, and the Boy Scouts are on the lookout for district Scout leaders.

These Days

Teaching The Truth

When John Foster Dulles was Secretary of State, it was Washington that seemed bent on making it certain that co-existence with Soviet Russia would not be sought on terms that might ultimately prove to be disadvantageous to the West. But while Dulles pursued a policy of calculated intransigence the governors in the various states of the union were rather neutral on the subject of the Cold War.

Recently, however, a curious reversal has taken place. Today the state governors are taking the lead in promoting a stand-up attitude toward Communism. The Kennedy Administration, by contrast, "plays it soft," hoping, in the President's words, to "encourage constructive changes in the Communist bloc."

Whether Kennedy is wise in trying to wigwag pleas for conciliation to Khrushchev is a question that may be determined as early as next week when the Chinese Communists are scheduled to meet with Soviet Communists to debate international revolutionary strategy. But as the White House follows a policy of watchful waiting accompanied by placating gestures, certain State governors have apparently decided that no good is likely to come out of Moscow and are busy taking steps to push that point of view in their high school systems. Governor Farris Bryant of Florida, a crusader for realistic courses on Communism, recently sparked a conference on Cold War Education at Tampa, Fla., where some excellent speeches were made by former Ambassador to Cuba Earl E. T. Smith, Senator Tom Dodd of Connecticut, Operating Director Clarence Perry Oakes of the Institute for American Strategy, and Admiral Felix Stump, executive officer of the Freedoms Foundation. These speakers weren't giving an inch to Khrushchev. Nor were the various seminar participants, who included such long-term students of Communism as Dr. Stefan T. Possony of Stanford University's Hoover Institute, Professors Anthony T. Bouscaren of Lemoyne University and Gerhart Niemeyer of Notre Dame, Dr. Robert Morris, former judge of the Municipal Court of New York City, and John M. Fisher, the president of the Institute for American Strategy.

The seminar participants at Tampa were gratified to note that high school courses on the nature of Communism were proliferating throughout the land. More important, the idea that such courses should be taught from a standpoint of sterile neutrality has been diminishing.

Louisiana, Georgia, California, and New York have all passed state laws making it either mandatory or permissive to teach about Communism in the schools. This could, in a country without basic cultural values, result in courses that would amount to deadpan theoretical description of Communist and democratic capitalist systems, with no value choice indicated by the teachers. The New York law permits teaching about Communism and "its destructive effects." The California law specifically prohibits any teaching which amounts to advocacy of Communism.

What all this comes to is that our fellow-travelling "liberals" have lost out in their campaign to keep the secondary schools of America from actively supporting an anti-Communist value system. The idea that a teacher must not point out such things as Stalin's liquidation of three million kulaks lest mention of the fact be considered "controversial" or "prejudicial" is dying.

The Tampa conference on Cold War Education will be followed up on July 18 by a so-called "five governors committee" conference at Miami Beach, where such veteran anti-Communist stalwarts as Eugene Lyons, author of "The Red Decade," and Dr. Bella Dodd, a New York lawyer who was for many years a Communist Party specialist in school subversion, will talk to the governors and other state officials.

Well, the anti-Communist movement is spreading where it can hurt the Communist most, to the public school systems that do so much to shape the minds and the emotions of the coming generations. Even the National Education Association, which was originally pretty neutral in questions involving Cold War ideology, has joined with such organizations as the American Bar Association and the American Legion in promoting high school courses that will discuss Communism in the context of the general nature of man. If this movement continues to spread, no appeasement of Moscow on the part of Washington will be ratified at the grassroots of America. This is a prospect we can all cheer.

JFK's Trip Worthwhile Despite Criticism

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Whether or not a President of the United States should put aside his official activities in Washington and make a trip to Europe 3,000 miles away has often been debated but never resolved to everybody's satisfaction. Yet the most important reason for a President to go to Europe, or anywhere else abroad, is to accomplish something he can never do by staying home—to sway the tides of public opinion on issues of the day.

Few people on this side of the ocean are aware of the difficulties of getting across the American viewpoint abroad. The press in Europe nowadays treats the United States better than it did in past decades, but the newspapers rarely print in full the speeches or press conferences of a President or his Secretary of State. These are not often broadcast. Editorials continuously print criticisms, but the millions of people in Western Europe rarely have an opportunity to get firsthand the fundamentals of American policy because local differences are accented.

When a President goes abroad, therefore, what he says and does becomes news that gets more space than when it is cabled or radioed from far-away America.

Mr. Kennedy has been criticized for taking a trip to Europe at a time when he has some pressing problems at home. But he couldn't cancel his arrangements without evoking more criticism and hurting the feelings of the various governments concerned.

The most important issue in Europe today is whether a coalition of the free governments of the West can function effectively. Economic reasons for an alliance are numerous in theory, but in practice there are barriers due to nationalistic emotions and self-interest of a material nature.

Politically, there is usually no difficulty in maintaining the Western Alliance whenever there is real danger on the horizon. As a war scare recedes, however there is a tendency for each of the governments to go its own way.

Perhaps the most surprising thing about Mr. Kennedy's trip to Europe is that he felt it necessary to declare that the United States intends to defend each and every one of its allies which might be attacked. It is surprising because such an utterance would seem to be wholly unnecessary. For the same pledge was written into the North Atlantic Treaty, which shortly after World War II was ratified by the Senate of the United States. No suggestion has been made from any official source in this country that the treaty be discarded.

But there have nevertheless been rumors abroad that, if the European countries didn't stay together and share more of the expense of defending themselves, the United States would go its own way. Such expressions are not a reflection of the true wishes or purposes of the American people. The Western countries, including West Germany, form a barrier against Communist attack by conventional forces. And if a nuclear stalemate is inevitable, it is therefore the war by conventional arms that is most to be feared.

There has been of late much emphasis on a nuclear force to which several of the Western nations could contribute. As yet, no satisfactory formula has been evolved. The fact remains that, until something better comes along, The United States is pledged to use its nuclear power anyhow to defend Western Europe against any kind of attack by the Communist Bloc.

The peoples of Western Europe constantly need reassurance. The peoples of the Soviet Union, too, need to be told again and again that the United States will employ its forces solely to repel attack and there should be no worry about a war so far as acts by this country are concerned.

Mr. Kennedy can help soothe the feelings of Western leaders who may have heard this or that rumor about a deviation in America's foreign policy which would permit the Communists an opportunity to make gains at the expense of Western Europe. But when the President speaks today on foreign policy, he is expressing the true determination of the United States to defend Europe against attack and also America's basic purpose to try every peaceful process to avoid a major war.

On the whole, the absence of President Kennedy from this country for less than a fortnight can hardly encourage any extremists here to try out some new species of demonstration on the "civil rights" issue. Nor can it interrupt the normal functioning of government. Mr. Kennedy has available the latest facilities for instant telephone and radio communication.

If a traveling Chief Executive can carry on for a few days inside Europe a crusade to foster a friendlier and more understanding public opinion in the world, his mission is worthwhile. For if it will help bring the peoples of Europe closer to America, especially at a time when petty politics and nationalistic frictions have given a mistaken appearance of weakness in the Western Alliance, it is a constructive step, the meaning of which will not be lost on Moscow either.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

PRESIDENTIAL RACE — It's never too early for political discussions in Washington. Even though the 1964 presidential election is more than 18 months away, a discussion of Republican and Democratic prospects already commands considerable attention.

It's a foregone conclusion that John F. Kennedy will run for a second term in the White House. And at this early date, pollsters and pundits give him a sizable edge over any possible Republican opponent.

The number one topic, of course, is New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's political future in the light of his divorce and remarriage. Those who back Rockefeller contend that the voting public has a short memory and that they'll be used to things by the time the elections roll around.

Democrats and Republican conservatives who are opposed to Rockefeller take a greatly different view. Some contend flatly that he has irrevocably lost the women's vote, and that he can't win without it. In fact, they contend this will never be put to a test because the politicians who make up the GOP presidential convention will reject him on the grounds that to run him would be too risky.

In this situation, Sen. Barry Goldwater's stock rises rapidly. The Arizona Republican, acknowledged leader of the conservative wing of the party, has gained sharply in the polls — at Rockefeller's expense — and the way things look now, a move for him at the GOP convention next year could very well set off an unbeatable stampede to put him in the number one GOP slot.

Democratic liberals and Republican conservatives would like to see this happen. These Republicans want to see how the voters will react to a clear-cut choice between an acknowledged conservative and an acknowledged liberal. So do the Democrats.

The more liberal, pro-Rockefeller Republicans, on the other hand, fear that such a confrontation will hand them a defeat similar to those administered in 1932 and 1936 by Franklin D. Roosevelt. And they don't want to take the chance.

Skin Reactions To Chemicals Uncommon

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

The average housewife handles more chemicals than does the average husband. Skin reactions are uncommon, despite the fact that many of these products are used to adorn or beautify. In addition, the homemaker's hands are wet many times during the day bathing the children, preparing fruits and vegetables, cleaning house, and—in the non-automated household — doing the dishes and the laundry.

Women come into contact with plastics, soaps, detergents, bleaches, floor waxes, wax removers, oven cleansers, metal polishes, paints, solvents, ammonia, naphtha, and what not. Out of doors their skin is exposed to the sun and they touch various chemicals used to fertilize the garden and control pests and weeds. It is a wonder so many escape housewife's eczema and dishpan hands.

Adverse reactions to cosmetics are few, considering the sensitivity of the skin and mucous membranes and the great variety and number of preparations that are available. Furthermore, these products involve complicated chemical formulas.

According to Dr. James W. Burks of New Orleans, reactions to cosmetics are ". . . less than the laity believes and much more than the industry will admit." Approximately 2 per cent of users are affected in this way. But this does not include women who encounter side effects, switch to another brand, and never mention the difficulty to their physician.

Dr. Burks says the well adorned female uses 20 to 30 cosmetic products, including jewelry and other accessories. Among the the most common are depilatories, shampoos, hair waving sets, creams, lotions eye products, powders, lipsticks, nail polishes, and perfumes. There may be 20 or more chemicals in each formula so that our well groomed female has recourse to between 400 and 600 ingredients for cosmetic purposes.

The smart woman quickly recognizes a cosmetic dermatitis. This is especially true when trying a new product, and less so when the cosmetic has been employed for a long time. The diagnosis is more difficult when the husband is sensitive to his wife's perfume, for example.

The easiest remedy is to avoid the cause. Common sense must dictate the policy when it comes to prevention of reactions to other home chemicals. The best precaution is to read the labels and keep the hands clean. When gloves can be worn doing certain chores, they afford some protection.

FOOD SENSITIVITY

W. L. writes: Can a person be desensitized to a food allergy?

REPLY

No, but avoiding the offending food relieves symptoms. Some persons can go back to the trouble maker after several months of abstinence, provided they eat sparingly of the food.

COLLAPSED VEINS

A. L. writes: Please write in detail about collapsed veins and how detrimental this condition is to longevity.

REPLY

SLOWED CIRCULATION

J. R. D. writes: Does excessive smoking slow up the circulation in the extremities?

REPLY

Yes, because nicotine tends to constrict the arteries.

TRUE POLYPS

H. R. writes: Are rectal polyps malignant?

REPLY

Not when the lesions are true polyps.

TOMORROW: Saturated and unsaturated fats.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

AT&T Makes Grab For All Phones In NASA Moon Launching Program

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Jim Webb, the hard-working head of the National Space Agency, will probably be known all through life as the man who doesn't like lady astronauts and thereby let Russia get the jump on us among space feminists. Less known, but economically more important, is the fact that Jim does love the largest corporate queen in the USA—American Telephone and Telegraph.

This lady seems to be his real sweetheart.

Not only did Webb help negotiate the deal whereby American Tel and Tel got chief control over the communications satellite, even though the taxpayers put up the research funds, but the other day Webb's agency sent an abrupt telegram holding up the bids on a government-owned communications system for the moon program—because the telephone company objected.

Forty-eight contractors had been invited by NASA to bid on a system of communications on Merritt Island, Fla., from which the man will be launched to reach the moon. They had gone to Florida at no little expense to themselves to attend a briefing, and submitted bids due to be opened June 17.

But suddenly Southern Bell Telephone, part of the giant A T & T empire, protested to Jimmy Webb. The intimation was that if the government insisted on operating its own telephones on Merritt Island launching area, they might not be able to hook up with the Bell Telephone System outside.

There was a further hint that if Jimmy Webb didn't bow to American Tel and Tel, the telephone company would go over his head to the White House, where Dr. Fred Kappel, head of A T & T, has been JFK's dinner guest and where there seems to be a friendly feeling for the big phone monopoly.

The president has sent his long-expected civil rights message to Congress. Both the Republican proposals to insure equal opportunities for all Americans and the President's recommendations of June 19 for legislation on this subject present the Judiciary Committee of the House with an historic task. If either the Republican or the Administration bills promise positive progress they should be passed. The Judiciary Committee will have to weigh carefully the factors that will create a balance between the fulfillment of Constitutional guarantees of civil liberty with justifiable demands for protection of civil right.

McNAMARA DECEIVES CONGRESS: On June 19 I spoke in the House of Representatives to object to the practice which requires Defense Department personnel to evade Congressional inquiries about contract awards. It was not a pleasant task to remind Mr. NcNamara that "By deliberately misleading in small matters, the Department of Defense destroys the confidence of the Congress in any information that it may transmit. In requiring professional military men to participate in these uncouth deceptions the Secretary is corrupting the code of honor which has been a badge of pride for America's fighting men for 187 years."

CUBA IS A BREEDING GROUND FOR SABOTEURS: The report of the Organization of American States issued June 4 says, "Undoubtedly Cuba now constitutes the regional center for subversive action for international Communism in America." The report continues, "It is an obvious fact that as the Communist regime became consolidated in Cuba a number of schools and centers for the training in the techniques of subversion were organized. A large number of Latin Americans attend these centers where they receive instruction not only in Marxist-Leninist theory, but also in propaganda techniques, the use of arms and explosives, sabotage, guerilla warfare, etc. in order to apply them later in their respective countries."

MATHIAS INSTITUTES "WASHINGTON WORKSHOP": During the week I welcomed Ann K. Carson and Stephen C. Printz, students at Boonsboro High School, Boonsboro, Maryland, to the Washington office this past week as the first students to participate in a Washington Workshop. Under this program high school seniors from the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland, selected for outstanding scholarship and interest in public affairs, spend one week assisting in Congressional activities and meeting with Members of Congress and officials of the Government. "The students of America who are the beneficiaries of the legislation of today should have every opportunity to understand how those laws are molded and promulagated. It is up to an informed and interested youth of today to fashion a strong and vibrant America of tomorrow."

David Brinkley Spends Off Hours In Workshop

WASHINGTON (UPI)—TV Newsman David Brinkley leaves his NBC office at 7:30 each evening to tool his convertible sports car on the 10-minute drive home in time for dinner with his wife and three sons.

Most of the time they wait for him.

And home for Brinkley is a two-story colonial-style brick edifice two city blocks from the Washington, D.C., border in Chevy Chase, Md., a very fashionable address in the nation's capital.

After dinner, like as not, Brinkley will head for his cellar workshop which is filled with woodworking tools of every description. There he happily hammers, saws and chips away at his favorite pastime, cabinetmaking.

Brinkley, a low-pressure southerner, beats the terrific pressures of his job by turning out beautiful furniture, including the family dining room suite.

"It keeps me from going nuts," he explains.

"Woodworking is relaxing because when you work with tools everything either fits or it doesn't. There's no half-way about it; no gray areas like human relationships or the news. When you make something with your hands it's a relief to know whether it's right or wrong."

Because nightclubbing and restaurant dining is unchic in Washington the Brinkleys entertain a great deal at home. And when they go out it is usually to the homes of friends.

"The favorite indoor sport in Washington is talking," Brinkley says "and the best place to do that is at home."

Their friends are the same ones they've known for 20 years, among them are politicians, newsmen and just plain folks. Brinkley's news partner, Chet Huntley, is not a close friend for the very good reason that he works out of New York and sees partner David only three or four times a year.

Because he is not a performer per se, the tall, 43-year-old reporter cannot accustom himself to being a celebrity.

"It interferes with my private life," Brinkley says. "Wherever I go I find it hard to be a reporter when people ask for autographs. I'd rather go unrecognized so I can get my work done without drawing attention. It was really rugged at the 1960 political conventions."

More than anything else Brinkley enjoys being a father. He spends as much time as he can with the boys; the oldest two go to a private school which young John will attend next year.

"I guess we're pretty much a typical suburban family," Brinkley says. "At least we live in the oldest suburb in the United States, and that's a fact.

"And as I look at my life, reaching middle age and moderate prosperity, there is only one regret. That's when I browse through a hardware store and find I already have all the tools I want. It's the only drawback I can find to having made a little money.

"In a way that's sad. But there is no artificiality about tools, and they bring me a lot of good, happy hours."

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tom Moore, president of ABC-TV, says his network will increase its telecasting of sports events by 100 hours during the next video season.

"Television was really born to do sports," said Moore, who was in Hollywood for a meeting of the network's affiliated stations.

"We're going to try a number of live sports shows from Europe via Telstar," he added. "And we will do upwards of 500 hours of sports next season. Last season it was about 400 hours. Everybody can identify with sports."

Moore, a fast talking man with a forward looking approach to television, indicated that some of the industry's most competitive activity next year will be in the bidding for more sports shows.

"Both the other networks are expanding," he said of CBS and NBC. "The exciting things about sports next year are that the American Football League, National Football League and National Collegiate Athletic Association rights come up for bids. In all probability, 30 or 40 million dollars will change hands."

Moore indicated that his network will be in the thick of negotiations and bidding for those rights.

One of the network's new sports shows for the next season is "Olympic Warmup," a series of 16 weekly half hour productions about winter sports. The show is expected to promote interest and money for the 1964 winter Olympics.

"In the 'Olympic Warmup' show we're going to make a concerted effort to raise $1,500,000 to send our team to Innsbruck, Austria for the winter games," Moore said.

The network chief said his network planned new public service programs, including a series of four shows on "the saga of western man." The hour long shows will depict the arrival of Columbus, the Revolutionary War period, the nineteenth century and modern times.

"This is the type of public service show we have on the drawing boards," he said.

ABC's dramatic content, Moore said, has one show which he believes will create a new television trend, similar to the medical show demand created by his network's "Ben Casey" and NBC's "Dr. Kildare."

"I think our new show, 'Outer Limits,' will start a lot of discussion," he said. "It's fantasy, combined with scientific fact. It makes for imaginative writing and lends itself to film technique and special effects. I think it will start a real cycle of this type of material — science fiction, thrill."

Moore is now working with producers on plans for ABC's 1964-65 season, a year during which he hopes television's stature will grow.

Times Have Changed For Trumpeter Al Hirt

By GARY P. GATES

NEW YORK (UPI)—Trumpet virtuoso Al Hirt is a huge bear of a man who prefers to bury his face in bushy whiskers. The overall effect makes him look like a cross between Jackie Gleason and Ulysses S. Grant.

Like Gleason, Hirt is a jovial fat man who knows how to translate his 299 pounds into showmanship. And like Ulysses S., he goes in for the kind of beard that sprawls all over the face.

His most notable characteristic, though, has nothing to do with how the man looks. It's what he does with a trumpet that makes him one of the nation's most popular musicians. Such popularity, however, is a rather recent and almost accidental development in Hirt's life.

For more years than he cares to remember, Hirt was all but unknown outside of New Orleans where his Dixieland style of jazz is as popular today as it was during its "Golden Age" three decades ago.

To a large extent, this obscurity was self-imposed.

Over the years he repeatedly turned down offers to leave his native city where, happy in the role of local hero, he made enough money to support his wife and eight children. Furthermore, he richly enjoyed playing the kind of music which brought New Orleans worldwide fame as the birthplace of jazz. In so many other jazz centers across the country, Dixieland was in a state of undeserved decline.

But he finally made the jump, accepting a few night club engagements in other cities as well as revealing his talents to nationwide television audiences.

The result not only has changed Hirt's life, it has revived national enthusiasm for a style of jazz that seemed to be dying. Now, thanks to Hirt and other traditionalists, Dixieland once again is alive and kicking.

He is gifted with an uncanny sense of showmanship and is able to get across to the audience that no matter what happens he, Al Hirt, is having a ball.

Let's Eat Outdoors!

These two irresistible skewer combinations, along with a farmer's salad, potato chips, ice cream and ice-cold milk, add up to a simple but tasty meal for outdoor eating during the warm weather.

Take Advantage Of Summer For Simple Outdoor Meals

Whether fresh air and sunshine or a pioneering instinct is the reason, it remains that food cooked outdoors tastes better than any other.

With the warm weather season at its height, it's time to take account of summer eating habits. Have you given your family the fun of planning and preparing outdoor meals and picnics?

Outdoor eating can be a gala affair if you turn it into a family project and keep meals simple. Somehow cooking on an outdoor grill or barbecue takes Dad's fancy in a way a kitchen stove never does.

Your equipment doesn't need to be elaborate and expensive. And your own back yard provides a good setting.

As for the main course, kabobs are one of man's best friends. Only imagination and appetite limit the innumerable combinations that can be teamed up on skewers.

There are two skewer combinations shown here. Both have chunks of pineapple and pimiento olives interspersed between the cheese and meat chunks. One uses cubes of Swiss cheese wrapped with bacon, the other—cubes of Swiss cheese wrapped with strips of sliced baked or boiled ham. The smoky flavor of bacon on ham combines so well with the Swiss cheese — Swiss cheese is used because it will not melt away over the open fire.

Grilling takes from 5 to 10 minutes, or until the kabobs are tender and a luscious brown color. Then, the sizzling hot kabobs may be pushed off the skewers onto hot toasted buns or onto plates for eating with potato chips.

If you like the kabob morsels well done, separate them slightly. Or if you prefer the food rare, place the pieces rather closely together.

For extra fine flavor, brush the olives and pineapple chunks with melted butter before grilling.

The rest of the meal couldn't be easier. There's a big bowl of farmer's salad. For this, make up a tossed salad of crispy fresh vegetables, then top with a big mound of cottage cheese and a few tomato wedges when you're ready to serve.

Cottage cheese should always be stored in the refrigerator and tastes best when cold. Use it within a day or two after purchase to enjoy it at the peak of its flavor.

The beverage is cold milk, especially refreshing in the summer. Keep it cold until serving time. Your family, like the connoisseurs of milk, will like it best icy cold.

For the finale, spoon ice cream into paper cups. It would be hard to find a dessert better liked by both youngsters and oldsters. Home freezers make it possible to keep several kinds on hand so each member of the family may choose his favorite flavor.

Tossed Bean Salad

Combine and toss together lightly:
- 1 (28 oz.) can pork and beans with tomato sauce, drained
- 1 cup diced celery
- ½ cup crisp diced cooked bacon
- ¼ cup chopped dill pickle

Moisten with:
- 2 tablespoons spicy French dressing

Garnish with:
- 3 hard cooked eggs, sliced

Makes four servings.

Fresh Mushroom Sauce, Rose

(Makes about 5 servings)
- 1 cup fresh button mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 bouillon cube
- 1½ teaspoons cornstarch
- ½ cup California Rose

Remove stems and wash mushrooms; dry well. Melt butter, crumble in bouillon cube and add mushrooms; cook gently until almost tender. Blend cornstarch into wine and add to mushrooms; simmer about 5 minutes. Add to 1½ to 2 cups hot cooked vegetables such as peas, green beans, celery or carrots.

Barbecue Chili Beans

(Serves 5 or 6)
- 2 (1-lb.) cans red kidney beans
- ½ cup California Burgundy or other red dinner wine
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- ¼ cup catsup
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- ½ teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1 teaspoon chili powder

Drain beans, saving liquid (will be about 1⅓ cups). Combine bean liquid with remaining ingredients. Simmer about 5 minutes. Add beans and heat thoroughly. Serve with crusty French bread or rolls or over grilled hamburgers.

Summer Leftovers

Keep your leftover dishes in style with the season by serving them in cold, main-dish meat salads with fresh vegetables or fruit. Ready-to-serve meats are also delicious in meat salads.

Hialeah Park, Fla., is believed to be the only place in the United States where flamingoes breed.

Zucchini Siciliana

- 2 tablespoons pure vegetable oil
- 1 medium onion, finely chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- ½ cup chopped celery
- 2 (8-ounce) cans tomato sauce
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon seasoned instant meat tenderizer
- 5 medium zucchini
- Dash freshly ground black pepper

1. Heat oil in medium saucepan; add onions and garlic; cook slowly until slightly brown; add remaining ingredients except zucchini and pepper; simmer slowly 20 minutes, covered.

2. Slice zucchini at an angle about ⅛ inch thick; add to sauce; simmer, uncovered, about 10 minutes. Add pepper to taste. Do not overcook zucchini; they should be on the crisp side.

Week's Food Economies

Welcome summer with its abounding array of fresh vegetables and fruits that make for sumptious eating at any meal, says Virginia L. McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore Office of the University of Maryland Department of Markets.

The best buys at the vegetable counter are Maryland cabbage and snap beans and Florida sweet corn. Cabbage is so often available that we sometimes overlook its many merits. Cabbage is convenient to prepare, adapts to many dishes, stores well, costs relatively little, and provides Vitamin C. Cabbage serves fresh uses as slaw or as a prime ingredient in other salads in combination. Cabbage has many cooked uses. Cooks braise, boil, scallop or cream it, or use it in stews or soups. Right now the supply coming to market is the bright green early summer cabbage. Early cabbage is often less compact than that which comes later. Cut cabbage with a sharp knife to avoid bruising and losing Vitamin C.

Receipts of Maryland snap beans are increasing. The short shipping distance enables growers to pick beans at optimum maturity for quality and offer them to shoppers with little delay. Usually prices are seasonally low during peak local season.

Sweet corn is in liberal supply and quality is generally good. Fresh peas from Maryland and Delaware are in seasonal peak. Fresh pea season is short. Salad greens, lettuce, escarole and endive are coming from nearby New Jersey. Supplies of Maryland squash are in peak season.

The best fruit buys are watermelon, peaches and blueberries. Florida watermelons are low in cost. Peaches are from Georgia and the Carolinas and quality is generally very good due to hydrocooling. Blueberries are still coming from North Carolina and some from New Jersey. Sweet and sour cherries from Maryland are available, along with sweet cherries from California. Fruits making a beginning season appearance are apricots, nectarines, plums and grapes from California.

Sardine Canape Astrid

On Melba toast rounds or square crackers, place a slice of tomato, a whole Norway sardine and top with a thin slice of cheddar cheese. Season to taste. Broil until cheese is melted. Serve hot.

Bar Harbor, a town and village in southern Maine, is one of the most famous summer resorts in the United States. French Jesuits established a settlement on the site as early as 1608.

The expression "truck crops" has no connection with the method of hauling crops to market. It derives from the French word "troquer," meaning to barter or exchange. In the United States the term became synonymous with vegetables in general because much produce was once bartered or sold in small lots.

Beef Patties Take Style In Pepper Rings

This variation on an old theme, green peppers stuffed with ground beef, will me an inviting and economical main dish to serve for dinner.

In this case, sliced peppers form rings around ground beef patties. The meat is flavored with mushrooms, chopped onion and Worcestershire sauce. Then to top off the patties, catchup and grated cheese are spooned over them at the close of the cooking period. What an eye-appealing and tasty treat!

Ring-Around Beef Patties are company fare, but the family deserves them, too. Often a little extra effort is needed to tempt appetites in hot weather. The need for well-balanced, high-protein meals continues throughout the year.

Ring-Around Beef Patties

1 pound ground beef
1 can (2 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces
Milk
¾ cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 egg, beaten
2 large green peppers
2 tablespoons catchup
2 tablespoons grated American cheese

Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. Add enough milk to mushroom liquid to make ½ cup liquid. Combine ground beef, mushrooms, ½ cup liquid, bread crumbs, onion, Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper and egg. Remove ends and seeds from green peppers. Cut each into 3 one-inch rings. YIELD: 6 servings.

Money-Saving Main Dish

Here's a skilletful of good eating that's as easy on the budget as it is on the cook. Smoked sliced beef is the meaty ingredient which adds its good flavor to this main dish.

Cubed raw potatoes, scalloped in this fashion in a skillet atop the range, have all the old-fashioned flavor goodness of those oven-baked — but are a breeze to prepare. The startch from the raw potatoes blend with the butter and evaporated milk to bring about a smooth, creamy sauce during the cooking so that no flour is needed for thickening. For just good plain scalloped potatoes anytime, omit the beef and cook in this fashion.

CHIPPED BEEF AND POTATO SCALLOP

¼ cup butter
1 pkg. (3½ oz.) smoked sliced beef
½ cup chopped onion
3 large potatoes, peeled and cubed (4 cups)
1 cup boiling water
1 tall can evaporated milk (1⅔ cups)
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon dried or fresh cut parsley (optional)

Melt butter in a large skillet. Pull beef into small pieces and cook gently in butter over low heat until edges begin to curl. Remove beef from pan and set aside. Add onion and potatoes to skillet. Cook over low heat until most of fat is absorbed and the onion is transparent, about 3 to 4 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add boiling water and evaporated milk; continue cooking over low heat until potatoes are tender and sauce begins to thicken, about 25 to 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add 1 teaspoon salt, a dash of pepper and beef; mix well and cook until heated through, about 3 to 4 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in parsley and serve. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Spareribs Country Style

A rack of spareribs grilling fragrantly over the coals inspire the appetite and the cook. Now that Americans are barbecuing more than ever before, outdoor chefs are re-discovering the culinary distinctions or spareribs country style.

Man has been cooking outdoors for a good long time. In fact, it's reasonable and rather fun to assume that the first "dinner" was a sort of barebcue. But things are easier now. Outdoor grilling is a matter of enjoyment, rather than necessity. For instance, this "easy-to-do" recipe for spareribs, has the chef's comfort in mind as well as fine eating. Begin early in the morning, indoors, before the sun is high in the sky.

Season spareribs with Ac'cent monosodium glutamate, salt and top with lemon slices. Put them into a foil-lined baking pan and into the oven to bake for an hour. After baking, pour off the fat and refrigerate the ribs. Barbecue later on at your leisure.

One of the highlights of cooking out is the seasoning of the meat and the sauce. Ac'cent plays a leading role in both efforts. Shake it on the meat before grilling to bring out the rich meat flavor. Used in the sauce it enhances the flavor of each spice without adding flavor of its own, and blends the subtle spicery into a smooth delectable sauce.

At grilling time, brush the sauce over the nearly-cooked spareribs and put them on the grill to finish for a quick thirty minutes. Line your grill with heavy-duty aluminum foil for even heat control and efficient clean-up. Make a potato salad the modern way from a package of hash brown potatoes — no dicing, no peeling involved. Instead of hashing or browning the potatoes, simmer them, add other ingredients, chill till ready to serve, then add mayonnaise. Keeps texture fresh and appetizing.

Have decorative copper-colored salters and peppers at grill-side and on the table. For once you're out of the house, and ready to dine, you'll want to have everything handy.

KRAFT

The expression "truck crops" has no connection with the method of hauling crops to market. It derives from the French word "troquer," meaning to barter or exchange. In the United States the term became synonymous with vegetables in general because much produce was once bartered or sold in small lots.

Beef Patties Take Style In Pepper Rings

This variation on an old theme, green peppers stuffed with ground beef, will me an inviting and economical main dish to serve for dinner.

In this case, sliced peppers form rings around ground beef patties. The meat is flavored with mushrooms, chopped onion and Worcestershire sauce. Then to top off the patties, catchup and grated cheese are spooned over them at the close of the cooking period. What an eye-appealing and tasty treat!

Ring-Around Beef Patties are company fare, but the family deserves them, too. Often a little extra effort is needed to tempt appetites in hot weather. The need for well-balanced, high-protein meals continues throughout the year.

Combine ground beef, mushrooms, ½ cup liquid, bread crumbs, onion, Worcestershire sauce, salt, pepper and egg. Remove ends and seeds from green peppers. Cut each into 3 one-inch rings. Place green pepper rings in a shallow baking pan. Pack meat mixture into pepper rings. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 35 minutes. Combine catchup and grated cheese and spoon over patties. Continue baking 10 minutes. 6 servings.

Frozen Lemon-Apple Fluff Pie

Here's a pie, frozen, lemon-y and full of the happy delight of apples. To eat it makes people think they're cooler, whether they actually are or not. So Frozen Lemon-Apple Fluff is a marvelous bet for any hostess to have tucked away in her freezer ready to cheer the Wilted.

The accent is on frozen. The filling is frozen, the sweet tender cookie crust is frozen and the scoops on top are ice cream. The only things not icy-chill are the mint sprig and maraschino cherry that decorate each serving.

The taste of this pie adds to the general cooling effect, too. It tastes of apples, tingly and zesty because tangy apple juice is its mainstay. Then there's the tartness of lemon. And, finally, both apple juice and lemon are fluffed with whipped cream.

This is a pie "easy as pie" to make, and just enough different to be fun to serve . . . as either a patio refreshment or for a family meal. In fact, why not make several while you're about it.

- 2 cups apple juice
- 1 package (3-ounce) lemon or apple flavored gelatin

To make pie shell: Cut chilled cookie dough roll into slices ⅛ inch thick. Fill 9-inch pie plate with slices, overlapping to cover bottom and standing upright around edge. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, 20 minutes or until brown. Cookie pie crust will be puffed and soft when it comes out of oven, but will become crisp when cool. Crust should be cold before adding filling. Filling: Heat apple juice; stir in gelatin and sugar until dissolved. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon. Then beat until very fluffy. Fold in lemon rind and whipped cream; freeze until set. Or refrigerate overnight Serve topped with spoonfuls of vanilla ice cream. If desired garnish with fresh mint sprigs and maraschino cherries. Makes 6-8 servings.

Grilled Apple Sauce Stuffed Frankfurters

For a lazy warm day summer supper you couldn't make a happier choice than a platter of these plump stuffed grilled frankfurters wrapped in crisp bacon.

It's the stuffing that makes the frankfurters extra good and tasty. That is a nice thick mixture of tangy canned apple sauce, sharply seasoned bread crumbs and butter. It's spooned lavishly into the split frankfurters which are then wrapped with bacon and slipped under the broiler or onto the outdoor grill.

In the broiling, the apple sauce keeps the frankfurters sizzling juicy and succulent and adds its own apple fruitness. The bacon curls crisp and brown around them. In the eating you taste the full flavor of all of them . . . apples, frankfurters and bacon . . . and a savory partnership it is.

This is a dish for a family meal, for a guest meal . . . one you can always count on to be a hit. With it, you might serve chilled tomato shells filled with coleslaw, and big buns, split, buttered and heated.

All told, here is honest hearty fare . . . but fare nevertheless that's perked to bright zest to tempt summer appetites.

Grilled Apple Sauce Stuffed Frankfurters

- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
- 8 frankfurters
- 8 bacon slices
- ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1 cup canned apple sauce

Combine bread crumbs, butter or margarine and poultry seasoning. Cook apple sauce about 7 minutes or until thickened, stirring occasionally. Add to crumb mixture. Split frankfurters almost through to bottom, lengthwise. Fill with apple sauce mixture. Wrap 1 slice bacon around each frankfurter; fasten with tooth picks. Broil 8 minutes. makes 4 servings.

The Battery is a 21-acre park at the extreme southern tip of Manhattan Island in New York City.

Barbecue Sauce

Slow cooking over coals will dry out foods unless they are kept moist with a basting sauce. This recipe, combining the flavors of tomato and orange, also adds just the right fillip for a rotisseried turkey. The tasty canned tomato sauce is a perfect base for many barbecue sauces.

Start basting the turkey about 30 to 45 minutes before it is done. Left-over turkey in the sauce makes ideal "barbecue-turkey-burgers" the second day. Just reheat it all together and serve in buns.

Recipe

- 2 (8-ounce) cans tomato sauce
- 1 cup orange juice
- ½ cup pure vegetable oil
- 4 tablespoons Worchestershire sauce
- ¼ cup honey
- 1 large clove garlic, minced
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- ½ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Simmer, uncovered, 15 to 20 minutes. Use sauce to baste turkey while barbecuing on rotisserie spit. Makes about 2½ cups. Serve extra sauce, hot, with turkey.

Avocado Delight

- Avocado (about 8 oz.)
- Cream Cheese (3 oz.)
- 1 Med. onion, grated
- Salt, to taste
- 2 tbsp. mayonnaise
- 3 slices bacon
- ¼ c. crushed potato chips
- ½ tsp. Lemon juice
- Ripe olives and pimiento

Scoop flesh from ripe avocado. Mash with cheese. Season with salt, onion and enough mayonnaise to make soft paste. Stir in potato chips and crisp cooked crumbled bacon. Serve on toasted bread triangles. Garnish with strips of pimiento and slivers of ripe olive.

The accent is on frozen. The filling is frozen, the sweet tender cookie crust is frozen and the scoops on top are ice cream. The only things not icy-chill are the mint sprig and maraschino cherry that decorate each serving.

The taste of this pie adds to the general cooling effect, too. It tastes of apples, tingly and zesty because tangy apple juice is its mainstay. Then there's the tartness of lemon. And, finally, both apple juice and lemon are fluffed with whipped cream.

This is a pie "easy as pie" to make, and just enough different to be fun to serve . . . as either a patio refreshment or for a family meal. In fact, why not make several while you're about it.

FROZEN LEMON-APPLE FLUFF PIE

1 roll refrigerator sugar cookie dough
2 cups apple juice
1 package (3-ounce) lemon or apple flavored gelatin
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
1½ cups heavy cream, whipped

To make pie shell: Cut chilled cookie dough roll into slices ⅛ inch thick. Fill 9-inch pie plate with slices, overlapping to cover bottom and standing upright around edge. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, 20 minutes or until brown. Cookie pie crust will be puffed and soft when it comes out of oven, but will become crisp when cool. Crust should be cold before adding filling. Filling: Heat apple juice; stir in gelatin and sugar until dissolved. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon. Then beat until very fluffy. Fold in lemon rind and whipped cream; freeze until set. Or refrigerate overnight. Serve topped with spoonfuls of vanilla ice cream. If desired garnish with fresh mint sprigs and maraschino cherries. Makes 6-8 servings.

Celery Fingers

1 bunch celery
¼ lb. American cheese
1¼ pkg. Roquefort
3 oz. cream cheese
3 tbsp. cream
1 tsp. sugar
¼ c. crumbled potato chips
Paprika for top

Grate American cheese into mixing bowl. Crumble Roquefort. Add to American cheese with other ingredients and blend well. Cover, chill. Clean celery and cut into finger lengths. Fill each piece with cheese mixture. Dash paprika on top.

Three-Way Crab Delight

This unusual recipe can be used to make a beautiful crab meat cocktail, a hot soup, or a festive molded salad, as the occasion dictates. (Serves 6.)

Jellied Crab Cocktail

2 cans (10½ oz.) condensed consomme'
¼ cup lime juice, or juice of 2 limes
2 pkgs. (6 oz.) frozen Alaska king crab meat, defrosted and drained
⅓ cup stuffed olive slices
¼ cup celery slices
grated lime rind

Mix consomme' with lime juice, crab meat, olives and celery. Chill at least 4 hours. Spoon into cocktail glasses. Sprinkle with grated lime rind. Serve with crackers.

Hot King Crab Soup

Molded King Crab Salad

Dissolve 1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin in the lime juice. Let soak 5 minutes. Heat over low flame until gelatin mixture is clear and dissolved. Add gelatin to consomme'. Blend well. Chill until consomme' is slightly jelled. Fold in remaining ingredients. Pour into lightly oiled 1-quart mold. Chile until firm. Unfold. Serve with greens and sour cream-caper dressing, made by adding 2 tablespoons drained capers to 1 cup sour cream.

It's Straw Hat Time

Pick yourself some scarlet berries and make this pie. A sweet, transparent glaze filling brimful of berries nestles in a tender pie crust lined with softened cream cheese — delicious!

Glazed Strawberry Pie

Makes one 9-inch pie

Pie Crust:

One half 10-oz. pkg. (1-cup) Pie crust mix
2 tablespoons cold water

Filling:

One 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup water
2 pints fresh strawberries, washed and hulled

Sweetened whipped cream

Heat oven to hot (425°F.). For pie crust, measure 1 cup pie crust mix into bowl. Sprinkle cold water by tablespoons over mix; stir lightly with fork until just dampened. (If necessary, add another one-half tablespoon cold water to make dough hold together.) Form into ball. Roll dough out on lightly floured board or canvas to form 13-inch circle. Fit loosely into 9-inch pie plate. Trim; flute edges; prick bottom and sides. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) 10 to 12 minutes. Cool.

Blend together cream cheese and confectioners' sugar; spread on bottom and sides of baked pie crust. Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan; stir in water and 1 cup strawberries. Cook over medium heat until thickened and clear; reduce heat to low and cook 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Cool 5 minutes. Arrange remaining strawberries in pie crust. Pour cooled glaze over strawberries. Just before serving, garnish with sweetened whipped cream.

Strawberry Frost

Strawberry soda
1 scoop lemon sherbert

Fill 6 ounce sherbet-champagne glass with chilled soda, leaving room for scoop of lemon sherbet. Garnish with lemon peel, maraschino cherry. Makes 1 serving.

Food Shopping Guide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many of the meat, vegetable, and fruit favorites for the Fourth of July holiday will be good buys at food counters this weekend.

Best vegetable buys for this weekend include beets, cabbage, collards, dandelions, sweet corn, endive-escarole, green onions, kale, mushrooms, plain parsley, and peas.

Top buys will be potatoes, radishes, spinach, squash, sweet potatoes, and Boston and Romaine lettuce.

Meat counters will be amply stocked with round roasts. Chuck steaks, boneless chuck roasts, and corn briskets.

In the poultry department, broiler-fryers and turkeys will be in good supply.

There will be plenty of clams, blue fish, halibut, fillets, and crab meat.

Grilled Apple Sauce Stuffed Frankfurters

For a lazy warm day summer supper you couldn't make a happier choice than a platter of these plump stuffed grilled frankfurters wrapped in crisp bacon.

It's the stuffing that makes the frankfurters extra good and tasty. That is a nice thick mixture of tangy canned apple sauce, sharply seasoned bread crumbs and butter. It's spooned lavishly into the split frankfurters which are then wrapped with bacon and slipped under the broiler or onto the outdoor grill.

In the broiling, the apple sauce keeps the frankfurters sizzling juicy and succulent and adds its own apple fruitness. The bacon curls crisp and brown around them. In the eating you taste the full flavor of all of them . . . apples, frankfurters and bacon . . . and a savory partnership it is.

This is a dish for a family meal, for a guest meal . . . one you can always count on to be a hit. With it, you might serve chilled tomato shells filled with coleslaw, and big buns, split, buttered and heated.

All told, here is honest hearty fare . . . but fare nevertheless that's perked to bright zest to tempt summer appetites.

Grilled Apple Sauce Stuffed Frankfurters

1 cup soft bread crumbs
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
8 frankfurters
8 bacon slices
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 cup canned apple sauce

Combine bread crumbs, butter or margarine and poultry seasoning. Cook apple sauce about 7 minutes or until thickened, stirring occasionally. Add to crumb mixture. Split frankfurters almost through to bottom, lengthwise. Fill with apple sauce mixture. Wrap 1 slice bacon around each frankfurter; fasten with tooth picks. Broil 8 minutes. makes 4 servings.

The Battery is a 21-acre park at the extreme southern tip of Manhattan Island in New York City.

Barbecue Sauce

Slow cooking over coals will dry out foods unless they are kept moist with a basting sauce. This recipe, combining the flavors of tomato and orange, also adds just the right fillip for a rotisseried turkey. The tasty canned tomato sauce is a perfect base for many barbecue sauces.

Start basting the turkey about 30 to 45 minutes before it is done. Left-over turkey in the sauce makes ideal "barbecue-turkey-burgers" the second day. Just reheat it all together and serve in buns.

Recipe

2 (8-ounce) cans tomato sauce
1 cup orange juice
½ cup pure vegetable oil
4 tablespoons Worchestershire sauce
¼ cup honey
1 large clove garlic, minced
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon chili powder
½ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Simmer, uncovered, 15 to 20 minutes. Use sauce to baste turkey while barbecuing on rotisserie spit. Makes about 2½ cups. Serve extra sauce, hot, with turkey.

Avocado Delight

Avocado (about 8 oz.)
Cream Cheese (3 oz.)
1 Med. onion, grated
Salt, to taste
2 tbsp. mayonnaise
3 slices bacon
¼ c. crushed potato chips
½ tsp. Lemon juice
Ripe olives and pimiento

Scoop flesh from ripe avocado. Mash with cheese. Season with salt, onion and enough mayonnaise to make soft paste. Stir in potato chips and crisp cooked crumbled bacon. Serve on toasted bread triangles. Garnish with strips of pimiento and slivers of ripe olive.

Barron Lauds ARA Approval Of Funds

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Gov. W. W. Barron said Wednesday that Area Redevelopment Administration approval of about $24 million in loans and grants to four recreational facilities represents "one of the greatest single developments in the history of the state."

The money will go for projects at Bluestone, Hawks Nest and Blackwater Falls State Park and the Twin Falls Recreation Area in Wyoming County.

Barron said the federal funds will directly provide 1,000 new jobs, 2,500 indirect jobs and enable several hundred persons to find employment in construction work.

"The increase in business income from new tourist trade will run to immeasurable millions," Barron said.

Barron said approval of the projects came in spite of the vote of Rep. Arch Moore, R-W. Va., against extending $455 million in authorized funds to the ARA in House defeat of the measure two weeks ago. The Senate approved its version of the measure Wednesday and the House will act on the proposal again.

"Federal authorities agreed with us that the projects are worthy and deserving of full support and on their own merit won final approval even though the 1st District Congressman had expressed violent opposition to ARA activities," Barron said.

"It is inconceivable that any representative of West Virginia's people could oppose and persuade others to also vote against a program bringing such wonderful benefits to our state," Barron said.

Moore indicated earlier, however, that he may change his mind if given some assurances that West Virginia projects will be expedited.

"I don't want a bucketfull of promises and halfway commitments," he said.

Rowlesburg Water Rate Hike Gets PSC Approval

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The Public Service Commission approved Wednesday an application by the community of Rowlesburg, Preston County, to raise water rates and institute charges for sewer service.

Both the State Health Department and Department of Natural Resources ordered the town to cease pollution of the Cheat river. The Health Department said the community's water system has been unsafe since 1944.

Proposed water rates would raise the minimum from $1 to $3.80 a month. Rates for sewer service would be based upon amount of water used and would carry the same monthly minimum of $3.80.

Keyser High Class Of 1923 Establishes Memorial Scholarship At Potomac State

KEYSER — The Class of 1923 at Keyser High School held a reunion dinner Saturday night in Rosemont Restaurant and marked the occasion by establishing a scholarship at Potomac State College in memory of Miss Leona P. Gift, only deceased member of the group.

Seventeen of the 28 original class members were in attendance to observe their 40th anniversary of graduation. Only three were absent two years ago.

Miss Myra Nefflen, one of the class teachers, was present to help celebrate the event and read the "In Memoriam" to Miss Gift who died several years ago after many years of service as a teacher in Keyser Elementary School.

The scholarship in her honor is the first to be given at Potomac State by a high school class and is valued at $250 per year. The scholarship committee was composed of Miss Madalyn Bazzle, Warner T. Lowry and H. R. Athey.

Mrs. Lillian Wright, Mrs. Gladys McDowell and J. M. Bright planned the reunion.

Others present for the reunion were Wesley Blackburn, Cumberland; Mrs. Rosalie Spangler, Ridgeley; Mary Frances Brown, Clarksburg; Max Brown, Morgantown; Brooke Dennison, Pittsburgh; John Isles, Washington; Chester Liller, Kingwood; Howard McFarland, Baltimore; Mrs. Julia Stallings, Johnstown; Earl Boyd, Keyser, and Richard Kiser, Pinto.

Also attending were three former class members who did not graduate with their class here: Mrs. Mary Robinson Summers, Cleveland; Mrs. Dorothy Wright, Washington, and James Cavitt, Los Angeles.

Unable to be present were Mary Wilson, Ruth Hines Storer and Carrie Porter Hosier, Cumberland; Elfreda Bailey Martin, Middletown, Pa.; Louis Mayola, Fairchance, Pa.; James Naughton, Elizabeth, N. J.; Pearl Oster Senne, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Frances Romsburg Bechtel, East Berlin, Pa.; Hazel Taylor Miller, Fairmont, and Elsie Tephabaugh Barricks, Roswell, N. M.

A unique feature of the class is that all but two went on to some level of college training and that 16 of them became teachers for a present-day combined total of 375 years in that profession. Two from the class became attorneys, including H. R. Athey of Keyser, who was toastmaster. Other professions and trades represented include nursing, chemistry, textile manufacturing, newspaper reporting, politics, radio program directing, engineering, executives with the Bureau of Mines and Trailways, Inc., and other fields.

Several in the class maintain that the fact the class has compiled such an enviable record was that in those days not much money was available for foolishness and that the matter-of-fact items of today were then considered luxuries. Rather than spend money on soft-drinks, candy and other confectionaries, the group was content to munch a dill pickle. "They didn't cost much and went a long way."

As one observer pointed out following the gathering: "Those who know these folks, many of them teachers and public-minded citizens, are convinced that the pickle. "They didn't cost much and dispositions for they are still fun-loving, full of pep and just as eager to make the grade as they were on the night of their commencement back in 1923."

Miss Bazzle, long-time Mineral County schoolteacher and presently justice of the peace in Keyser, was quick to point out another record of which the class is proud. "Not a single person has been or is presently on public welfare rolls," she said.

Athey, who was president of his class, said that another reunion is planned in 1965.

The theme for the week is "Indians" with each patrol taking the name of an Indian tribe and studying its history. Games are also those used by the Indians. At each campfire, challenges are issued by the various patrols for such things as Indian wrestling and other sports.

Known as "Camp Merrie Woode" the group meets daily from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. with the exception of today when they begin their activities at noon and conclude with a campfire to which their parents and friends are invited to attend.

War On Weeds In Progress At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — A campaign to rid this community of unsightly and unhealthy weeds is in progress, according to George Kennedy, police commissioner, who said Ordinance 489, pertaining to weeds, will be enforced.

The maximum fine for violation of the ordinance is $50, said the commissioner. He indicated that many property owners here have spent money improving their land and it is unfair to them to allow others to let weeds grow on nearby property.

The city council recently commended property owners on South Water Street, between College Avenue and Linden Street, for their cooperation in laying sidewalks.

Barron Lauds ARA Approval Of Funds

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— Gov. W. W. Barron said Wednesday that Area Redevelopment Administration approval of about $24 million in loans and grants to four recreational facilities represents "one of the greatest single developments in the history of the state."

The money will go for projects at Bluestone, Hawks Nest and Blackwater Falls State Park and the Twin Falls Recreation Area in Wyoming County.

Barron said the federal funds will directly provide 1,000 new jobs, 2,500 indirect jobs and enable several hundred persons to find employment in construction work.

"The increase in business income from new tourist trade will run to immeasurable millions," Barron said.

Barron said approval of the projects came in spite of the vote of Rep. Arch Moore, R-W. Va., against extending $455 million in authorized funds to the ARA in House defeat of the measure two weeks ago. The Senate approved its version of the measure Wednesday and the House will act on the proposal again.

"Federal authorities agreed with us that the projects are worthy and deserving of full support and on their own merit won final approval even though the 1st District Congressman had expressed violent opposition to ARA activities," Barron said.

"It is inconceivable that any representative of West Virginia's people could oppose and persuade others to also vote against a program bringing such wonderful benefits to our state," Barron said.

Moore indicated earlier, however, that he may change his mind if given some assurances that West Virginia projects will be expedited.

"I don't want a bucketfull of promises and halfway commitments," he said.

Rowlesburg Water Rate Hike Gets PSC Approval

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— The Public Service Commission approved Wednesday an application by the community of Rowlesburg, Preston County, to raise water rates and institute charges for sewer service.

The approval is contingent upon the passage of a $186,000 revenue bond issue Friday which along with $169,817 in federal grants would be used for construction of a sewer system and improvement of the present water system.

Both the State Health Department and Department of Natural Resources ordered the town to cease pollution of the Cheat river. The Health Department said the community's water system has been unsafe since 1944.

Proposed water rates would raise the minimum from $1 to $3.80 a month. Rates for sewer service would be based upon amount of water used and would carry the same monthly minimum of $3.80.

Mayor James Heath, community recorder Max Fortney and 22 other citizens appeared before the PSC on behalf of the application.

Keyser High Class Of 1923 Establishes Memorial Scholarship At Potomac State

KEYSER — The Class of 1923 at Keyser High School held a reunion dinner Saturday night in Rosemont Restaurant and marked the occasion by establishing a scholarship at Potomac State College in memory of Miss Leona P. Gift, only deceased member of the group.

Seventeen of the 28 original class members were in attendance to observe their 40th anniversary of graduation. Only three were absent two years ago.

Miss Myra Neffen, one of the class teachers, was present to help celebrate the event and read the "In Memoriam" to Miss Gift who died several years ago after many years of service as a teacher in Keyser Elementary School.

The scholarship in her honor is the first to be given at Potomac State by a high school class and is valued at $250 per year. The scholarship committee was composed of Miss Madalyn Bazzle, Warner T. Lowry and H. R. Athey.

Mrs. Lillian Wright, Mrs. Gladys McDowell and J. M. Bright planned the reunion.

Others present for the reunion were Wesley Blackburn, Cumberland; Mrs. Rosalie Spangler, Ridgeley; Mary Frances Brown, Clarksburg; Max Brown, Morgantown; Brooke Dennison, Pittsburgh; John Isles, Washington; Chester Liller, Kingwood; Howard McFarland, Baltimore; Mrs. Julia Stallings, Johnstown; Earl Boyd, Keyser, and Richard Kiser, Pinto.

Also attending were three former class members who did not graduate with their class here: Mrs. Mary Robinson Summers, Cleveland; Mrs. Dorothy Wright, Washington, and James Cavitt, Los Angeles.

Unable to be present were Mary Wilson, Ruth Hines Storer and Carrie Porter Hosier, Cumberland; Elfreda Bailey Martin, Middletown, Pa.; Louis Mayola, Fairchance, Pa.; James Naughton, Elizabeth, N. J.; Pearl Oster Senne, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Frances Romsburg Bechtel, East Berlin, Pa.; Hazel Taylor Miller, Fairmont, and Elsie Tephabaugh Barricks, Roswell, N. M.

A unique feature of the class is that all but two went on to some level of college training and that 16 of them became teachers for a present-day combined total of 375 years in that profession. Two from the class became attorneys, including H. R. Athey of Keyser, who was toastmaster. Other professions and trades represented include nursing, chemistry, textile manufacturing, newspaper reporting, politics, radio program directing, engineering, executives with the Bureau of Mines and Trailways, Inc., and other fields.

Several in the class maintain that the fact the class has compiled such an enviable record was that in those days not much money was available for foolishness and that the matter-of-fact items of today were then considered luxuries. Rather than spend money on soft-drinks, candy and other confectionaries, the group was content to munch a dill pickle. "They didn't cost much and went a long way."

As one observer pointed out following the gathering: "Those who know these folks, many of them teachers and public-minded citizens, are convinced that the pickle. "They didn't cost much and dispositions for they are still fun-loving, full of pep and just as eager to make the grade as they were on the night of their commencement back in 1923."

Miss Bazzle, long-time Mineral County schoolteacher and presently justice of the peace in Keyser, was quick to point out another record of which the class is proud. "Not a single person has been or is presently on public welfare rolls," she said.

Many New Products On Market Come In Spray Containers

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Everything's featuring "spray" these days — from antiseptics and bandages to calking compounds and wood stain.

From Johnson & Johnson, New Brunswick, N. J. comes a new, Band-Aid Spray Antiseptic which, it is said, "retains a major germ-fighting activity in the presence of blood, inhibiting the growth of infection-spreading bacteria inside a wound as well as on the surface." Said to be non-toxic, non-staining and non-irritating. The cooling aerosol spray is said to help relieve pain quickly. Although primarily designed for treatment of bleeding injuries it is said to be effective also for cuts, scrapes, burns and non-poisonous insect bites.

Alberto-Culver Co., Melrose Park, Ill., has introduced a new medicated spray bandage, Safeguard, which forms a durable, flexible plastic coating that cannot peel, curl or wrinkle and permits aeration of the wound. The bandage, in an aerosol container, may be removed easily with warm water without pulling away the scab formation of a wound. Said to be stingless, and to provide medication up to 24 hours for cuts, scratches, burns and abrasions and to relieve itching and pain from insect bites.

A new spray-on wood stain has been introduced by Sears, Roebuck & Co., Chicago, which is said to be ideal for ready-to-finish furniture, especially pieces such as louvered shutters that have surfaces difficult to cover with a wiping stain. It is said even runs in the stain will disappear after 10 to 15 minutes of drying time. Sold under the Master-Mixed label, the stain is available in provincial, red maple, cherry, fruitwood, driftwood and walnut finish.

A new White Instant Caulk, in aerosol package, makes it possible with a press of a finger to lay a bead of calk quickly and evenly around bathtub or sink, patch cracks or recondition a boat. Made by Curtis Products, Chicago.

From S. C. Johnson & Son, Inc., Racine, Wis., comes a new Spray-Shine Carnu for auto cleaning and polishing. The product, sprayed on a car one section at a time, is spread by cloth with firm circular motions then wiped off with a clean cloth when dry. A car that is only dusty or moderately dirty need not be washed first. The cleaner-polish also is suitable for use on pleasure boats of aluminum fiber glass or wood.

A different kind of spray, but one that will be welcomed by travelers is General Electric's new portable, spray, steam and dry iron. The new iron features a manual spray attachment for the water bulb and a regular bulb cap for steam ironing. Weighing only 26 ounces, the iron has thermostatically controlled temperature settings, a folding handle and a zipper storage bag.

Will Build Home

Milton L. Sarver, 218 Avirett Avenue, secured a permit from the City of Cumberland yesterday to build a one-story dwelling at 700 Adams Avenue. It will be about 26 by 42 feet and of frame construction.

Oral Roberts University Being Built Near Tulsa

By GEORGE RHOADES
United Press International

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Evangelist Oral Roberts preaches the oldtime gospel. But the university his organization is building on the outskirts of Tulsa will be supermodern, pushbutton and designed for the Space Age.

Giant computer-brains, loaded with information from a 500,000-volume library, will be able to scan, retrieve and record data for students in minutes.

Dormitory rooms and faculty homes will be equipped with closed-circuit television sets, earphones and a dial system connected with a complicated, electric "learning resources center."

Students will be able to dial this center, report what is wanted on individual television sets or earphones and have it piped right into their rooms.

Designs Dining Tables

Dr. O. R. Corvin, chancellor of the school to be known as the Oral Roberts University, said even the dining room tables will be designed to aid students in their pursuit of knowledge.

"The tables will be hexagon shape to encourage discussion and stimulate the art of conversation," he said. "We are creating a learning situation here. We want the student to be able to learn from the time he awakens in the morning until he falls asleep at night."

Corvin says the university will be a fully-accredited liberal arts school, eventually enrolling 3,000 students in a $50 million educational plan.

Ground was broken in March, 1962, and $3 million worth of construction has been completed. Corvin says $6 million more will be finished when the school receives its first class of 600 selected students in the fall of 1965.

The money comes from the Oral Roberts Evangelistic Association and donations from the evangelist's estimated 25 million followers.

Aim For Quality

"This university we are building," Corvin explained, "will have Christianity and academic excellence as its driving force. We are convinced that the excitement of learning can be accomplished in the warmth of a Christian liberal arts university."

The university will offer bachelors degrees in philosphy, language arts, fine arts, social sciences, mathematics and business administration.

Corvin said the school would be coeducational and about 20 per cent of the students would be from foreign countries. He said it would not be a requirement for students to be Christian.

"But the faculty will be," he added.

Church Will Honor Two County Men

Two Allegany County men will be honored Sunday at 4 p. m. at the Cathedral of Mary Our Queen in Baltimore when they will become Knights of St. Gregory.

Both men, William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland and Circuit Court judge who practices law here, and Chief Judge Michael J. Manley of the Baltimore Supreme Bench, were named to receive the papal honor last April by Pope John. Judge Manley is a native of Midland.

Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan of the Baltimore Archdiocese will install Walsh and Manley along with eight other layman who will receive the papal knighthood.

65 Players From 17 Clubs Vie In 13th CCC Golf Tourney

36-Hole Medal Play Test Will Start At 9 A.M.

Mary Alice Sawyer, Miss Kaufman, Jane Schiller Head Field

Sixty-five players representing 16 out-of-town clubs and the host organization will tee off today as the thirteenth annual Invitation Tournament of the Women's Golf Association gets under way at the Cumberland Country Club.

Starting time in the 36-hole medal play tourney will be 9 a.m. Eighteen holes will be played today and a like number Friday over the Christie Road course.

Champ Defends Title

Jane Schiller, of Green Hills Country Club, Salisbury, Md., is the defending champion and she will be seeking her second leg on the Old Export Bowl, the top prize offered by the Cumberland Brewing Company to the player with low gross score for 36 holes. A year ago, Miss Schiller hung up a new tournament record of 77-73—150, finishing 11 strokes ahead of her closest competitor.

Fifty-three players participated in the 1962 tournament at the local club.

Since the invitational tournaments were inaugurated in 1951 two Old Export Bowls were retired. Mary Ann Downey won in 1953, 1954 and 1955 to gain permanent possession of the first trophy and Mrs. Robert Hughes, of Richmond, who was Barbara Diggs prior to her marriage, was the winner in 1959, 1960 and 1961.

Mary Alice Sawyer, of Clifton Park, Baltimore, and Midge Kaufman, of the Woodholme Country Club, Baltimore, winner and runner-up, respectively, in the Baltimore City championship tournament last week, are here to battle it out with Miss Schiller for top honors.

Public Parks Champion

Miss Sawyer also is the 1963 public parks champion, having won that three-day event by the margin of 46 strokes. Mary Alice, 18, is the youngest champion in the 32-year history of the Baltimore tournament and will be competing here for the second time. Two years ago she finished fifth in the CCC event.

Miss Kaufman is the athletic director at Park School in Baltimore and had participated in several tournaments here in past years.

Jane Schiller is a two handicap player, Miss Sawyer six and Miss Kaufman seven. Other seven handicap players among the entrants are Mrs. Jack Smith, of the Prince Georges Country Club; Mrs. Wilson Howard of the Argyle Country Club and Mrs. Harry Hershberg, of the Indian Spring Country Club.

Mrs. Walter Quick and Mrs. Stanley Bociek, who are listed among the entries, are the champion and runner-up, respectively, at the Sparrows Point Club this year.

The 16 out-of-town clubs represented this year are Manor, Congressional, Prince Georges, Glendale, Indian Spring, Lakewood and Argyle, of the Washington, D.C., area; Sparrows Point, Rolling Road, Country Club of Maryland, Suburban, Clifton Park and Woodholme, of the Baltimore section; Green Hills, Salisbury; Mill Creek, of Burlington, W. Va., and Maplehurst of Frostburg.

25 Trophies Offered

Twenty-five silver trophies will be distributed among the players at the conclusion of the 36-hole test Friday evening. The champion gets possession of the Old Export Bowl for one year and a replica of the trophy for keeps. There will be three trophies offered in each division for low net and low gross scorers. The prizes will be presented by Charles S. "Bill" Catherman, Jr.

Par for the local course is 36-35—71 and winter rules will prevail during the tournament. Players have been divided into three divisions, the first for those with handicaps from 1 to 15, the second 14 to 21 and the third for 22 through 25.

A cocktail party will be held for the players today at 6:30 p.m., and a buffet luncheon is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

AAU Agrees To Peace Talks

Rival U.S. Track Groups To Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Col. D. Hull, executive secretary of the AAU, agreed Wednesday to meet the rival U.S. Track Federation for a peace parley July 8-9 and suggested New York as the site.

Hull said the dates, which were proposed by federation chief Charles (Chic) Werner, were satisfactory, but said he would be busy at the time in New York handling departure preparations for the U.S. team for Moscow.

He asked Werner to come here for the meeting.

The American squad, picked on the basis of performances at the AAU national championship last week in St. Louis, will meet Russia in the annual dual meet July 20-21.

The squad will also have meets in Poland, Germany and England.

The two groups are fighting for control of track in this country. The federation was formed by the NCAA, which is also battling the AAU for control in some other sports.

When the fight reached the stage where it threatened to wreck the U.S. team to Russia and the American Olympic team next year, President Kennedy appointed Gen. Douglas MacArthur to arbitrate it.

MacArthur ruled that the two groups should go along as they have in the past until after the Olympics, and told the federation to stop quibbling, when it balked at his ruling.

The call for a peace conference to see if the differences could be patched up followed. The organizations have traded comments since.

Kiwanis Snaps Salvation Army Win Streak, 7-1

City Optimists, Rotary Also Win

The Kiwanis Club repeated 1962 Hot Stove League history by handing the Salvation Army its first defeat in seven outings yesterday at Mason Road Field. The score was 7-1.

Salvation Army was riding high with a 6 and 0 record at this time last season when Kiwanis interrupted the win streak.

Jim Brannon struck out 11 Salvation Army batters and Terry Deremer fanned seven Kiwanis players yesterday, with neither pitcher allowing a walk. Tommy Lewis tripled for Kiwanis, and Joe Wiley, Eddie White and Steve Friend each had two singles. Kunis had a double and a single for Salvation Army. Kiwanis now has four wins and three losses.

Rotary trounced the Lions at Penn Avenue, 12-2. Jim Bennett was four-for-four at the plate, including a home run, two doubles and a single. Pete Foley also homered, and Ed Hollen, Ernie Elliott and Tommy McGeady tripled for Rotary. Lantz tripled for the Lions. It was Rotary's third win against five losses, and the Lions' fourth loss against three wins.

The nightcap at Penn Avenue saw Cumberland Optimists defeat B'nai B'rith, 5-4, as Ollie Newcomer struck out nine and Rick Renotas tripled for the Optimists, who now have four wins and three losses. B'nai B'rith, which took its fifth loss against three wins, was held to four singles.

Eddie Cotton To Fight Scot

PAISLEY, Scotland (UPI) — Chic Calderwood, of Scotland, British and Empire light heavyweight champion, will fight American Eddie Cotton, the world's second-ranking contender, Thursday night at the Paisley Ice Rink.

Calderwood is trying to fight back into the top 10 rankings.

Cotton of Seattle, Wash., is gunning for another shot at the world 175-pound crown. He failed to win the title from Harold Johnson in 1961, but believes he could take it now from Willie Pastrano.

Twenty-six-year-old Calderwood scored three straight victories this year, including a decision over Von Clay of Philadelphia on May 30. Clay took such a beating that the final bell may have saved him from a knockout.

Blum Would Miss Holiday To Shoot For Riding Title

First Midwest Trip Pays Off For Jockey

By GEORGE C. LANGFORD
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI)—Jockey Walter Blum wouldn't work 12 months a year for money, but for the national riding championship he might ride day and night during his usual holiday.

Blum, leading currently in the race for the national crown and leading rider at Arlington Park, normally takes off between Thanksgiving and New Year's, even if he gets out of shape during his idleness.

But this year, he said, if he's in contention for the national title, "I'd even go to Cuba to ride, if I thought it would help me win."

Blum, a jockey for nine years in New York and New Jersey, made his first trip to the Midwest this summer, and it's been a jackpot for him. He has had nearly 160 winners and already his mounts have earned more than $500,000.

"The reason why I'm leading in wins is simple, better horses. I worked with some of the trainers who are here, like Del Carroll and Arnold Winick, and thought I could come out here and get some good rides."

Keeps Busy

Blum has averaged more than six rides a day and several times has been up in all nine races. One day he rode four winners, for a jockey comparable to a course record sub-par round for a golfer.

"A jockey has to stay in extremely good shape, and the best way to do it is to ride every day," Blum said. "So I try to ride 11 months out of the year.

"We get out of shape just on the one-day layoff from Saturday to Monday," Blum said. "Usually after your first race on Monday you're really winded, but after that you blow it out and you're OK."

Blum, a muscular 112 pounds, claimed he has a weight problem.

"If I ate three meals a day I'd get fat," he said, "maybe 125 or 130 pounds. So I just have one meal, at night after I get home from the track."

Rises Late

Blum rises about 10 a.m. on a racing day, has coffee and spends an hour or so with his two sons, ages 2 and 5, before going to the track about noon. They live in a rented home in the suburbs. On Sunday he usually plays golf, "not for exercise, just relaxation."

Joe Holwerda Wins First Flight Title

Joe Holwerda defeated Richard Tosh, 3 and 2, Tuesday to win the first flight championship of the men's spring golf tournament at Maplehurst Country Club.

Mrs. Ann Cook was a double winner in ladies' competition at MCC. She won the "A" division of an odd-even hole tournament with a low net score of 23, and her 106-27-79 was good enough for first place in an 18-hole event.

Mrs. Diddy Sleeman won the "B" division of the odd-event tourney with a 24, and Mrs. Pat Bernard and Mrs. Lydia Reeves tied in the "C" group with 29s.

Al Lopez Jr. Enters Pro Ball

CHICAGO (AP) — Al Lopez Jr. has entered professional baseball ranks, but it won't be like father, like son in position.

The 21-year-old son of Chicago White Sox Manager Al Lopez, who holds the major league record for most games as a catcher (1,918) signed Tuesday night as a shortstop with the Sox' Middlesboro club in the Appalachian (all-rookie) League.

"In the beginning, I took a look at dad's hands," said young Lopez, a three-season baseball star at the University of Florida, "and I decided to play in the field."

Senor Lopez, who was 21 when he broke in with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1930, proudly watched his boy sign his first professional contract in a small office off the White Sox dressing room.

If the elder Lopez has gnarled fingers, there is reason enough. As a major league catcher 19 years, Lopez also set a National League record for most games as a catcher, 1,861, and is tied with Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs in most years catching 100 or more NL games at 12.

Young Lopez, who captained Florida's baseball team this spring, played both shortstop and outfield in college, batting .303, .325 and .275 the past three seasons.

Final Finish Beats Tread Room, 11-6

Final Finish won its third game in 15 starts by defeating Tread Room, 11-6, in a Kelly Softball League game yesterday at County Field.

Glenn Decker and Dale Bible each had two hits for the winners, and Mike McCullough had three for Tread Room in four times at bat. The loss was Tread Room's 11th against two wins.

Palmer Takes Over Lead In Golf Winnings

Boros Is Second, Nicklaus Third

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) —Arnold Palmer and Julius Boros both pushed ahead of Jack Nicklaus on the unofficial PGA money winning list for 1963 Monday as a result of their earnings in the U.S. Open golf championship at Brookline, Mass.

Palmer, the defending money champion from Latrobe, Pa., took over first-place on the list even though he was a loser in the three-way playoff in the Open. He received $7,000 in prize money plus a $1,500 bonus for the playoff round, a total of $8,500 that boosted his total for the year to $63,545.00.

Boros, who whipped Palmer and Jacky Cupit in the playoff to take the Open title, earned $16,000 plus the $1,500 bonus and the total of $17,500 gave him a total for the year of $59,680.00.

Nicklaus, the defending Open champion who surprisingly failed to make the cut to the low 50 scorers at the end of the second round of the Open and thus was shut out of the money payoff, stayed at $58,690.00 and dropped to third place.

Cupit, who matched Palmer's total of $7,500, just edged into the list of leaders at 10th place with $19,564.15.

Palmer remains the only golfer who has won four tournaments so far this year. Boros and Nicklaus have won three each. Champagne Tony Lema, fourth on the earnings list with $52,413.02, has been in the first five in the greatest number of tournaments, 10.

65 Players From 17 Clubs Vie In 13th CCC Golf Tourney

36-Hole Medal Play Test Will Start At 9 A.M.

Mary Alice Sawyer, Miss Kaufman, Jane Schiller Head Field

Sixty-five players representing 16 out-of-town clubs and the host organization will tee off today as the thirteenth annual Invitation Tournament of the Women's Golf Association gets under way at the Cumberland Country Club.

Starting time in the 36-hole medal play tourney will be 9 a.m. Eighteen holes will be played today and a like number Friday over the Christie Road course.

Champ Defends Title

Jane Schiller, of Green Hills Country Club, Salisbury, Md., is the defending champion and she will be seeking her second leg on the Old Export Bowl, the top prize offered by the Cumberland Brewing Company to the player with low gross score for 36 holes. A year ago, Miss Schiller hung up a new tournament record of 77-73—150, finishing 11 strokes ahead of her closest competitor.

Fifty-three players participated in the 1962 tournament at the local club.

Since the invitational tournaments were inaugurated in 1951 two Old Export Bowls were retired. Mary Ann Downey won in 1953, 1954 and 1955 to gain permanent possession of the first trophy and Mrs. Robert Hughes, of Richmond, who was Barbara Diggs prior to her marriage, was the winner in 1959, 1960 and 1961.

Mary Alice Sawyer, of Clifton Park, Baltimore, and Midge Kaufman, of the Woodholme Country Club, Baltimore, winner and runner-up, respectively, in the Baltimore City championship tournament last week, are here to battle it out with Miss Schiller for top honors.

Public Parks Champion

Miss Sawyer also is the 1963 public parks champion, having won that three-day event by the margin of 46 strokes. Mary Alice, 18, is the youngest champion in the 32-year history of the Baltimore tournament and will be competing here for the second time. Two years ago she finished fifth in the CCC event.

Miss Kaufman is the athletic director at Park School in Baltimore and had participated in several tournaments here in past years.

Jane Schiller is a two handicap player, Miss Sawyer six and Miss Kaufman seven. Other seven handicap players among the entrants are Mrs. Jack Smith, of the Prince Georges Country Club; Mrs. Wilson Howard of the Argyle Country Club and Mrs. Harry Hershberg, of the Indian Spring Country Club.

Mrs. Walter Quick and Mrs. Stanley Bociek, who are listed among the entries, are the champion and runner-up, respectively, at the Sparrows Point Club this year.

The 16 out-of-town clubs represented this year are Manor, Congressional, Prince Georges, Glendale, Indian Spring, Lakewood and Argyle, of the Washington, D.C., area; Sparrows Point, Rolling Road, Country Club of Maryland, Suburban, Clifton Park and Woodholme, of the Baltimore section; Green Hills, Salisbury; Mill Creek, of Burlington, W. Va., and Maplehurst of Frostburg.

25 Trophies Offered

Twenty-five silver trophies will be distributed among the players at the conclusion of the 36-hole test Friday evening. The champion gets possession of the Old Export Bowl for one year and a replica of the trophy for keeps. There will be three trophies offered in each division for low net and low gross scorers. The prizes will be presented by Charles S. "Bill" Catherman, Jr.

Par for the local course is 36-35—71 and winter rules will prevail during the tournament. Players have been divided into three divisions, the first for those with handicaps from 1 to 15, the second 14 to 21 and the third for 22 through 25.

A cocktail party will be held for the players today at 6:30 p.m., and a buffet luncheon is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

City Optimists, Rotary Also Win

The Kiwanis Club repeated 1962 Hot Stove League history by handing the Salvation Army its first defeat in seven outings yesterday at Mason Road Field. The score was 7-1.

Salvation Army was riding high with a 6 and 0 record at this time last season when Kiwanis interrupted the win streak.

Jim Brannon struck out 11 Salvation Army batters and Terry Deremer fanned seven Kiwanis players yesterday, with neither pitcher allowing a walk. Tommy Lewis tripled for Kiwanis, and Joe Wiley, Eddie White and Steve Friend each had two singles. Kunis had a double and a single for Salvation Army. Kiwanis now has four wins and three losses.

Rotary trounced the Lions at Penn Avenue, 12-2. Jim Bennett was four-for-four at the plate, including a home run, two doubles and a single. Pete Foley also homered, and Ed Hollen, Ernie Elliott and Tommy McGeady tripled for Rotary. Lantz tripled for the Lions. It was Rotary's third win against five losses, and the Lions' fourth loss against three wins.

The nightcap at Penn Avenue saw Cumberland Optimists defeat B'nai B'rith, 5-4, as Ollie Newcomer struck out nine and Rick Renotas tripled for the Optimists, who now have four wins and three losses. B'nai B'rith, which took its fifth loss against three wins, was held to four singles.

Eddie Cotton To Fight Scot

PAISLEY, Scotland (UPI) — Chic Calderwood, of Scotland, British and Empire light heavyweight champion, will fight American Eddie Cotton, the world's second-ranking contender, Thursday night at the Paisley Ice Rink.

Calderwood is trying to fight back into the top 10 rankings.

Cotton of Seattle, Wash., is gunning for another shot at the world 175-pound crown. He failed to win the title from Harold Johnson in 1961, but believes he could take it now from Willie Pastrano.

Twenty-six-year-old Calderwood scored three straight victories this year, including a decision over Von Clay of Philadelphia on May 30. Clay took such a beating that the final bell may have saved him from a knockout.

Ed Brown Signs Steeler Contract

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Quarterback Ed Brown, earmarked to fill the shoes of departed signal-caller Bobby Layne, Wednesday signed his second contract with the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League.

With the recent retirement of Layne from professional ball, Steeler coach Buddy Parker has pinned his hopes for a successful 1963 season on the strong arm of Brown, a former Chicago Bear quarterback.

Brown, who will be starting his 10th year in pro football, originally was drafted by the Bears in 1952 while still in the Marine Corps. Two years later he started his pro career and became the Bears top quarterback, leading them to the NFL championship with a 57 per cent completion average.

A graduate of San Francisco where he played college football, Brown is 6-2 and weighs 210 pounds.

Blum Would Miss Holiday To Shoot For Riding Title

First Midwest Trip Pays Off For Jockey

By GEORGE C. LANGFORD
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI)—Jockey Walter Blum wouldn't work 12 months a year for money, but for the national riding championship he might ride day and night during his usual holiday.

Blum, leading currently in the race for the national crown and leading rider at Arlington Park, normally takes off between Thanksgiving and New Year's, even if he gets out of shape during his idleness.

But this year, he said, if he's in contention for the national title, "I'd even go to Cuba to ride, if I thought it would help me win."

Blum, a jockey for nine years in New York and New Jersey, made his first trip to the Midwest this summer, and it's been a jackpot for him. He has had nearly 160 winners and already his mounts have earned more than $500,000.

"The reason why I'm leading in wins is simple, better horses. I worked with some of the trainers who are here, like Del Carroll and Arnold Winick, and thought I could come out here and get some good rides."

Keeps Busy

Blum has averaged more than six rides a day and several times has been up in all nine races. One day he rode four winners, for a jockey comparable to a course record sub-par round for a golfer.

"A jockey has to stay in extremely good shape, and the best way to do it is to ride every day," Blum said. "So I try to ride 11 months out of the year.

"We get out of shape just on the one-day layoff from Saturday to Monday," Blum said. "Usually after your first race on Monday you're really winded, but after that you blow it out and you're OK."

Blum, a muscular 112 pounds, claimed he has a weight problem.

"If I ate three meals a day I'd get fat," he said, "maybe 125 or 130 pounds. So I just have one meal, at night after I get home from the track."

Rises Late

Blum rises about 10 a.m. on a racing day, has coffee and spends an hour or so with his two sons, ages 2 and 5, before going to the track about noon. They live in a rented home in the suburbs. On Sunday he usually plays golf, "not for exercise, just relaxation."

Joe Holwerda Wins First Flight Title

Joe Holwerda defeated Richard Tosh, 3 and 2, Tuesday to win the first flight championship of the men's spring golf tournament at Maplehurst Country Club.

Mrs. Ann Cook was a double winner in ladies' competition at MCC. She won the "A" division of an odd-even hole tournament with a low net score of 23, and her 106-27-79 was good enough for first place in an 18-hole event.

Mrs. Diddy Sleeman won the "B" division of the odd-event tourney with a 24, and Mrs. Pat Bernard and Mrs. Lydia Reeves tied in the "C" group with 29s.

Al Lopez Jr. Enters Pro Ball

CHICAGO (AP) — Al Lopez Jr. has entered professional baseball ranks, but it won't be like father, like son in position.

The 21-year-old son of Chicago White Sox Manager Al Lopez, who holds the major league record for most games as a catcher (1,918) signed Tuesday night as a shortstop with the Sox' Middlesboro club in the Appalachian (all-rookie) League.

"In the beginning, I took a look at dad's hands," said young Lopez, a three-season baseball star at the University of Florida, "and I decided to play in the field."

Senor Lopez, who was 21 when he broke in with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1930, proudly watched his boy sign his first professional contract in a small office off the White Sox dressing room.

If the elder Lopez has gnarled fingers, there is reason enough. As a major league catcher 19 years, Lopez also set a National League record for most games as a catcher, 1,861, and is tied with Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs in most years catching 100 or more NL games at 12.

Young Lopez, who captained Florida's baseball team this spring, played both shortstop and outfield in college, batting .303, .325 and .275 the past three seasons.

Palmer Takes Over Lead In Golf Winnings

Boros Is Second, Nicklaus Third

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) —Arnold Palmer and Julius Boros both pushed ahead of Jack Nicklaus on the unofficial PGA money winning list for 1963 Monday as a result of their earnings in the U.S. Open golf championship at Brookline, Mass.

Palmer, the defending money champion from Latrobe, Pa., took over first-place on the list even though he was a loser in the three-way playoff in the Open. He received $7,000 in prize money plus a $1,500 bonus for the playoff round, a total of $8,500 that boosted his total for the year to $63,545.00.

Boros, who whipped Palmer and Jacky Cupit in the playoff to take the Open title, earned $16,000 plus the $1,500 bonus and the total of $17,500 gave him a total for the year of $59,680.00.

Nicklaus, the defending Open champion who surprisingly failed to make the cut to the low 50 scorers at the end of the second round of the Open and thus was shut out of the money payoff, stayed at $58,690.00 and dropped to third place.

Cupit, who matched Palmer's total of $7,500, just edged into the list of leaders at 10th place with $19,564.15.

Palmer remains the only golfer who has won four tournaments so far this year. Boros and Nicklaus have won three each. Champagne Tony Lema, fourth on the earnings list with $52,413.02, has been in the first five in the greatest number of tournaments, 10.

Yankees Edge Chisox, 3-2, To Take One-Game Lead In AL

Maris, Tresh Homer; Ford Wins Eleventh

New York Beats Sox First Time In Five Games

CHICAGO (UPI) — Roger Maris and Tom Tresh homered off rookie Gary Peters Wednesday night for a 3-2 win for Whitey Ford and the New York Yankees over the Chicago White Sox to take a one-game lead in the American League pennant race.

Hal Reniff stopped the White Sox in the final two innings to save Ford's 11th victory. Ford was removed with two outs in the seventh after Pete Ward, who had doubled, scored on Camilo Carreon's single.

Tresh was the most impressive of the Yankee hitters. He hit his 12th homer in the first inning, and in the fourth doubled and scored on Elston Howard's single. Maris' homer, his 16th, was his seventh in the last 10 games.

Peters worked seven innings and took his fourth loss before he was lifted for a pinch batter. He allowed only six hits, but four were for extra bases.

The Sox collected seven hits off Ford, only one for extra bases.

The win, first for New York over the Sox in five games, was the Yankees, 11th triumph in their last 14 games and the second Chicago loss in the last seven.

Foytack Beats Baltimore In First LA Start

Angels Triumph In Opener, 3-1

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Paul Foytack, making his initial start since he was acquired from Detroit, pitched the Los Angeles Angels to a 3-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

The ex-Tiger righthander shut-out the Orioles for eight innings on two hits, but in the ninth Luis Aparicio homered into the left field stands and Julio Navarro took over for Foytack on the mound.

The game was featured by Leon Wagner's first homer in the Chavez Ravine ballpark this season after he had hit 15 on the road to put him among the league's leaders. The homer was Wagner's third hit in three official times at bat.

But catcher Bob Rodgers' homer in the second inning was sufficient to provide the Angel's margin of victory. Rodgers was making his first appearance since June 2 when he twisted an ankle while playing against the Orioles and his rightfield homer came on his first time at bat since then.

The Angels picked up a run on three singles in the first inning with Lee Thomas scoring Albie Pearson.

Ike Delock receipted for his seventh loss of the season as the Orioles starting pitcher. He lasted five innings during which he gave up seven of the nine hits the Angels acquired and all three runs.

Emotions Charged As U.S. Pro Tennis Tourney Opens Today

Field Out To Bury Pancho Gonzales At Forest Hills

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The most emotion-charged tennis tournament since the days when Helen Wills and Helen Jacobs meowed at each other across the net gets under way Thursday at hallowed Forest Hills.

It will be Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, the long-time king of tennis now making a comeback at 35, against the entire field of his fellow pros.

The tournament is the U.S. Pro Grass Courts Championship.

The pros are out to bury Gonzales, whose lanky shadow has hung over their operations even while he has been in retirement for nearly two years.

Acting through their spokesman Tony Trabert, they even threw out the announced draw for the tournament and cooked up a new one that was obviously — and frankly—designed to try to keep Gonzales from winning.

Gonzales is just as frankly out to wreck the current crop of touring pros. "After I beat them they'll be dead," he said, grimly. "What are they going to do without the best tennis player in the world?"

Gonzales meets Alex (Chief) Olmedo, the Peruvian who won the Davis Cup for the United States in 1958, in the first round. That match goes on Thursday, after Trabert meets Ken Rosewall at noon, EST, in the opener.

The original draw had Gonzales pitted against Trabert, a match Pancho wanted very much to play, since he and Trabert speak only to insult each other these days.

"If I don't get to play Tony in this tournament, I'll play him after the tournament, on any court, anywhere, and if I lose I'll commit suicide, gladly," Gonzales said.

Gonzales found Wednesday that none of the other pros would even practice with him at Forest Hills.

The other four players in the tournament go Friday, with Lew Hoad against Earl Buchholz of St. Louis and Rod Laver against Pancho Segura of Ecuador and Beverly Hills. Rosewall, Hoad and Laver are Australians, and are seeded 1-2-3 in that order, in the new draw, with Gonzales dropped to fourth. He was second in the original.

AFL Tightens Security System, Changes Rules

Signing Of College Prospects Will Be Simplified

By MARTIN GLEASON

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) —The American Football League Wednesday reaffirmed a more stringent security program and changed the rule governing the signing of college players.

The league's executive committee opened a two-day summer meeting here and met for nearly eight hours in ironing out several policy-making problems.

Commissioner Joe Foss said league owners, who voted in January to set up security regulations within the operation of each club, reported on steps taken to carry out the safety program. The security move stemmed from the recent situation involving the National Football League, an American League spokesman said.

"All the teams have engaged someone — or are in the process of hiring some individual or organization — to handle security arrangements," Foss said. "The program will be in full force by July 9, the earliest date the American Football League rookies may report," Foss said.

Responsible For Protection

Foss emphasized that he would still be responsible for the over-all protection of the league. He alone handled security procedures during the league's first three years.

The owners passed a resolution stipulating that the commissioner's signature was not needed to negotiate a valid contract with a college prospect.

"Once a boy is signed, a team will have to have the contract in my office within 10 days," Foss said. "Then I will have 10 days to reject it or approve it. The contract between the player and the team is binding unless I veto it."

The commissioner said the owners discussed the current television contract which has two years to run.

"Thomas B. Moore, president of the American Broadcasting Co. (ABC), will be here Thursday to report on television plans," he said.

Settlement Of Bankruptcy

Foss said Edward Neaher, league counsel, made a report on progress of settlement of the New York Titans' bankruptcy proceedings. Payment of all claims was expected to be completed by July 2.

The executive committee approved a proposal to change the by-laws to incorporate the American Football League. Previously it had been a limited partnership.

The owners passed two resolutions during a three-hour, 15-minute morning session. They restricted the number of players to 10 from each team for the circuit's annual All-Star game and put into the by-laws a provision which spelled out what television revenue could be retained by individual teams.

Foss said that money obtained from pre and post-season television shows presented by individual teams would be kept by the clubs. Any money from pre-season televised games would be turned over to the league.

The owners, who had a general discussion of cutting rights Wednesday, planned to take action Thursday aimed at helping New York and Oakland, the tail-end teams last year. Another key subject Thursday will be scouting procedures.

Dodgers Trim Cincinnati, 5-2

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A two-run double by Jim Gilliam in the eighth inning and scoreless relief hurling by Ron Perranoski paced the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 5-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday night.

The victory extended the Dodgers' winning streak to four games and gave them their first sweep of a three-game series at Crosley Field since 1953.

With the score tied, 2-2, ace Cincinnati right - hander Jim Maloney walked Perranoski to open the eighth. First - baseman Gordie Coleman then overthrew second base on a sacrifice attempt by Willie Davis to put runners on second and third and set up Gilliam's game-winning hit.

It was the third time in four games that Gilliam knocked in the winning run for the Dodgers.

Belinsky To Report To Hawaii

Bo Takes Advice Of New Girlfriend

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bo Belinsky decided Wednesday to report to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League.

The playboy southpaw on Saturday night dissolved the battery of Belinsky and Mamie Van Doren. He has since been dating Mrs. Ricky duPont. She is the wealthy widow of Francis V. duPont.

The two showed up at Chavez Ravine Tuesday night to watch the Los Angeles Angels get clobbered 10-0 by the Baltimore Orioles.

It was Bo's first visit to the park since May 2 4 when the Angels farmed him out to Hulaville. He balked at reporting and was placed off salary.

Mrs. duPont told newsmen at the ballpark: "Bo belongs down there on the field."

He apparently took her advice becuse he asked his lawyer, Paul Caruso, to make all the necessary arrangements to report.

Belinsky said he and Mrs. duPont are just friends.

Sports Shoppe Nips Old Gees

Last place Sports Shoppe edged the Old Germans, 1-0, yesterday in a Rec Softball League pitchers' duel at Stitcher Field.

Donnie VanMeter went all the way for Sports Shoppe, now 2-5 for the season, and allowed only two hits. Denny Knippenberg tossed a three-hitter and struck out eight for the Old Gees, who dropped to 4-3.

Sports Shoppe bunched all three of its safeties in the bottom of the second for the game's lone run. Pete Stumbaugh and Gene Payton both singled, and VanMeter's one-base rap drove in Stumbaugh with the tally.

Knippenberg and Allen Knotts obtained the losers' two hits, both singles.

CLEVELAND (UPI)—With the "big three's" myth of invincibility shattered by the surprising result of the U.S. Open, everybody in the field gave himself a chance to cop the $22,000 first prize on the eve of the $110,000 Cleveland Open golf championships.

Every man in the field seemed to have gained a mental lift because of the way Julius Boros smothered golden boy Arnold Palmer, who even finished third to Jacky Cupit in the Open playoff, while Jack Nicklaus failed to survive the cut and Gary Player could do no better than a tie for eighth.

Typical of the reaction was Big Mike Souchak's comment that "I've always been lucky in the Cleveland area, and anyhow, when we tee it up I don't think there is a man in the field who doesn't think he can win."

New Lease On Life

It was obvious from the hopeful smiles and jaunty walks in the locker room that the perennial also-rans who crack through on rare occasions had taken a new lease on life and weren't planning to roll over and play dead for the big three of the divot brigade.

Palmer, however, has fully recovered from an attack of dysentery which bothered him during the Open playoff. And he admittedly has his eye on that top prize to pad his leading money-winning total of $63,545 before flying out next Wednesday to compete in the British Open which he has won the past two years. Player and Nicklaus also will compete in Britain.

Mason Rudolph shot a six-under-par 65 on his own ball in Wednesday's Pro-Am over the 6,618-yard par 35-36—71 Beechmont Country Club course and it caused Player to remark:

"That's an indication of how low the scores might be during this tournament. But you have to hit it straight, because you can't hold these fast, undulating greens from the rough."

Dick Shoemaker, the home pro, estimated that the winner might shoot as low as a 14-under-par 270.

Letdown Expected

There wasn't much support for Boros despite the Open playoff victory which moved him into second place on the money list with earnings of $59,680, a mere $1,000 ahead of Nicklaus. Most of his fellow pros figured that "The Moose" would have to suffer a natural letdown after taking the big one in that gruelling playoff.

But the big lift in everybody's mental approach, and hopes of again sidetracking the big three, was clearly evident as they prepared to tee it up in this richest of a string of seven consecutive tournaments with purses of $50,000 or better.

The field will be narrowed from 150 after Friday's second round to the low 60 and ties for windup rounds Saturday and Sunday. If there is a tie, it will be settled in a "sudden death" playoff, but under the new mental concept every man in the field thought he'd have it put away before then.

VanderKelen Gets Quarterback Nod For East All-Stars

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Wisconsin's Ron VanderKelen was given the nod Wednesday over Daryle Lamonica of Notre Dame as the tentative starting quarterback for the East in the All-American football game Saturday.

East Coach Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin also has Glynn Griffing of Mississippi available at quarterback.

West Coach John McKay of Southern California tapped quarterback Bill Nelson of Southern Cal as his opening quarterback.

He said Tuesday that his squad lacks depth at the position. "They've got three, we've got one," he said.

Yankees Edge Chisox, 3-2, To Take One-Game Lead In AL

New York Beats Sox First Time In Five Games

CHICAGO (UPI) — Roger Maris and Tom Tresh homered off rookie Gary Peters Wednesday night for a 3-2 win for Whitey Ford and the New York Yankees over the Chicago White Sox to take a one-game lead in the American League pennant race.

Hal Reniff stopped the White Sox in the final two innings to save Ford's 11th victory. Ford was removed with two outs in the seventh after Pete Ward, who had doubled, scored on Camilo Carreon's single.

Tresh was the most impressive of the Yankee hitters. He hit his 12th homer in the first inning, and in the fourth doubled and scored on Elston Howard's single. Maris' homer, his 16th, was his seventh in the last 10 games.

Peters worked seven innings and took his fourth loss before he was lifted for a pinch batter. He allowed only six hits, but four were for extra bases.

The Sox collected seven hits off Ford, only one for extra bases.

The win, first for New York over the Sox in five games, was the Yankees, 11th triumph in their last 14 games and the second Chicago loss in the last seven.

Foytack Beats Baltimore In First LA Start

Angels Triumph In Opener, 3-1

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Paul Foytack, making his initial start since he was acquired from Detroit, pitched the Los Angeles Angels to a 3-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Wednesday night in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

The ex-Tiger righthander shut-out the Orioles for eight innings on two hits, but in the ninth Luis Aparicio homered into the left field stands and Julio Navarro took over for Foytack on the mound.

The game was featured by Leon Wagner's first homer in the Chavez Ravine ballpark this season after he had hit 15 on the road to put him among the league's leaders. The homer was Wagner's third hit in three official times at bat.

But catcher Bob Rodgers' homer in the second inning was sufficient to provide the Angel's margin of victory. Rodgers was making his first appearance since June 2 when he twisted an ankle while playing against the Orioles and his rightfield homer came on his first time at bat since then.

Ike Delock receipted for his seventh loss of the season as the Orioles starting pitcher. He lasted five innings during which he gave up seven of the nine hits the Angels acquired and all three runs.

Emotions Charged As U.S. Pro Tennis Tourney Opens Today

Field Out To Bury Pancho Gonzales At Forest Hills

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The most emotion-charged tennis tournament since the days when Helen Wills and Helen Jacobs meowed at each other across the net gets under way Thursday at hallowed Forest Hills.

It will be Richard (Pancho) Gonzales, the long-time king of tennis now making a comeback at 35, against the entire field of his fellow pros.

The tournament is the U.S. Pro Grass Courts Championship.

The pros are out to bury Gonzales, whose lanky shadow has hung over their operations even while he has been in retirement for nearly two years.

Acting through their spokesman Tony Trabert, they even threw out the announced draw for the tournament and cooked up a new one that was obviously — and frankly—designed to try to keep Gonzales from winning.

Gonzales is just as frankly out to wreck the current crop of touring pros. "After I beat them they'll be dead," he said, grimly. "What are they going to do without the best tennis player in the world?"

Gonzales meets Alex (Chief) Olmedo, the Peruvian who won the Davis Cup for the United States in 1958, in the first round. That match goes on Thursday, after Trabert meets Ken Rosewall at noon, EST, in the opener.

The original draw had Gonzales pitted against Trabert, a match Pancho wanted very much to play, since he and Trabert speak only to insult each other these days.

"If I don't get to play Tony in this tournament, I'll play him after the tournament, on any court, anywhere, and if I lose I'll commit suicide, gladly," Gonzales said.

Gonzales found Wednesday that none of the other pros would even practice with him at Forest Hills.

The other four players in the tournament go Friday, with Lew Hoad against Earl Buchholz of St. Louis and Rod Laver against Pancho Segura of Ecuador and Beverly Hills. Rosewall, Hoad and Laver are Australians, and are seeded 1-2-3 in that order, in the new draw, with Gonzales dropped to fourth. He was second in the original.

AFL Tightens Security System, Changes Rules

Signing Of College Prospects Will Be Simplified

By MARTIN GLEASON

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) —The American Football League Wednesday reaffirmed a more stringent security program and changed the rule governing the signing of college players.

The league's executive committee opened a two-day summer meeting here and met for nearly eight hours in ironing out several policy-making problems.

Commissioner Joe Foss said league owners, who voted in January to set up security regulations within the operation of each club, reported on steps taken to carry out the safety program. The security move stemmed from the recent situation involving the National Football League, an American League spokesman said.

"All the teams have engaged someone — or are in the process of hiring some individual or organization — to handle security arrangements," Foss said. "The program will be in full force by July 9, the earliest date the American Football League rookies may report," Foss said.

Responsible For Protection

Foss emphasized that he would still be responsible for the overall protection of the league. He alone handled security procedures during the league's first three years.

The owners passed a resolution stipulating that the commissioner's signature was not needed to negotiate a valid contract with a college prospect.

"Once a boy is signed, a team will have to have the contract in my office within 10 days," Foss said. "Then I will have 10 days to reject it or approve it. The contract between the player and the team is binding unless I veto it."

The commissioner said the owners discussed the current television contract which has two years to run.

"Thomas B. Moore, president of the American Broadcasting Co. (ABC), will be here Thursday to report on television plans," he said.

Settlement Of Bankruptcy

Foss said Edward Neaher, league counsel, made a report on progress of settlement of the New York Titans' bankruptcy proceedings. Payment of all claims was expected to be completed by July 2.

The executive committee approved a proposal to change the by-laws to incorporate the American Football League. Previously it had been a limited partnership.

The owners passed two resolutions during a three-hour, 15-minute morning session. They restricted the number of players to 10 from each team for the circuit's annual All-Star game and put into the by-laws a provision which spelled out what television revenue could be retained by individual teams.

Foss said that money obtained from pre and post-season television shows presented by individual teams would be kept by the clubs. Any money from pre-season televised games would be turned over to the league.

The owners, who had a general discussion of cutting rights Wednesday, planned to take action Thursday aimed at helping New York and Oakland, the tail-end teams last year. Another key subject Thursday will be scouting procedures.

Dodgers Trim Cincinnati, 5-2

CINCINNATI (UPI) — A two-run double by Jim Gilliam in the eighth inning and scoreless relief hurling by Ron Perranoski paced the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 5-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday night.

The victory extended the Dodgers' winning streak to four games and gave them their first sweep of a three-game series at Crosley Field since 1953.

With the score tied, 2-2, ace Cincinnati right - hander Jim Maloney walked Perranoski to open the eighth. First - baseman Gordie Coleman then overthrew second base on a sacrifice attempt by Willie Davis to put runners on second and third and set up Gilliam's game-winning hit.

It was the third time in four games that Gilliam knocked in the winning run for the Dodgers.

Belinsky To Report To Hawaii

Bo Takes Advice Of New Girlfriend

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bo Belinsky decided Wednesday to report to Hawaii of the Pacific Coast League.

The playboy southpaw on Saturday night dissolved the battery of Belinsky and Mamie Van Doren. He has since been dating Mrs. Ricky duPont. She is the wealthy widow of Francis V. duPont.

It was Bo's first visit to the park since May 2 4 when the Angels farmed him out to Hulaville. He balked at reporting and was placed off salary.

Mrs. duPont told newsmen at the ballpark: "Bo belongs down there on the field."

He apparently took her advice becuse he asked his lawyer, Paul Caruso, to make all the necessary arrangements to report.

Belinsky said he and Mrs. duPont are just friends.

Sports Shoppe Nips Old Gees

Last place Sports Shoppe edged the Old Germans, 1-0, yesterday in a Rec Softball League pitchers' duel at Stitcher Field.

Donnie VanMeter went all the way for Sports Shoppe, now 2-5 for the season, and allowed only two hits. Denny Knippenberg tossed a three-hitter and struck out eight for the Old Gees, who dropped to 4-3.

Sports Shoppe bunched all three of its safeties in the bottom of the second for the game's lone run. Pete Stumbaugh and Gene Payton both singled, and VanMeter's one-base rap drove in Stumbaugh with the tally.

Knippenberg and Allen Knotts obtained the losers' two hits, both singles.

The linescore:

| Sports Shoppe | 010 000 0—1 3 2 |

Denny Knippenberg and Allen Knotts. Donnie VanMeter and Jim Weakley.

Bob Rodgers, of the Angels, must be quite a catcher. He has thrown out Luis Aparicio on steal attempts five straight times.

Hyndman Upsets Mt. Savage, 1-0; Frostburg, Coney Win In Pen-Mar

Donahue Fires Three-Hitter At Loop Leaders

Merchants Down Barrelville, 9-3, To Gain Ground

PEN-MAR STANDINGS

| | W. | L. | Pct. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Mt. Savage | 11 | 4 | .733 |
| Frostburg | 9 | 5 | .643 |
| Lonaconing | 8 | 6 | .571 |
| Cumberland | 8 | 6 | .571 |
| Hyndman | 3 | 9 | .250 |
| Barrelville | 3 | 12 | .200 |

Manager Bob Bryant's Hyndman club pulled the biggest upset of the Pen-Mar Baseball League season yesterday by stopping league-leading Mt. Savage, 1-0, at Hyndman.

Both Frostburg and Lonaconing capitalized on the upset, posting victories to gain ground in the Pen-Mar race which has reached the halfway point of the season.

Frostburg's Merchants downed Barrelville, 9-3, at Frostburg, and Lonaconing's Independents scored a 4-2 home diamond win over the Cumberland Hermans.

Mt. Savage is still in front with an 11-4 mark, while Frostburg is one and one-half games back at 9-5. Lonaconing and Cumberland now share third place at 8-6.

Wins Own Game

Wayne Bosley singled to open the frame for Hyndman and was removed for pinch-runner Jimmy Miller. Doc Jamison laid down a sacrifice bunt which Wilson heaved into center-field and Miller moved onto third. Donahue then rapped a hot liner to right center to break up the airtight struggle.

Donahue, who shut out Barrelville in his first start for Hyndman, gave up two singles to Ted Femi and one to Wayne Johnson. He walked only two batters and struck out six.

The home team collected seven hits off Wilson, who issued three passes and fanned ten. Royce Waltman and Lou Hite had two hits apiece, and Gene Stair doubled to account for five of the winners' safeties.

Diehl also chipped in with a single for the Merchants, while Paul Thompson collected three singles, "Rabbit" Keister had a double and single, and Gary Keedy and Allan Eisel obtained two hits apiece.

Drop Into Cellar

The Old Exports, who dropped into the league basement with a 3-12 record, were limited to four hits. Leroy Morris tripled, and John Keister tagged a pair of singles.

Grover Fazenbaker proved to be tough in the clutch as he upped his record to 5-3 for Lonaconing. The Independents' hurler gave up seven hits, but stranded eight runners on base.

Lonaconing broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth, scoring a pair of runs on Ellie Fazenbaker's three-base wallop. The triple plated Jerry Lancaster and Ray Vinci, who had singled. Fred Sloan also tripled for Coney, and Bob Mundeno and Vinci had two hits each.

Jan Withrow and losing pitcher Johnny Price accounted for four of the Hermans' safeties. Price, who struck out eight batsmen, lost his first game after four straight wins.

Mantle Has Cast Removed From Foot

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankee star Mickey Mantle, sidelined since June 5, had the cast removed from his fractured left foot Wednesday and probably will be ready to play again July 11.

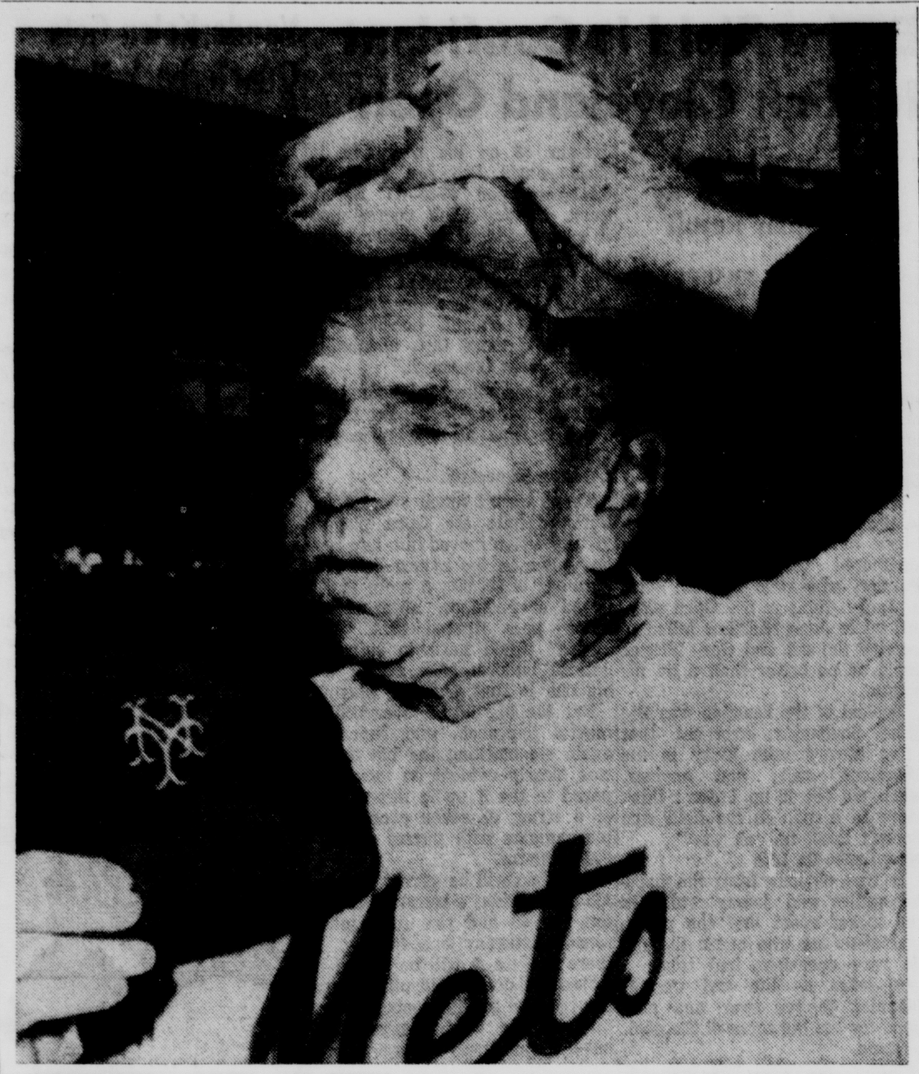
Dr. Gaynor said he had built a special left shoe for Mantle to relieve pressure on the still tender area of the break, in the third metatarsal bone.

Without complications, Dr. Gaynor said, Mantle should be able to resume action after the All-Star baseball game in Cleveland July 9. The Yanks' first game after the All-Star break is at Los Angeles July 11.

Since Mantle was injured, catching his spikes in the centerfield fence at Baltimore June 5th while chasing a drive by Oriole Brooks Robinson, the Yankee's have had a 13-8 record.



TEMPERATURE CLIMBS, CAN METS?—Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Mets, puts an ice bag on his head yesterday in New York's Polo Grounds as the area temperature soared to the high 90's. ## Harkness' Grand Slam In 14th Gives Mets 8-6 Win Over Cubs

Two-Out Blast Offsets Homer By Williams

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tim Harkness hit a grand slam homer with two out in the bottom of the 14th inning Wednesday to give the New York Mets an 8-6 comeback victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Harkness' dramatic blow ending the 4-hour and 8-minute struggle came after the Cubs had taken a 6-4 lead in the top of the 14th on Billy Williams' two-run inside-the-park homer.

After apparently blowing the game in the final inning when Jim Hickman over-ran second base on Ron Hunt's single and was thrown out, the Mets managed to load the bases on walks to Jim Piersall and Sammy Taylor.

Harkness then drove his seventh homer of the season in the lower right-center field stands after southpaw Jim Brewer had worked the count to 3-and-2.

The Cubs at one stretch were held hitless for nine innings—from the time Dick Bertell singled with two out in the fifth until Williams hit his "wrong-field" homer in the 14th.

The Cubs seemingly had the game won after jumping on starter Al Jackson for a 4-0 lead in the first five innings. But the Mets, held to two hits in the first five innings by Bob Buhl, exploded for three in the sixth on a single by Hunt, a double by Duke Snider and Frank Thomas' fifth home run of the season.

The Mets tied the score in the eighth on two walks and Thomas' single to send the game into overtime. Galen Cisco, who yielded Williams' homer, was credited with his fourth win.

Phillies Top Pirates, 6-2

Cal McLish Sharp, Gains Sixth Win

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-2 Wednesday night behind the six-hit pitching of Cal McLish.

McLish, who raised his record to 6-3, was extremely sharp as he retired the first 14 men he faced before walking Donn Clendenon and surrendering a double to Bill Virdon in the fifth inning.

The Pirates touched McLish for two runs in the seventh inning when Clendenon doubled and Virdon and Johnny Logan followed with singles to bring them within one run of the Phils at 3-2.

Johnny Callison rapped a first inning home run, his eighth, and Tony Gonzalez tripled and scored on Don Demeter's groundout to give the Phils a pair of runs. Their third run came in the fourth on an error and singles by Frank Torre and Clay Dalrymple.

Red Sox Edge Cleveland, 6-5

Bressoud's Homer Snaps Tie In 9th

BOSTON (UPI) — Ed Bressoud's second homer of the night, coming with one out and the bases empty in the ninth inning, Wednesday night gave the Boston Red Sox a 6-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The Red Sox, winning their fourth straight game, had four homers in the game, two solo jobs by Bressoud and one by Chuck Schilling and a big three-run, come-from-behind blast by catcher Russ Nixon.

Bressoud's winning homer, his 10th of the season, came off Cleveland reliefer Pedro Ramos just after Indian pinch-hitter Joe Adcock had tied the score in the first of the ninth with a two-run homer.

The Boston homer barrage off Cleveland starter Mudcat Grant and Ramos escorted Red Sox reliefer Jack Lamabe, victim of the Adcock clout, to his fourth victory without a loss.

The Indians, losing their fourth straight to the Red Sox, collected 11 hits off starting Boston rookie Dave Morehead and reliefers Chet Nichols and Lamabe. The Tribe put two infield hits, a fielder's choice and Max Alvis' single together for one run in the third.

Mike De La Hoz got the first of his two doubles in the sixth and scored when Grant got his second hit in his own behalf. Morehead was lifted after walking Al Luplow and Nichols retired the Indians on a sacrifice fly and another long fly.

Nixon, getting only his third homer of the year and first in a month, hit his 380-foot drive into the Cleveland bullpen after Frank Malzone's single and Bressoud's double in the seventh.

Ralston Loses To Indian Star At Wimbledon

Five American Players Advance

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UPI) — Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., hammered into the third round of the Wimbledon tennis championships Wednesday but the United States lost another major title hope when Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., was beaten by India's veteran Ramanathan Krishnan.

The fourth-seeded McKinley advanced with four other Americans by keeping constant pressure on 20-year-old Alan Lane of Australia for a 7-5, 6-4, 8-6 victory on a court slicked by rain and buffeted by high winds.

Ralston, unseeded but fifth choice in the betting, was no match for the wily Indian control artist and went down, 6-3, 6-3, 3-6, 12-10, as one of five American losers.

Still another U.S. entry, Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., was deadlocked in the fifth set of his match with Adrian Bey of Rhodesia when darkness forced a halt to play after they had duelled for 65? games.

Frank Froehling of San Antonio, Arthur Ashe, Jr., and Tom Edlefsen of Los Angeles, and Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., joined McKinley in the third round.

Ashe, a lanky Negro star for UCLA downed Australia's John Hillebrand, 5-7, 7-5, 11-9, 3-6, 6-3 and meets McKinley in the next round.

Froehling, America's second-ranking player, had to go five sets to eliminate Barry Geraghty of Australia, 3-6, 15-13, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2; Edlefsen turned back Charley Pasarell of Puerto Rico, 6-3, 9-11, 10-8, 6-3, and Frost defeated Frew McMillan of South Africa, 6-4, 6-1, 7-5.

In women's singles, two-time finalist Darlene Hard of Los Angeles swept into the third round by winning two matches in a total of 60 minutes of playing time and was joined by Carol Hanks of St. Louis, who also won twice to give the U.S. a total of seven feminine survivors.

Miss Hard, seeded fourth, trounced Joyce Fulton of England, 6-0, 6-0, and Caroline Yates Bell, another Briton, 6-2, 6-1. Miss Hanks ousted Pam Watermeyer of South Africa, 6-2, 6-2, and Mrs. Shirley Bloomer Brasher, 6-4, 6-2.

Tory Ann Fretz of Harrisburg, Pa., won a first-rounder from Carole Prosen of Orlando, Fla., 6-1, 6-1.

Hyndman Upsets Mt. Savage, 1-0; Frostburg, Coney Win In Pen-Mar

Merchants Down Barrelville, 9-3, To Gain Ground

PEN-MAR STANDINGS

| Frostburg | 9 | 5 | .643 |
| Lonaconing | 8 | 6 | .571 |
| Cumberland | 8 | 6 | .571 |
| Hyndman | 3 | 9 | .250 |
| Barrelville | 3 | 12 | .200 |

Manager Bob Bryant's Hyndman club pulled the biggest upset of the Pen-Mar Baseball League season yesterday by stopping league-leading Mt. Savage, 1-0, at Hyndman.

Both Frostburg and Lonaconing capitalized on the upset, posting victories to gain ground in the Pen-Mar race which has reached the halfway point of the season.

Frostburg's Merchants downed Barrelville, 9-3, at Frostburg, and Lonaconing's Independents scored a 4-2 home diamond win over the Cumberland Hermans.

Mt. Savage is still in front with an 11-4 mark, while Frostburg is one and one-half games back at 9-5. Lonaconing and Cumberland now share third place at 8-6.

Wins Own Game

Hyndman righthander Wellington Donahue and Mt. Savage southpaw Ralph Wilson engaged in a scoreless duel for six innings before Donahue won his own game with a run-scoring base hit in the bottom of the seventh.

Wayne Bosley singled to open the frame for Hyndman and was removed for pinch-runner Jimmy Miller. Doc Jamison laid down a sacrifice bunt which Wilson heaved into center-field and Miller moved onto third. Donahue then rapped a hot liner to right center to break up the airtight struggle.

Donahue, who shut out Barrelville in his first start for Hyndman, gave up two singles to Ted Femi and one to Wayne Johnson. He walked only two batters and struck out six.

The home team collected seven hits off Wilson, who issued three passes and fanned ten. Royce Waltman and Lou Hite had two hits apiece, and Gene Stair doubled to account for five of the winners' safeties.

Frostburg supported Ralph Peace, who won his fourth game in six decisions, with a 12-hit attack that included a home run by Ronnie Diehl.

Diehl also chipped in with a single for the Merchants, while Paul Thompson collected three singles, "Rabbit" Keister had a double and single, and Gary Keedy and Allan Eisel obtained two hits apiece.

Drop Into Cellar

The Old Exports, who dropped into the league basement with a 3-12 record, were limited to four hits. Leroy Morris tripled, and John Keister tagged a pair of singles.

Grover Fazenbaker proved to be tough in the clutch as he upped his record to 5-3 for Lonaconing. The Independents' hurler gave up seven hits, but stranded eight runners on base.

Lonaconing broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth, scoring a pair of runs on Ellie Fazenbaker's three-base wallop. The triple plated Jerry Lancaster and Ray Vinci, who had singled. Fred Sloan also tripled for Coney, and Bob Mundeno and Vinci had two hits each.

Jan Withrow and losing pitcher Johnny Price accounted for four of the Hermans' safeties. Price, who struck out eight batsmen, lost his first game after four straight wins.

Mantle Has Cast Removed From Foot

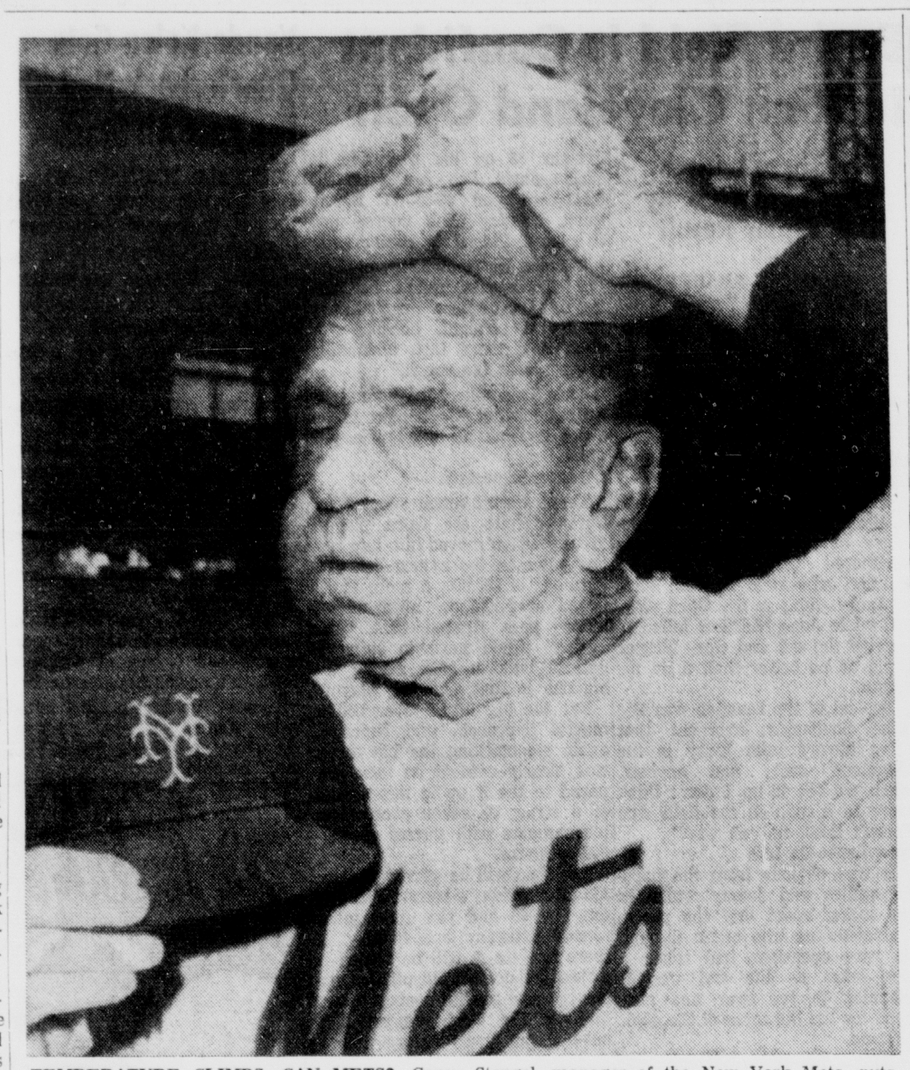
NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankee star Mickey Mantle, sidelined since June 5, had the cast removed from his fractured left foot Wednesday and probably will be ready to play again July 11.

Mantle flew here from his home in Dallas for examination by Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician, who said X-ray examination showed "surprisingly fast healing" of the center fielder's foot.

Dr. Gaynor said he had built a special left shoe for Mantle to relieve pressure on the still tender area of the break, in the third metatarsal bone.

Without complications, Dr. Gaynor said, Mantle should be able to resume action after the All-Star baseball game in Cleveland July 9. The Yanks' first game after the All-Star break is at Los Angeles July 11.

Since Mantle was injured, catching his spikes in the centerfield fence at Baltimore June 5th while chasing a drive by Oriole Brooks Robinson, the Yankee's have had a 13-8 record.



TEMPERATURE CLIMBS, CAN METS?—Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Mets, puts an ice bag on his head yesterday in New York's Polo Grounds as the area temperature soared to the high 90's. ## Harkness' Grand Slam In 14th Gives Mets 8-6 Win Over Cubs

Two-Out Blas; Offsets Homer By Williams

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tim Harkness hit a grand slam homer with two out in the bottom of the 14th inning Wednesday to give the New York Mets an 8-6 comeback victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Harkness' dramatic blow ending the 4-hour and 8-minute struggle came after the Cubs had taken a 6-4 lead in the top of the 14th on Billy Williams' two-run inside-the-park homer.

After apparently blowing the game in the final inning when Jim Hickman over-ran second base on Ron Hunt's single and was thrown out, the Mets managed to load the bases on walks to Jim Piersall and Sammy Taylor.

Harkness then drove his seventh homer of the season in the lower right-center field stands after southpaw Jim Brewer had worked the count to 3-and-2.

The Cubs at one stretch were held hitless for nine innings—from the time Dick Bertell singled with two out in the fifth until Williams hit his "wrong-field" homer in the 14th.

The Cubs seemingly had the game won after jumping on starter Al Jackson for a 4-0 lead in the first five innings. But the Mets, held to two hits in the first five innings by Bob Buhl, exploded for three in the sixth on a single by Hunt, a double by Duke Snider and Frank Thomas' fifth home run of the season.

The Mets tied the score in the eighth on two walks and Thomas' single to send the game into overtime. Galen Cisco, who yielded Williams' homer, was credited with his fourth win.

Phillies Top Pirates, 6-2

Cal McLish Sharp, Gains Sixth Win

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-2 Wednesday night behind the six-hit pitching of Cal McLish.

McLish, who raised his record to 6-3, was extremely sharp as he retired the first 14 men he faced before walking Donn Clendenon and surrendering a double to Bill Virdon in the fifth inning.

The Pirates touched McLish for two runs in the seventh inning when Clendenon doubled and Virdon and Johnny Logan followed with singles to bring them within one run of the Phils at 3-2.

The Phillies wrapped up the game in the eighth with three runs on three singles and an error.

Johnny Callison rapped a first inning home run, his eighth, and Tony Gonzalez tripled and scored on Don Demeter's groundout to give the Phils a pair of runs. Their third run came in the fourth on an error and singles by Frank Torre and Clay Dalrymple.

Red Sox Edge Cleveland, 6-5

Bressoud's Homer Snaps Tie In 9th

BOSTON (UPI) — Ed Bressoud's second homer of the night, coming with one out and the bases empty in the ninth inning, Wednesday night gave the Boston Red Sox a 6-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The Red Sox, winning their fourth straight game, had four homers in the game, two solo jobs by Bressoud and one by Chuck Schilling and a big three-run, come-from-behind blast by catcher Russ Nixon.

Bressoud's winning homer, his 10th of the season, came off Cleveland reliefer Pedro Ramos just after Indian pinch-hitter Joe Adcock had tied the score in the first of the ninth with a two-run homer.

The Boston homer barrage off Cleveland starter Mudcat Grant and Ramos escorted Red Sox reliefer Jack Lamabe, victim of the Adcock clout, to his fourth victory without a loss.

The Indians, losing their fourth straight to the Red Sox, collected 11 hits off starting Boston rookie Dave Morehead and reliefers Chet Nichols and Lamabe. The Tribe put two infield hits, a fielder's choice and Max Alvis' single together for one run in the third.

Mike De La Hoz got the first of his two doubles in the sixth and scored when Grant got his second hit in his own behalf. Morehead was lifted after walking Al Luplow and Nichols retired the Indians on a sacrifice fly and another long fly.

Nixon, getting only his third homer of the year and first in a month, hit his 380-foot drive into the Cleveland bullpen after Frank Malzone's single and Bressoud's double in the seventh.

Ralston Loses To Indian Star At Wimbledon

Five American Players Advance

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UPI) — Chuck McKinley of San Antonio, Tex., hammered into the third round of the Wimbledon tennis championships Wednesday but the United States lost another major title hope when Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., was beaten by India's veteran Ramanathan Krishnan.

The fourth-seeded McKinley advanced with four other Americans by keeping constant pressure on 20-year-old Alan Lane of Australia for a 7-5, 6-4, 8-6 victory on a court slicked by rain and buffeted by high winds.

Ralston, unseeded but fifth choice in the betting, was no match for the wily Indian control artist and went down, 6-3, 6-3, 3-6, 12-10, as one of five American losers.

Still another U.S. entry, Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., was deadlocked in the fifth set of his match with Adrian Bey of Rhodesia when darkness forced a halt to play after they had duelled for 65? games.

Frank Froehling of San Antonio, Arthur Ashe, Jr., and Tom Edlefsen of Los Angeles, and Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., joined McKinley in the third round.

Ashe, a lanky Negro star for UCLA downed Australia's John Hillebrand, 5-7, 7-5, 11-9, 3-6, 6-3 and meets McKinley in the next round.

Froehling, America's second-ranking player, had to go five sets to eliminate Barry Geraghty of Australia, 3-6, 15-13, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2; Edlefsen turned back Charley Pasarell of Puerto Rico, 6-3, 9-11, 10-8, 6-3, and Frost defeated Frew McMillan of South Africa, 6-4, 6-1, 7-5.

In women's singles, two-time finalist Darlene Hard of Los Angeles swept into the third round by winning two matches in a total of 60 minutes of playing time and was joined by Carol Hanks of St. Louis, who also won twice to give the U.S. a total of seven feminine survivors.

Miss Hard, seeded fourth, trounced Joyce Fulton of England, 6-0, 6-0, and Caroline Yates Bell, another Briton, 6-2, 6-1. Miss Hanks ousted Pam Watermeyer of South Africa, 6-2, 6-2, and Mrs. Shirley Bloomer Brasher, 6-4, 6-2.

Tory Ann Fretz of Harrisburg, Pa., won a first-rounder from Carole Prosen of Orlando, Fla., 6-1, 6-1.

In addition to Ralston and Pasarell, the U.S. men's contingent also lost Ed Rubinoff of Miami Beach, Fla., Bill Hoogs of Berkeley, Calif., and Bob Siska of San Francisco.

NEW YORK (UPI) —The New York Yankees and the New York Mets, who are currently moving in opposite directions in their respective leagues, combined to earn $133,408.45 for the benefit of sandlot baseball in the Mayor's Trophy game played last Thursday.

The exhibition, postponed from the original date of June 3rd, drew 50,742 fans to Yankee Stadium although 52,430 tickets were sold. The New York Yankee Foundation, Inc. and the New York Met Foundation, Inc. each will receive $60,243.13 after taxes. ### In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Alonzo C. Fleegle, who departed this life seven years ago today, June 27, 1956.

Loving memories never die,
As the days come and years roll by.
In our hearts a memory is kept
Of the husband and father we loved,
And will never forget.

Sadly missed by his Wife, son and daughter

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Alonzo C. Fleegle, who departed this life seven years ago today, June 27, 1956.

Loving memories never die,
As the days come and years roll by.
In our hearts a memory is kept
Of the husband and father we loved,
And will never forget.

City's Last Dirt Streets To Be Light Surfaced

Marietta, Victoria Work Is Scheduled

Eight dirt streets—the last in the city—will be light surfaced by the Cumberland Street Department by fall

It will be the first time in its some 200 years of existance as an individual and transportation center that the Queen City has been "out of the mud."

Two of the streets will be light surfaced next week, Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, reported yesterday.

They are Marietta and Victoria streets, which run from Bedford Street to Woodlawn Terrace.

176 Included

Improvement of the streets will bring to 176 the number of streets which are light surfaced, for a total of 28 miles of city street.

One or another of the permanent types of surface is in existence on all other streets here.

So far this spring, Street Department crews have resurfaced about two dozen light surfaced streets.

The work began several weeks ago in the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company section, moved to the Patterson Avenue section and this week is progressing in the Allegany High School area.

Crews will move to the Bedford-Frederick Street section Monday and give the first light surface treatment to Marietta and Victoria streets while they are there.

Over 60 Last Year

Last year, over 60 streets were light surfaced and represented nearly 40,000 feet of street improvement.

Street Superintendent Ray Valentine said much of the work this year will consist of recapping streets which were light surfaced several years ago.

The recapped streets are expected to give six or seven years service before the surface will have to be renewed.

The light surface treatment program begins when crews grade and shape a street, open drainage ditches and replace any spongy material with crushed stone.

The surface then gets a prime coat of asphalt. Stone chips, applied at the rate of 30 pounds to the square yard, and a coat of asphalt, applied with a pressure distributor at the rate of a half-gallon to the square yard, follow. The job is completed when a 12-pound-to-the-yard layer of chips is applied and rolled.

On January 1, the city had 84.7 miles of paved streets and 2.7 miles of unpaved streets.

Lewis' Will Urges Camp Continuation

A plea for the perpetuation of Camp Cliffside along the South Branch of the Potomac River near Springfield, W. Va., was featured in the will of William H. "Uncle Bill" Lewis, which was probated Tuesday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

Mr. Lewis, who had operated Camp Cliffside each summer since 1944, died suddenly June 5 at his home, 124 East Main Street, Frostburg, at the age of 81.

Monument Might Be Built Here

WASHINGTON (AP) — Memorials to George Washington are so numerous they would be difficult to list, but if Congress wants to authorize another one in Maryland the Interior Department won't object.

John A. Carner Jr., assistant secretary of interior, reported to the Senate Interior Committee Wednesday the budget bureau has no objection to congressional authorization of a monument at Fort Cumberland in Allegany County to honor the first President.

"If it is the desire of Congress to create an additional memorial honoring George Washington, this department has no objection to the enactment of the bill," Carver told Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the committee.

Washington went to Will's Creek, Md., as an officer on General Braddock's staff, May 10, 1755, after the trading post had been transformed into a military establishment named Fort Cumberland. Earlier he had been there as a young officer of the Virginia militia.

50-Mile Swim Program Opens At Six Pools

Six county swimming pools will offer the new Red Cross 50-mile Swim and Stay Fit program, according to Robert Pence, water safety chairman for Allegany County Chapter.

Participating pools and monitors for the program are Minke's, Don Decker; Constitution Park, Danny Iser and Danny Brown; Shrine Club, Eddie Douglas; Celanese, Brad Stone; Country Club, Sally Avirett and Jack Mewshaw and Frostburg, Mrs. Ina Donius.

The Swim and Stay Fit program is designed to encourage individuals to swim a distance of 50 miles with a goal to improve the physical fitness of the swimmer and to encourage regular and frequent swimming.

No time limit is set for completion of the 50 miles as the program is not competitive or an endurance effort.

The 50 miles must be swum in multiples of 440 yards. The only requirement is that the swimmer must swim each 440 yards of the initial three miles in one visit to the pool. The 440 yards need not be swum continuously, rest periods are allowed as often as necessary. 200 segments are required to complete the 50 miles.

Certificates are awarded for each ten miles completed and an appropriate emblem and pin will be presented on completion of the 50 miles.

B&O rail traffic is back to normal in the vicinity of Patterson Creek where 22 freight cars derailed Tuesday afternoon.

A spokesman for the railroad said the No. 2 or eastbound track was reopened at 10:15 p. m. Tuesday and the No. 1 or westbound track where the derailment occurred was reopened about 9 a. m. yesterday.

A third track or traffic track was back in service yesterday afternoon, according to the spokesman, who said an investigation into the cause of the derailment is continuing.

Board Okays New Route For VEPCO Line

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — The State Corporation Commission (SCC) Wednesday accepted an alternate route the Virginia Electric and Power Co. (VEPCO) proposed for a 500,000-volt transmission line through northern Virginia's hunt country.

The SCC authorized VEPCO to build the line, the first half-million-volt transmission system in the free world, along a route traveling north and south through Loudoun county.

VEPCO proposed the north-south route to eliminate an east-west course that had drawn bitter opposition from Loudoun residents who contended it would ruin their property value.

The transmission system will form a loop between a generating station to be built at a coal mine at Mt. Storm, W. Va., to Elmont, Hanover County, about 10 miles north of Richmond.

The amended route, 35 miles longer than the 350-mile line originally proposed, would add nearly $4 million to an estimated cost of the $44 million project.

VEPCO plans to capitalize on the availability of coal in West Virginia by erecting the large power station at Mt. Storm and transmitting the power to Richmond and northern Virginia.

Bedford Rd. Fire Company Has Homemade Truck

The chassis for the homemade truck was purchased for $6,000 and many persons took part in preparing the vehicle, including S. C. Twigg Sr. of the Cumberland Welding Company and Robert Ewing of the A & E Machine Shop who contributed their facilities.

Chief Pernell said the truck would have cost $12,000 if the company had purchased it new.

The truck has a 500-gallon-per-minute pump and a capacity of 1,250 gallons, a large tool compartment, 30 feet of drafting hose and is capable of carrying 1,300 feet of hose.

During the fund drive the company hopes to obtain operating expenses for the coming year. A survey is planned to determine the houses in the area served by the company.

Willys L. Wilson, president of the company, requests all residents in the survey to answer all questions so the company will know the type of structure, surrounding buildings, available water, number of occupants, including invalids and children, and other necessary information.

At the conclusion of the survey, Mr. Wilson said each house will be assigned a fire call number. Fund drive cards also will be collected.

The workshop will conclude at noon on Saturday.

Land Use Plan To Be Studied

Copies of the first draft of the Land Use and Community Facilities Plan have been presented to the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

The proposal was prepared by Stein and Marcou Associates, which is preparing a comprehensive plan for the city's development during the next two decades.

The commission will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall to begin reviewing the proposals contained in the 37-page report.

The report is divided into four parts, the nature and objectives of the program, the land use plan — private sector, the community facilities plan—public sector, and public policies.

It is intended to serve as a guide to the planning commission, city officials and private groups in furthering the long-range improvement of the city.

Workers Repairing Broken Sewer Line Find Fill Is Gone

The City of Cumberland had more than its share of luck when a 24-inch combined storm and sanitary sewer line caved in at the intersection of Maryland and Central Avenues.

The line was repaired and opened yesterday afternoon by Street Department crews, who were able to allow traffic to continue this week while they worked behind barricades.

Workers found, when they removed the broken section of line, that the foundation had eroded, leaving a six-foot deep hollow spot beneath the line.

Officials said it was lucky that no heavy truck had passed over the exact spot where the fill had caved in.

Registration Lags At City Playgrounds

Free Swimming Classes To Open

The 10 a.m. class will be for children from Frazier, Mt. Royal and North End playgrounds, and the 11 a.m. class for those from Cumberland and Columbia Street playgrounds.

Each group will receive two weeks of swimming instruction from qualified Red Cross swimming instructors.

No swimming classes will be held July 4 because of the pool schedule, Mrs. Hogan said.

Playground leaders are working on plans for Saturday's Fishing Rodeo, the first major activity of the nine-week playground season.

Cresaptown Firemen Get Award Jackets

Fire award jackets were presented to Assistant Chief Louis Winters, who answered 46 calls, and Joseph Wenrich, first assistant chief, 40 calls.

Over 60 Last Year

Last year, over 60 streets were light surfaced and represented nearly 40,000 feet of street improvement.

Street Superintendent Ray Valentine said much of the work this year will consist of recapping streets which were light surfaced several years ago.

The work consists of cleaning ditches and drains, filling potholes and then rolling after a layer of tar and chips is applied.

The recapped streets are expected to give six or seven years service before the surface will have to be renewed.

The light surface treatment program begins when crews grade and shape a street, open drainage ditches and replace any spongy material with crushed stone.

The surface then gets a prime coat of asphalt. Stone chips, applied at the rate of 30 pounds to the square yard, and a coat of asphalt, applied with a pressure distributor at the rate of a half-gallon to the square yard, follow. The job is completed when a 12-pound-to-the-yard layer of chips is applied and rolled.

On January 1, the city had 84.7 miles of paved streets and 2.7 miles of unpaved streets.

Monument Might Be Built Here

WASHINGTON (AP) — Memorials to George Washington are so numerous they would be difficult to list, but if Congress wants to authorize another one in Maryland the Interior Department won't object.

John A. Carner Jr., assistant secretary of interior, reported to the Senate Interior Committee Wednesday the budget bureau has no objection to congressional authorization of a monument at Fort Cumberland in Allegany County to honor the first President.

"If it is the desire of Congress to create an additional memorial honoring George Washington, this department has no objection to the enactment of the bill," Carver told Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the committee.

Washington went to Will's Creek, Md., as an officer on General Braddock's staff, May 10, 1755, after the trading post had been transformed into a military establishment named Fort Cumberland. Earlier he had been there as a young officer of the Virginia militia.

A plea for the perpetuation of Camp Cliffside along the South Branch of the Potomac River near Springfield, W. Va., was featured in the will of William H. "Uncle Bill" Lewis, which was probated Tuesday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

Gordon To Get Award At FFA Convention

Flintstone Boys At College Park

Wesley Gordon, who graduated this month from Flintstone High School, is scheduled to receive an award tomorrow during the Maryland Future Farmers of America convention at College Park.

He will receive the FFA foundation award in the farm crops division. Other divisions with winners from various sections of Maryland are dairy farming, livestock farming, farm mechanics, soil and water management and efficient dairy production.

A total of 440 FFA members are expected to attend the 1963 convention. Kenny McMillian, 20, national FFA president from Bushnell, Ill., will be a featured speaker.

50-Mile Swim Program Opens At Six Pools

Six county swimming pools will offer the new Red Cross 50-mile Swim and Stay Fit program, according to Robert Pence, water safety chairman for Allegany County Chapter.

Participating pools and monitors for the program are Minke's, Don Decker; Constitution Park, Danny Iser and Danny Brown; Shrine Club, Eddie Douglas; Celanese, Brad Stone; Country Club, Sally Avirett and Jack Mewshaw and Frostburg, Mrs. Ina Donius.

The Swim and Stay Fit program is designed to encourage individuals to swim a distance of 50 miles with a goal to improve the physical fitness of the swimmer and to encourage regular and frequent swimming.

Any individual possessing reasonable swimming ability is eligible to take part in the program by registering with the monitor at the pool of his choice.

No time limit is set for completion of the 50 miles as the program is not competitive or an endurance effort.

The 50 miles must be swum in multiples of 440 yards. The only requirement is that the swimmer must swim each 440 yards of the initial three miles in one visit to the pool. The 440 yards need not be swum continuously, rest periods are allowed as often as necessary. 200 segments are required to complete the 50 miles.

Certificates are awarded for each ten miles completed and an appropriate emblem and pin will be presented on completion of the 50 miles.

Homemade Fire Truck

Officers of Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Company proudly display their new truck, which they built practically from the ground up. Instead of spending $12,000 for a new vehicle the firemen bought a $6,000 chassis and made a fire engine of it. In photo are David E. Wilson, assistant chief; Fred D. Pernell, chief; Willys L. Wilson, president, and Carl E. Twigg, project engineer. The fire company is conducting its annual drive for operating and equipment funds.

Rail Traffic Returns To Normal

B&O rail traffic is back to normal in the vicinity of Patterson Creek where 22 freight cars derailed Tuesday afternoon.

A spokesman for the railroad said the No. 2 or eastbound track was reopened at 10:15 p. m. Tuesday and the No. 1 or westbound track where the derailment occurred was reopened about 9 a. m. yesterday.

A third track or traffic track was back in service yesterday afternoon, according to the spokesman, who said an investigation into the cause of the derailment is continuing.

The derailment occurred about 4:30 p. m. Tuesday two miles east of Patterson Creek.

Board Okays New Route For VEPCO Line

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — The State Corporation Commission (SCC) Wednesday accepted an alternate route the Virginia Electric and Power Co. (VEPCO) proposed for a 500,000-volt transmission line through northern Virginia's hunt country.

The SCC authorized VEPCO to build the line, the first half-million-volt transmission system in the free world, along a route traveling north and south through Loudoun county.

VEPCO proposed the north-south route to eliminate an east-west course that had drawn bitter opposition from Loudoun residents who contended it would ruin their property value.

The transmission system will form a loop between a generating station to be built at a coal mine at Mt. Storm, W. Va., to Elmont, Hanover County, about 10 miles north of Richmond.

The new route would run along existing utility corridors in Maryland and West Virginia before being brought into Virginia.

The amended route, 35 miles longer than the 350-mile line originally proposed, would add nearly $4 million to an estimated cost of the $44 million project.

VEPCO plans to capitalize on the availability of coal in West Virginia by erecting the large power station at Mt. Storm and transmitting the power to Richmond and northern Virginia.

Recommended for terms until 1965 are Miss Margaret L. Morrissey, Mrs. John S. Cook, James Cook, Dr. J. E. McLean, Mrs. Jennie J. Grahame, Glen Boyd and Frank T. Powers. Backed for terms running until next year are Delegate Charles M. See, Mr. Horchler, Mrs. Robert E. Zimmerman, Mr. Smith, Rabbi Max Selinger, Mr. Peebles and Rev. William J. Cox.

Bedford Rd. Fire Company Has Homemade Truck

The chassis for the homemade truck was purchased for $6,000 and many persons took part in preparing the vehicle, including S. C. Twigg Sr. of the Cumberland Welding Company and Robert Ewing of the A & E Machine Shop who contributed their facilities.

Chief Pernell said the truck would have cost $12,000 if the company had purchased it new.

The auxiliary of the fire company donated the siren, hose adapters and several small tools valued at approximately $350, while others donated their time and skills.

The truck has a 500-gallon-per-minute pump and a capacity of 1,250 gallons, a large tool compartment, 30 feet of drafting hose and is capable of carrying 1,300 feet of hose.

During the fund drive the company hopes to obtain operating expenses for the coming year. A survey is planned to determine the houses in the area served by the company.

Willys L. Wilson, president of the company, requests all residents in the survey to answer all questions so the company will know the type of structure, surrounding buildings, available water, number of occupants, including invalids and children, and other necessary information.

At the conclusion of the survey, Mr. Wilson said each house will be assigned a fire call number. Fund drive cards also will be collected.

The workshop will conclude at noon on Saturday.

Land Use Plan To Be Studied

Copies of the first draft of the Land Use and Community Facilities Plan have been presented to the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission.

The proposal was prepared by Stein and Marcou Associates, which is preparing a comprehensive plan for the city's development during the next two decades.

The commission will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall to begin reviewing the proposals contained in the 37-page report.

The report is divided into four parts, the nature and objectives of the program, the land use plan — private sector, the community facilities plan—public sector, and public policies.

It is intended to serve as a guide to the planning commission, city officials and private groups in furthering the long-range improvement of the city.

Workers Repairing Broken Sewer Line Find Fill Is Gone

The City of Cumberland had more than its share of luck when a 24-inch combined storm and sanitary sewer line caved in at the intersection of Maryland and Central Avenues.

The line was repaired and opened yesterday afternoon by Street Department crews, who were able to allow traffic to continue this week while they worked behind barricades.

Workers found, when they removed the broken section of line, that the foundation had eroded, leaving a six-foot deep hollow spot beneath the line.

Officials said it was lucky that no heavy truck had passed over the exact spot where the fill had caved in.

Registration Lags At City Playgrounds

Free Swimming Classes To Open

A total of 1,133 youngsters registered at 14 city playgrounds Monday and Tuesday, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, general playground supervisor.

She said the total is slightly less than the 1,354 children registered during first two days of the season last year.

The 10 a.m. class will be for children from Frazier, Mt. Royal and North End playgrounds, and the 11 a.m. class for those from Cumberland and Columbia Street playgrounds.

Each playground will arrange transportation to and from the pool to children enrolled in the swimming classes.

No swimming classes will be held July 4 because of the pool schedule, Mrs. Hogan said.

Playground leaders are working on plans for Saturday's Fishing Rodeo, the first major activity of the nine-week playground season.

Fire award jackets were presented to Assistant Chief Louis Winters, who answered 46 calls, and Joseph Wenrich, first assistant chief, 40 calls.

Parade award jackets were presented to Albert Youngblood and Louis Winters. Both took part in 15 parades.
